Playing in the State Tournament, Hap Smith takes an outside shot for two points. The Varsity won this game against Buena High 54-53 and later won the State against Rincon. During PW (Pig Week) this East High Student finds happiness in skate-boarding in the halls while avoiding the mess. Before the Mid-Year graduation ceremony, Mr. Shook and Donna Astemborski go down the list of graduates' names to get the proper pronunciation.

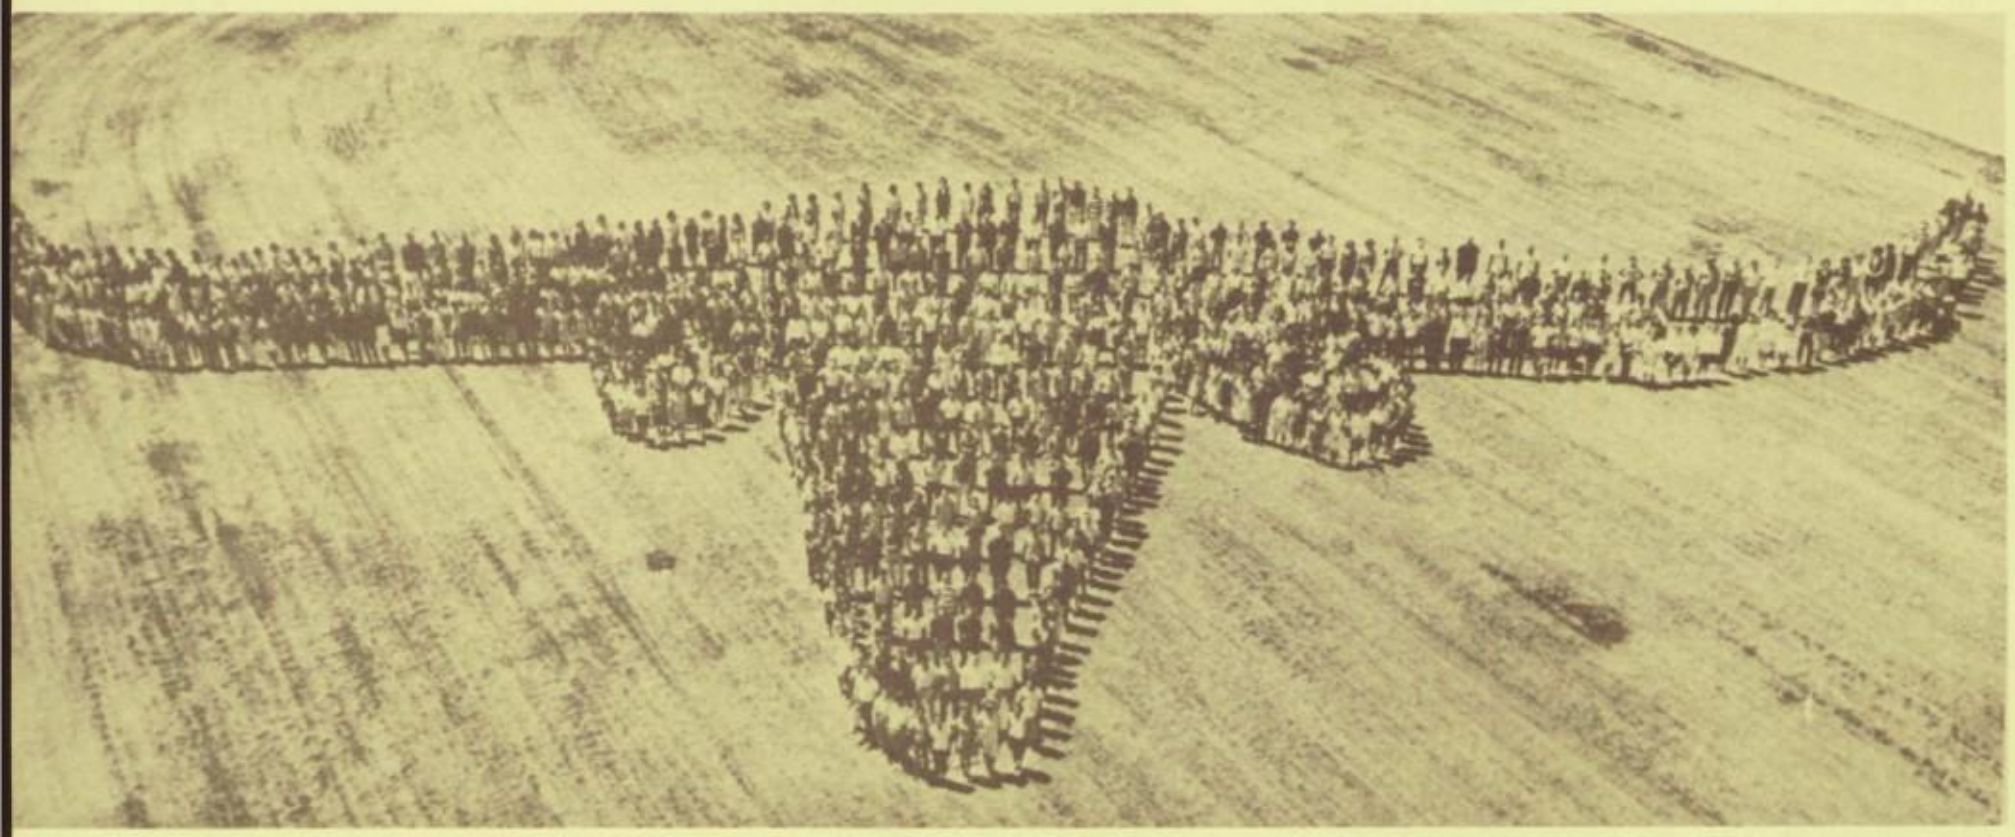
This is an artist's conception of how East High was to look from 48th street after completion. The contractor for the school was T.G.K. Construction Co.

In 1964, the East High auditorium stood upon all four walls.

On January 25, 1965, Mr. McCullar held a short ceremony on the front steps of school which marked the opening of a new campus.



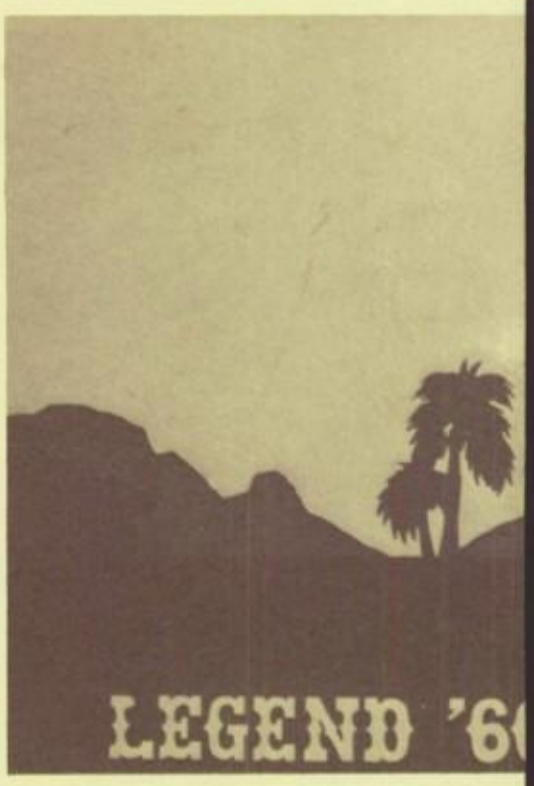
"Living Longhorn" Picture Marks First East Student Body. It was a hot 85 degrees with a gusty wind blowing when 767 East High students, faculty, administrators and staff members made their way to the football field Wednesday, April 28, 1965. By 11:15 a.m. everyone had been moved into position inside of special lines marked on the field. The "Living Longhorn" picture was planned by East High Principal R. E. McCullar and his administrative staff and placed under the direction of William P. Davis, Mr. Luck, and Mr. Bostrom. Dimensions of the Longhorn were 194 feet from tip to top along the horns and approximately 80 feet from the nose to the top of the head.

East opens its doors

It wasn't until January 25, 1965, that second semester and new classes began at East High. In this year traditions were set, clubs were organized, the fight song and constitutions were written and the mascot was chosen. The Longhorn began his reputation as the strongest spirit ever. The morning of January 25 Mr. McCullar held a short ceremony and then 735 students were dismissed to their first class. The first Rawhide Gazette was awarded Best In Class for a remarkable job for producing the best paper of all small schools. The carnival was considered the main event of the year '65-66. Dances and proms were also enjoyed by the students. Broadway East was the theme for the first annual Faculty Follies. The plays The Mouse That Roared and The Streets of New York, directed by Mrs. Marjorie Jones, were East's first productions.

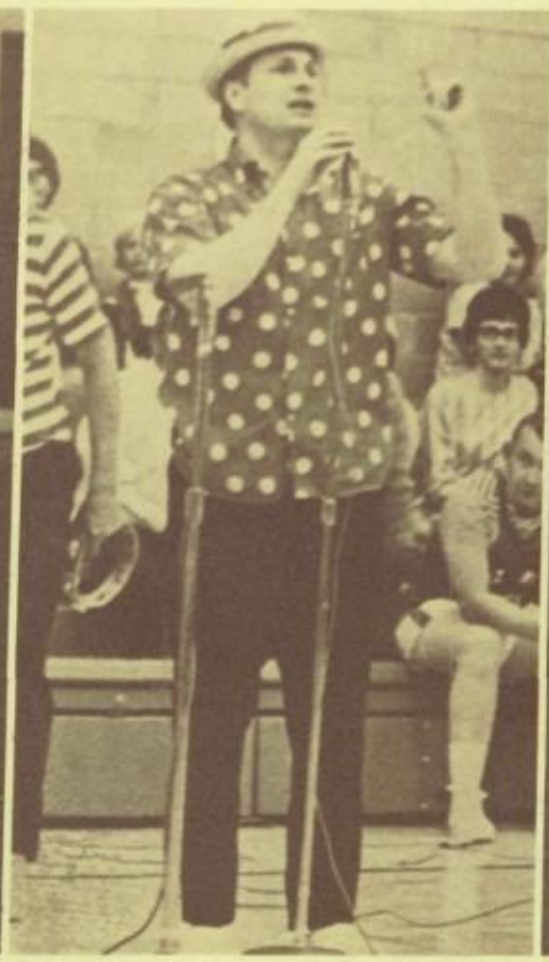
In 1966, the Vietnam war was the main interest throughout the country. East High sent 2500 lbs. of gifts to our servicemen abroad.

BROADWAY EAST, the 1966 East High Faculty Follies, brought members of the Longhorn teaching and administrative staff together for their annual performance. Young Lochinvar (Mr. McCullar) and his Blushing Bride, (Miss Crane) do the Longhorn Stomp in Administrative Act.



LEGEND 67

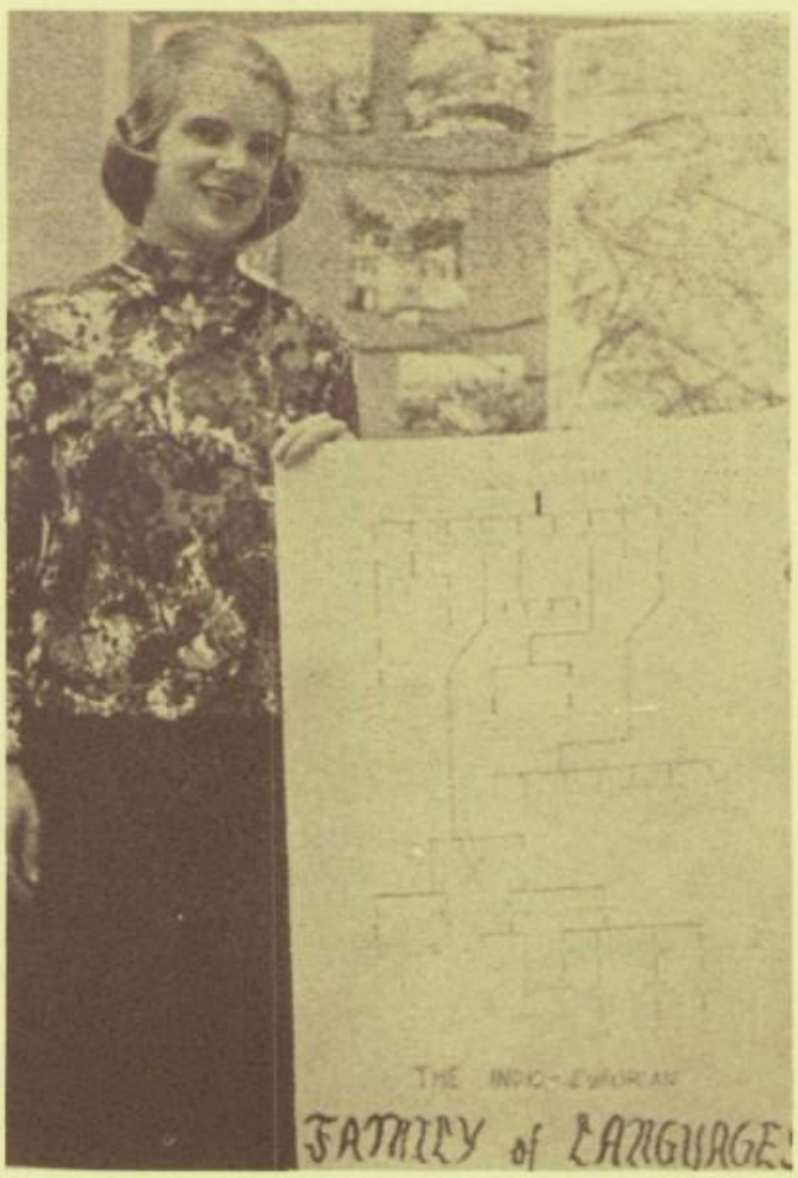
From the Wallace Show, everybody's favorite Ladmo makes his entrance to the shouts of the near 1,000 fans.



Wallace put on a big show before the crowd of both big and little kids in the East High Gym on February 24, 1967.

The enemy of all public school brats, Gerald threw his usual tantrums and the crowd roared.

As department head, Mr. Coppinger is kept very busy keeping the English department operating.



Miss Benner (Mrs. Guest) presents a study of the family of languages to her German class.

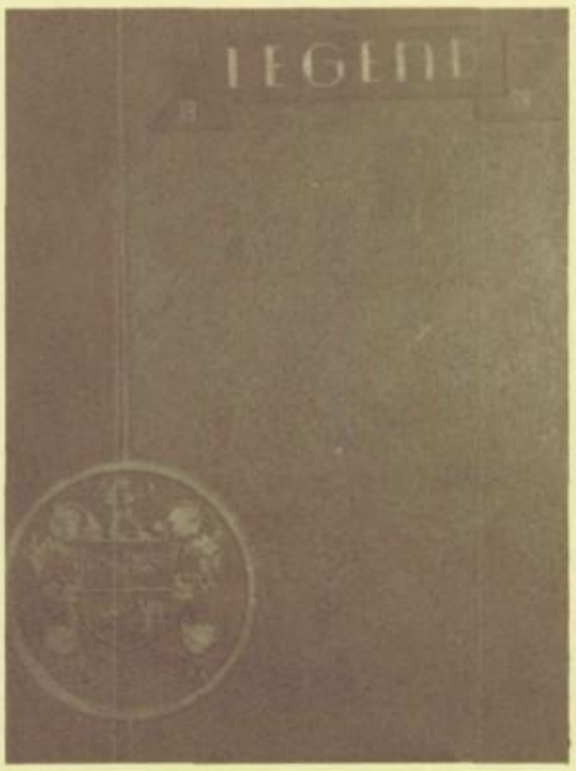
In the 1968 Faculty Follies, Mr. Rosenbluth and Mr. Myers play the good guys in Bonanza, while Mrs. Billings portrays Hop Sing.

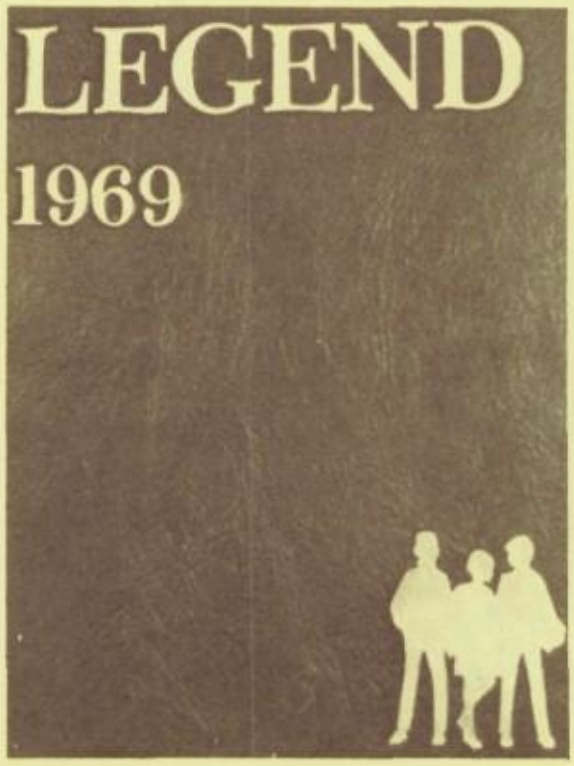
Many changes come to high schools in ways of students getting their education and graduating, and teachers and administrators moving around to better jobs, but the most apparent change is the physical look of the school itself.

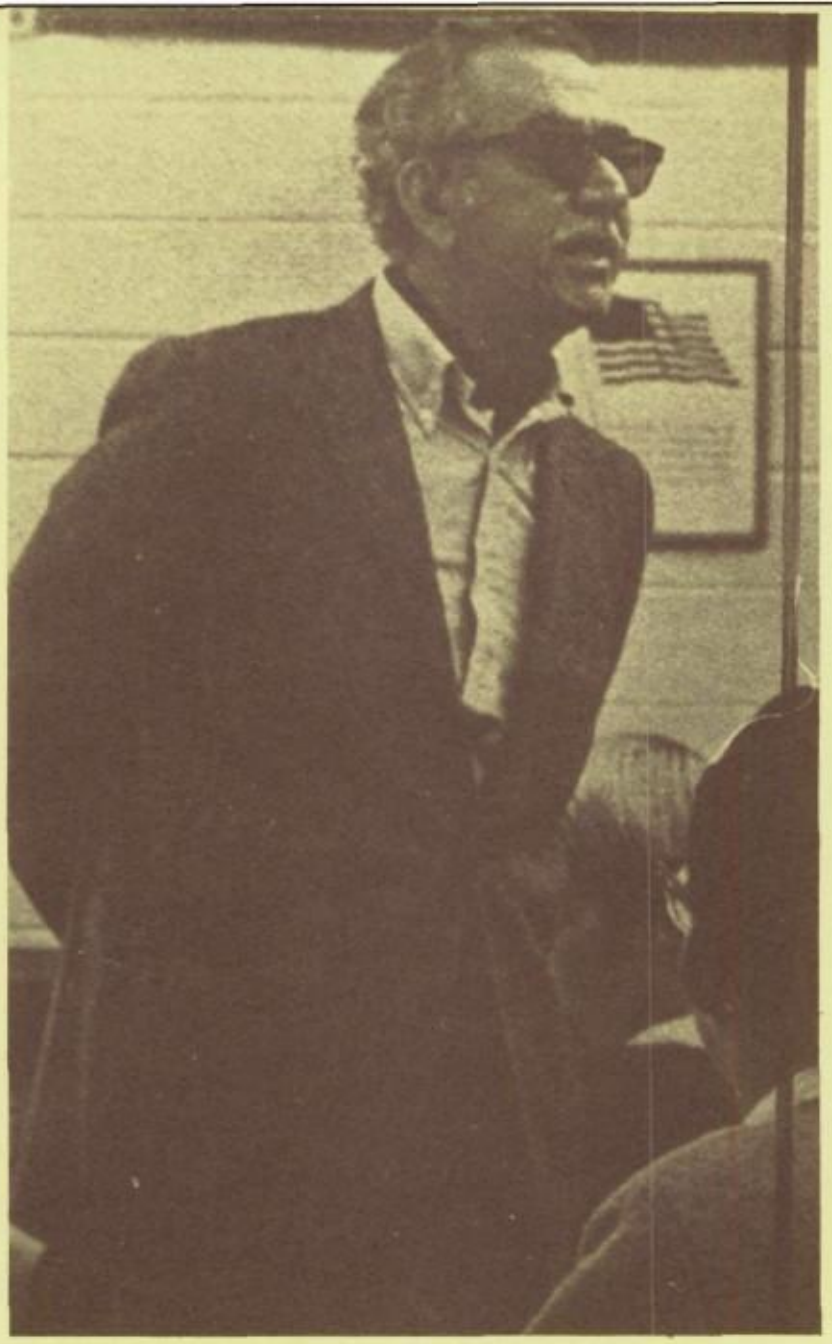
1967 marks first school homecoming

"Broadway Hits", was the theme of East High's first homecoming. The Sophomores float "Annie Get Your Gun", was awarded first place. Many students danced away at the Frosted Fantasy, the annual Christmas Prom. A high point of the Wrangler's carnival was the egg throw at the four class presidents.

"Marine Week" was held and many toys were wrapped. There were enough gifts to fill three trucks. A special assembly was held and General Walt spoke to East High about Vietnam. A six foot pooka rabbit named Harvey was the main star in "Harvey", Masque & Gavel's first production for the year. East High's Lettermen sponsored a game between the coaching staff and the Harlem Clowns. The audience was astounded as the clowns outwitted "Rolls Royce" Youree.







Mr. Robert C. Arnold (known as "Top Dog") conducts his third hour Econ Class, 1969.

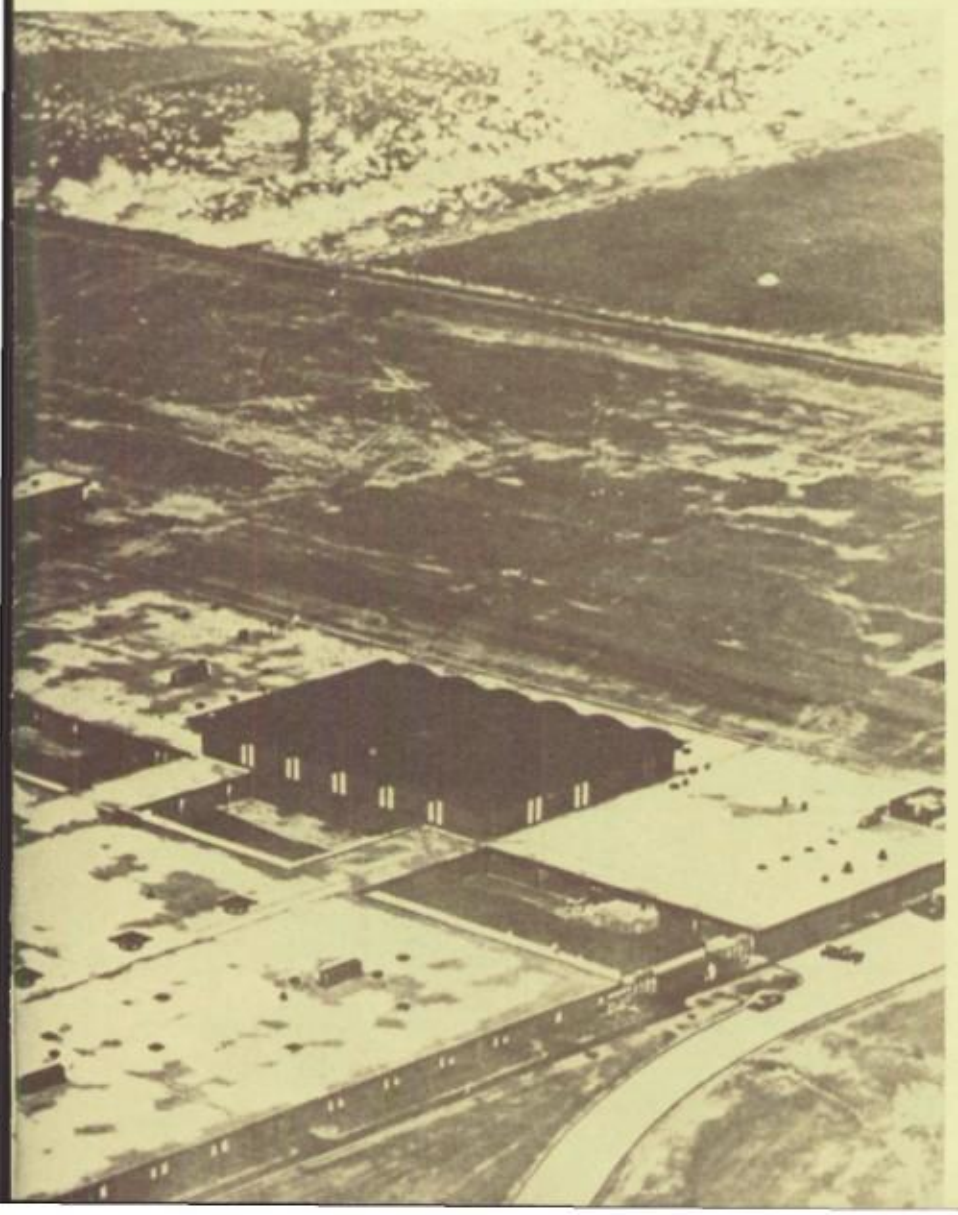
East High dress code is lessened

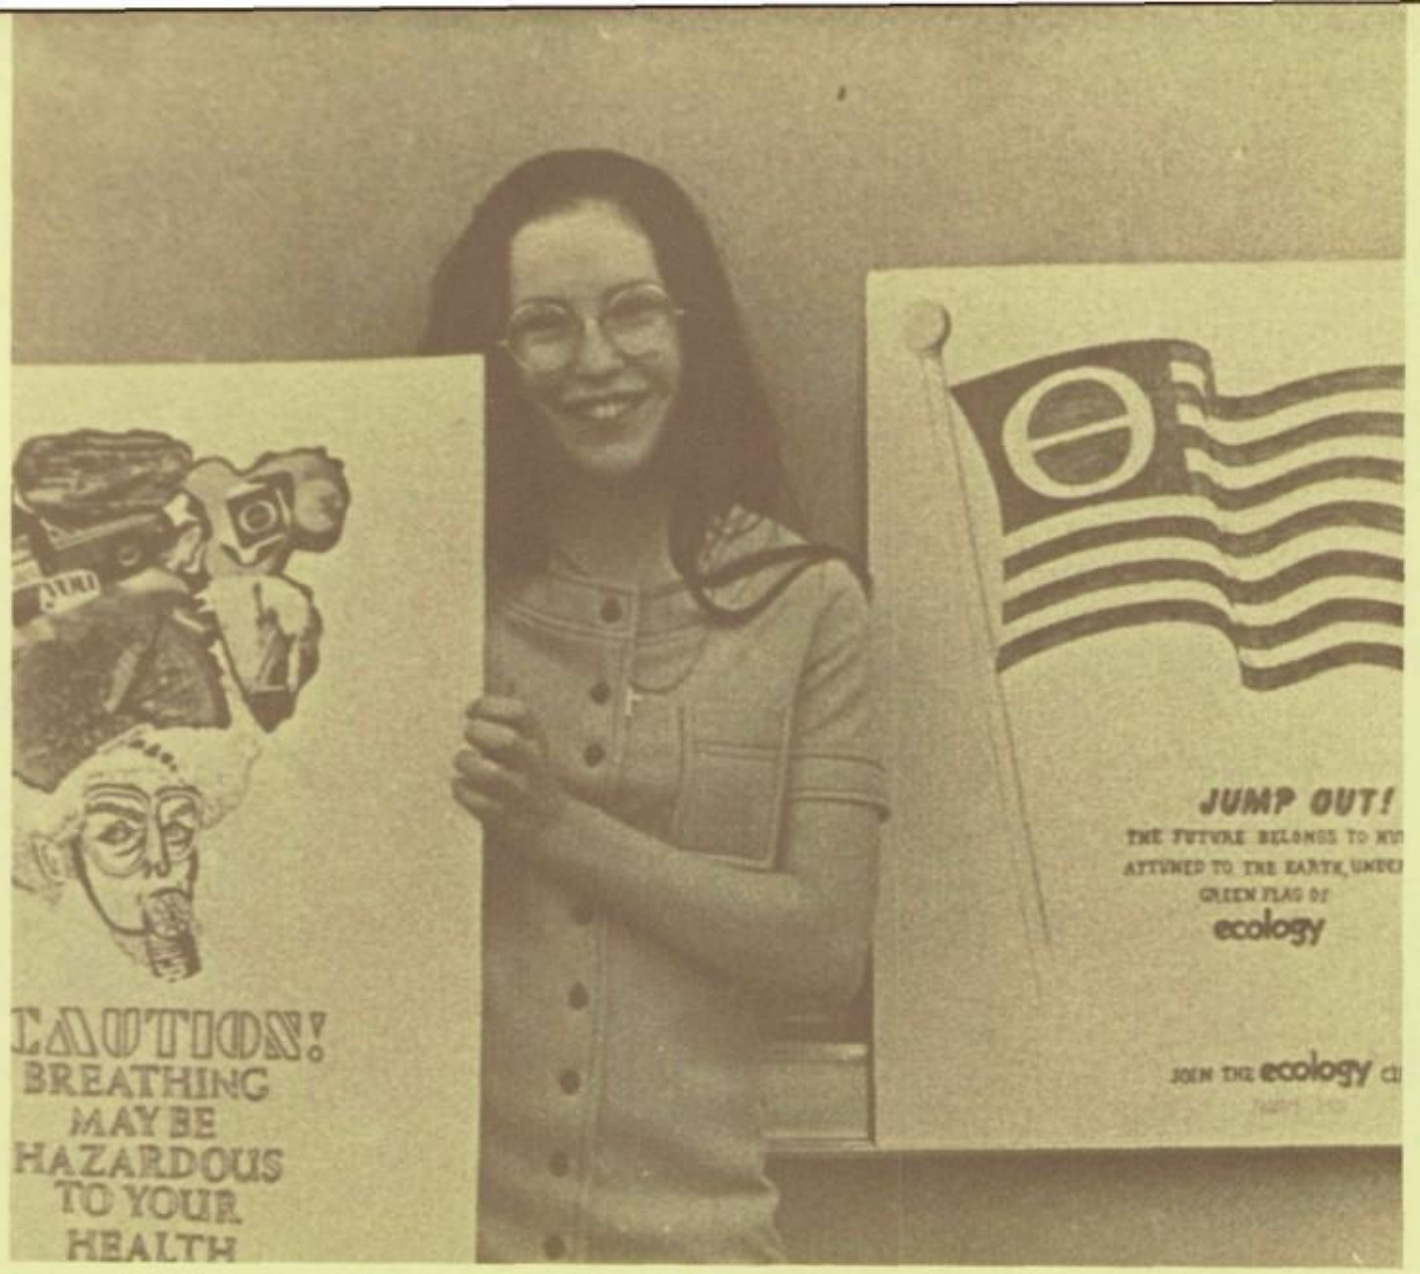
Man landing on the moon was the big news during 1969 and 1970. It was the talk of everyone including High School students. In 1969, "Fantasia" was the homecoming theme while the fall play was named, "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Arsenic and Old Lace wasn't a poison, but the spring play. In 1970, the traffic light was installed in front of the school and the dress code allowed extra long hair on boys and extra skin exposed on girls. "Guys and Dolls" and "Tea House of the August Moon", were the year's plays. During the summer six East High students toured foreign countries. They learned more about

"Longhorn Laugh-Out" was the theme of the '69 Faculty Follies. "Rowan and Martin", (Stevens and Malinski) take orders over the horn.

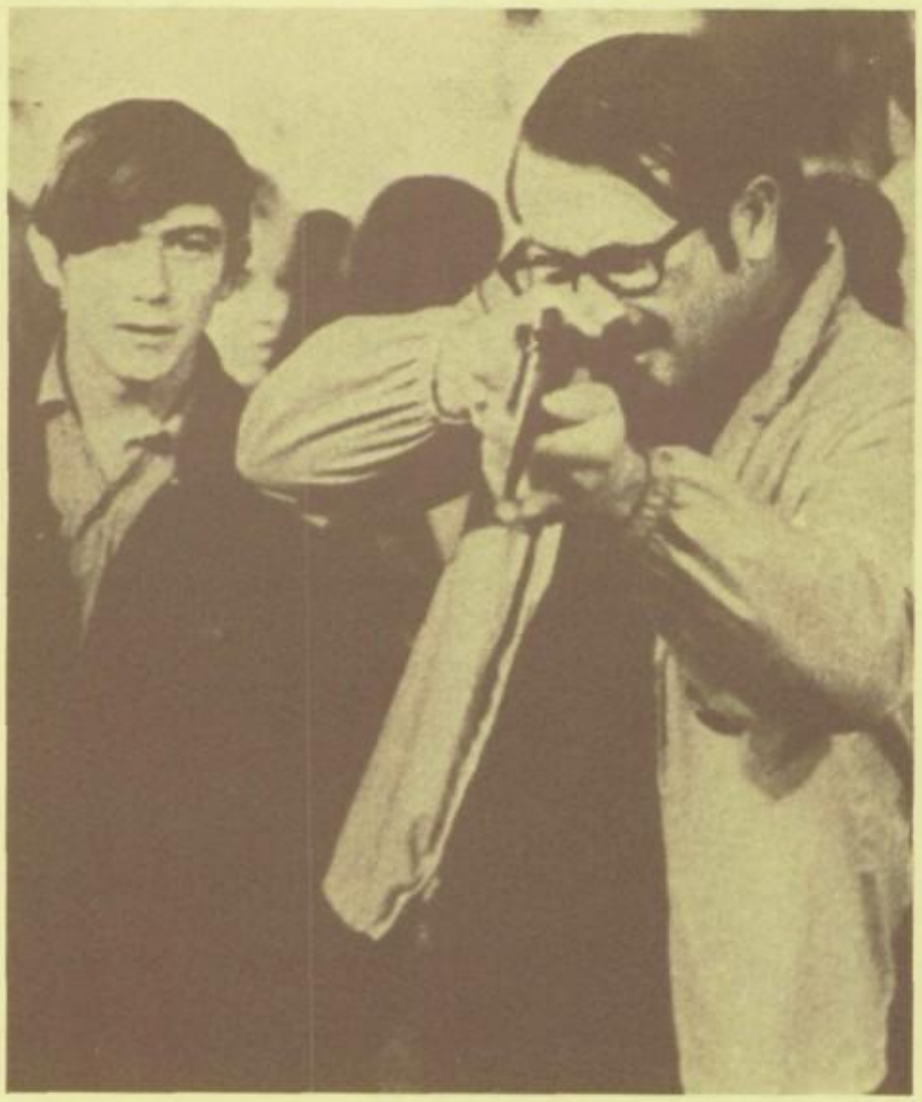
For the second year the student Senate sold football jerseys with the year of graduation imprinted.

With the building of the Civic Center, East High School students showed their fine artistic ability on the outer fences.





Ecology become a big thing at East High in the early '70's and such a number of students got involved that there was an Ecology Club started.

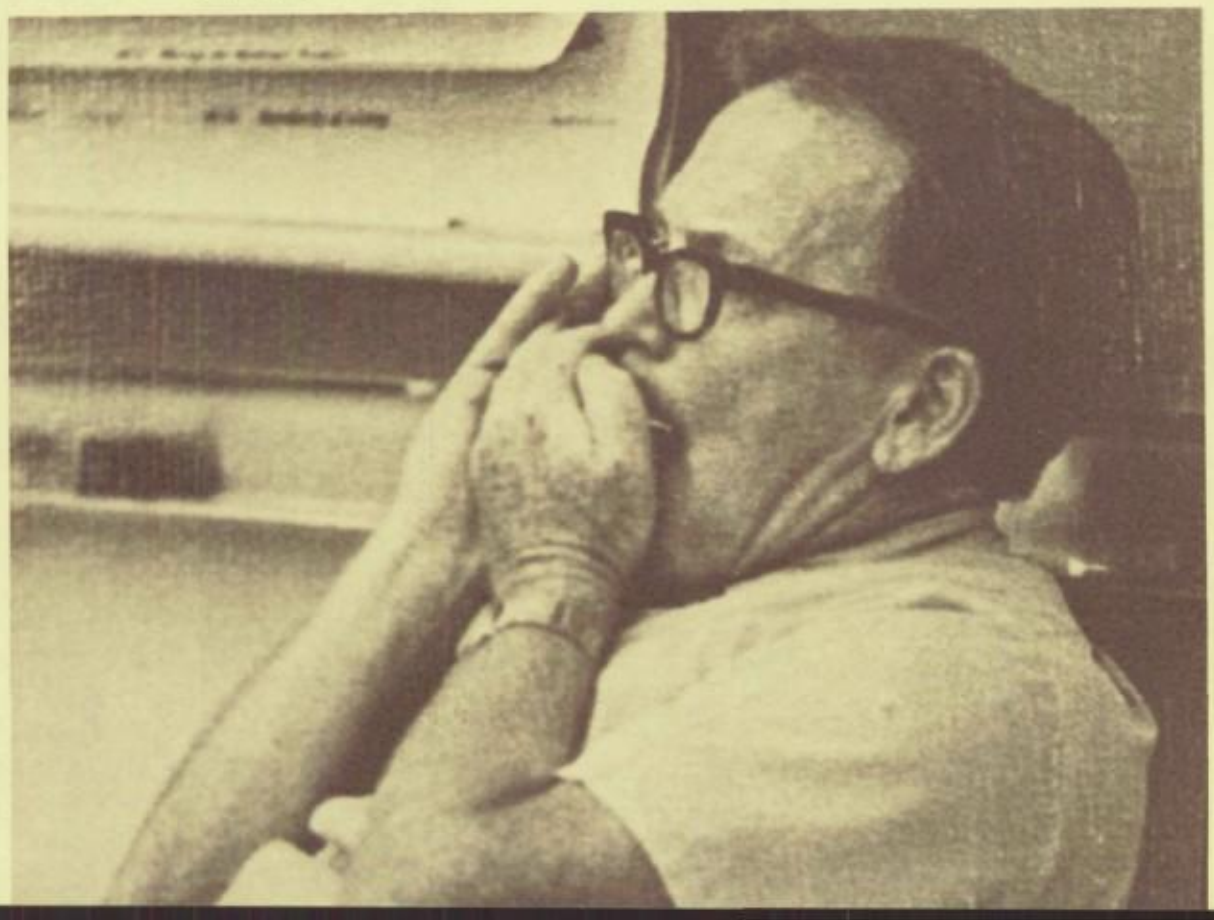


Mr. Stevens showed his skill, aiming and shooting at the Key Club's shooting gallery.

Initiation was a big part of the clubs' membership program and many were day-long events.

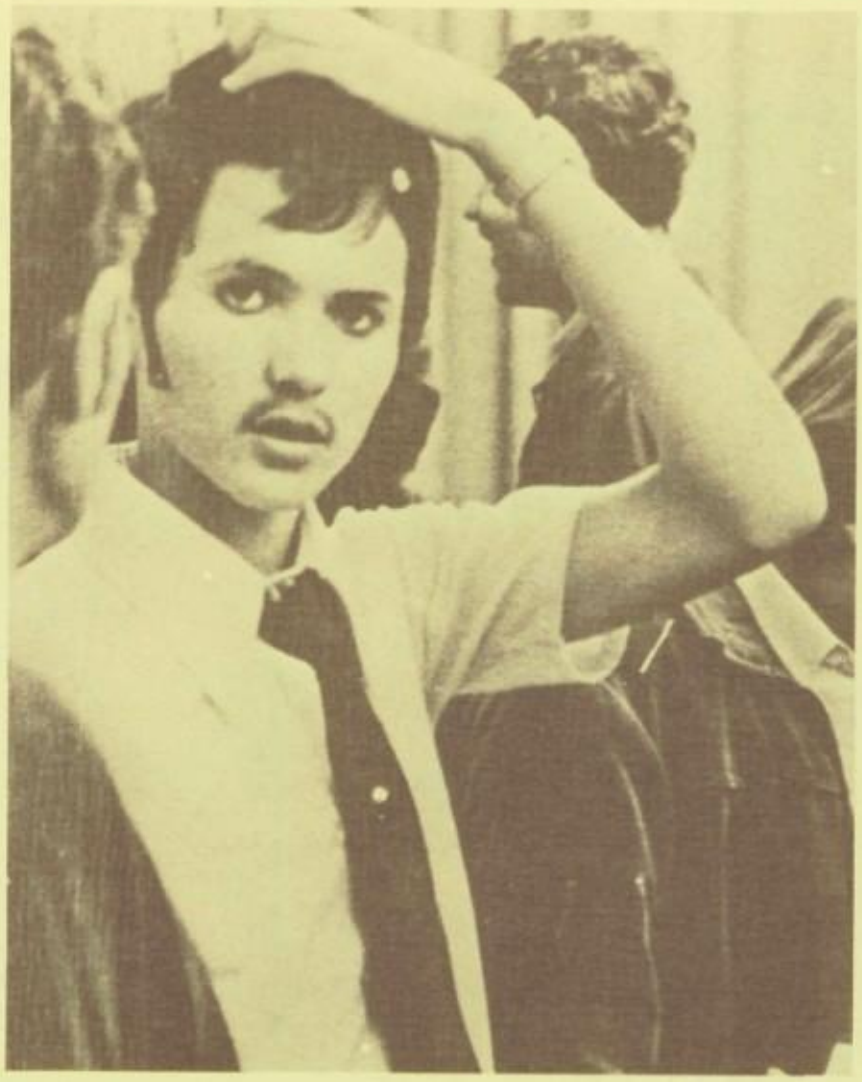
Mike Hackett, Student Body President was Master of Ceremony at the assemblies during 1972 and usually opened them by the Pledge of Allegience.

In his American Government class, Mr. Shook takes time out from the books to entertain his senior class by playing his harmonica.



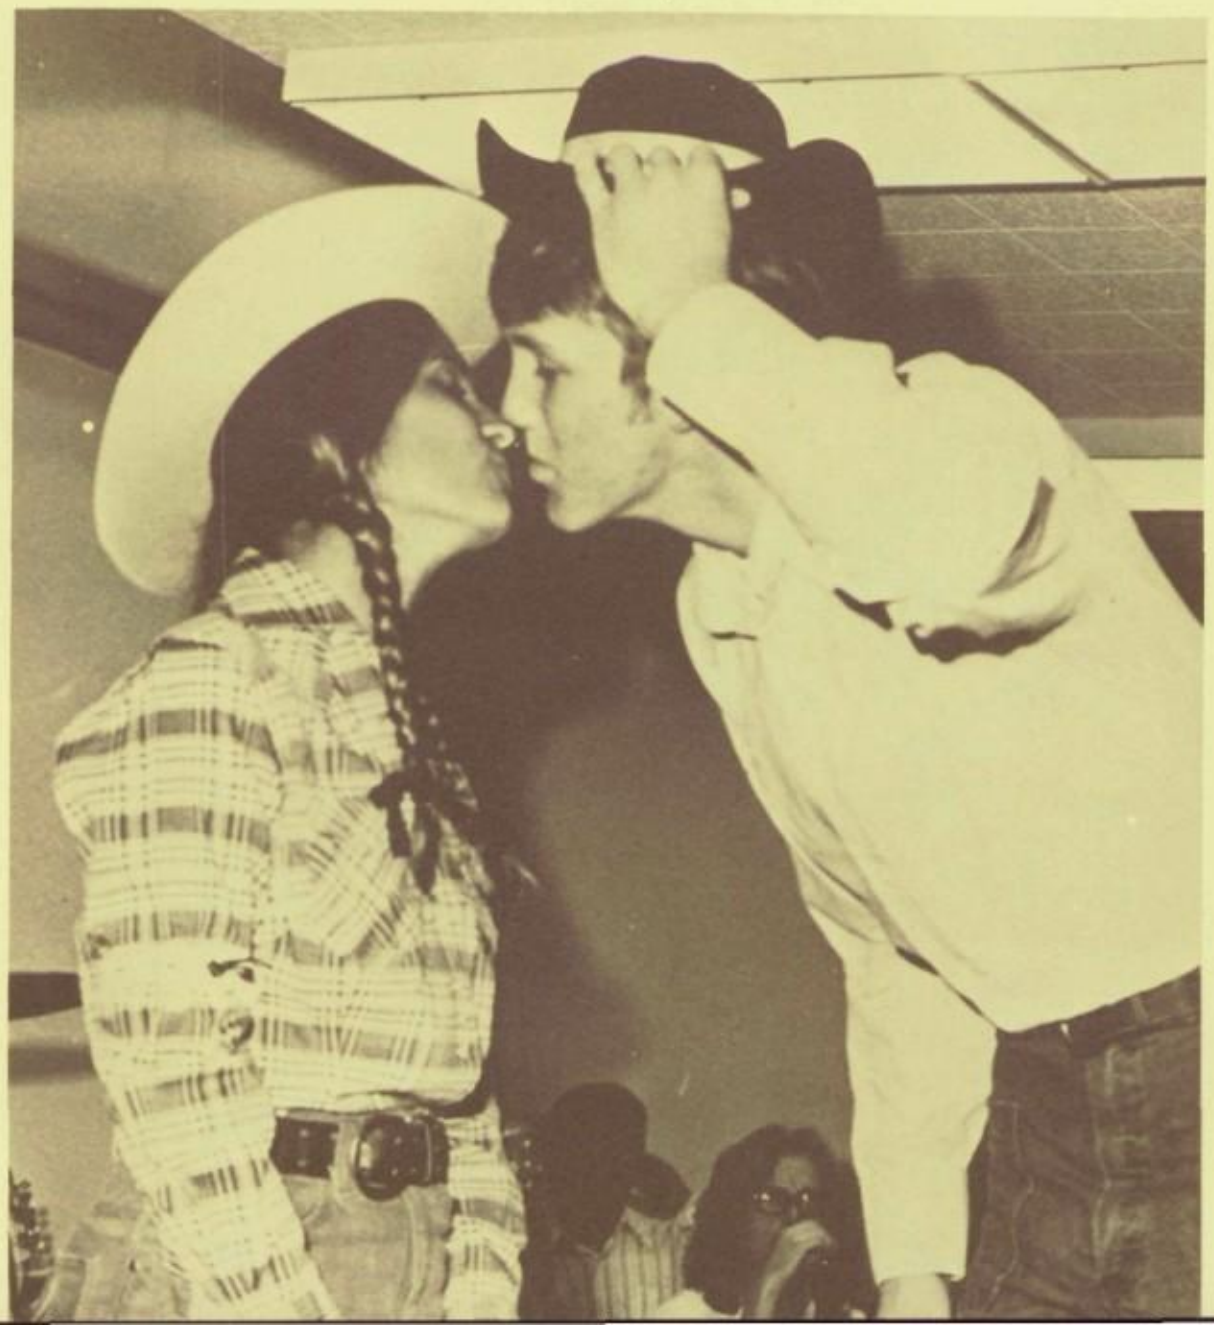
Ecology and dope stop were two big topics

In 1971 Dope Stop visited grade schools and educated the youth, while the ecology club was forming. Also there was a big deal set on freshmen orientation and study halls. "Up the Down Staircase" was the '71 play and the Faculty Follies was entitled "Tell it Like it Was." The Varsity Basketball team won the first State championship for East High. For the final game the Longhorns played Phoenix Union with a 70-69 victorious score. Royce Youree was named "Coach of the Year." Color Days were held in 1972 to increase spirit. The '72 plays were "Damn Yankees" and "A Taste of Temptation."



Drama student, Edward York, relaxes after his performance in the play "Boeing, Boeing."

Practice makes perfect!



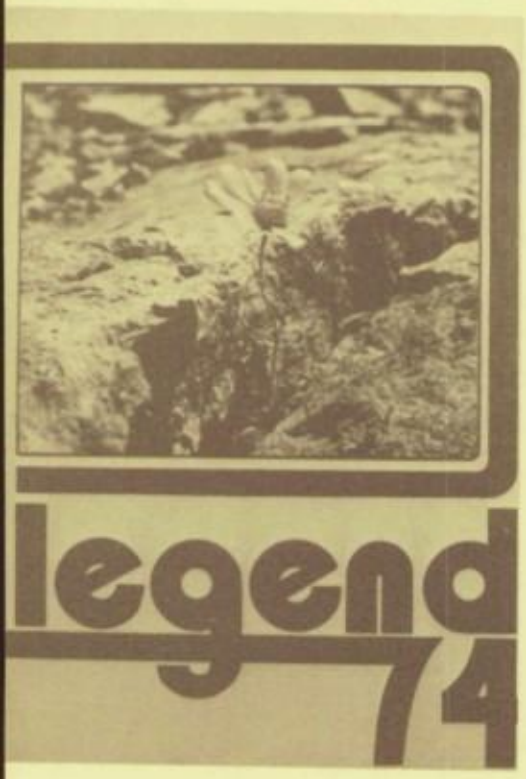
Here are our freshmen Senators from 1972, Bonny Olson, Debbie Smith, Tim Kinnerup, Tina Alexander and Brenda Patterson. Four years sure did justice to change these frollicking freshmen.

'73 is first all-school picnic

During 1973, the Homecoming theme was "Once upon a Halloween." There were also three very popular assemblies, "The History of Rock and Roll", "Up with People" and the Air Force band. "Boeing, Boeing" was a big success from the Drama department along with "Oh what a lovely war", and "The Best", the '73 variety show. The Human Relations club was most active by starting the first all-school picnic and also the Black Awareness Week. The group was enthusiastic, made up of both teachers and students. Once again the Varsity Basketball became the AAA State Champ during 1973 with a seasonal record of 23 wins and 5 losses.

Frank (Shorty) Boykin found that cultivating the plants around the school was an important role. Shorty is now retired.

Student-teacher tug-of-war were among the events at the first all-school picnic in 1973.



During the fall, the East High faculty and students practiced a fire drill. Students were directed which exit to use and usually took 2 to 3 minutes.

In a spring assembly "the cowboys" kiss to end the scene.

The 1975 Legend was dedicated to Mr. R. E. McCuller, founder and principal of East High, who died on January 11, 1974.

An old man going alone his way
Came at evening, cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim;
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Oh man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with your building here;
Your journey will end with the ending day.
You never again will pass this way.
You've crossed the chasm deep and wide.
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"
The builder lifted his old gray head.
"Good fellow in the path I've come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm, that has been as naught to me
To that fair-haired youth pitfall be.
He too must cross in the twilight dim.
Good friend, I'm building this bridge for him."

Andy Rivas, Student Body President, reveals a hidden talent as he sings "Basketball Jones", at the winter sports assembly.

Principal dies in 1974

Enlightening the first of the year was the '74 Homecoming with "Shangri-La" as the theme. The carnival was also a big event where clubs made money and teachers were jailed. The fall and spring plays, "If a Man Answers" and "Peter Pan", were both very successful. Mr. R. E. McCullar retired right before the Christmas recess in 1973. Just weeks after his retirement, Mr. McCullar died of a heart attack, January 11, 1974. During the first of March the Varsity Basketball team entered the State play-off with Alhambra and the game extended into four over-times. Finally Alhambra took it 68-66.

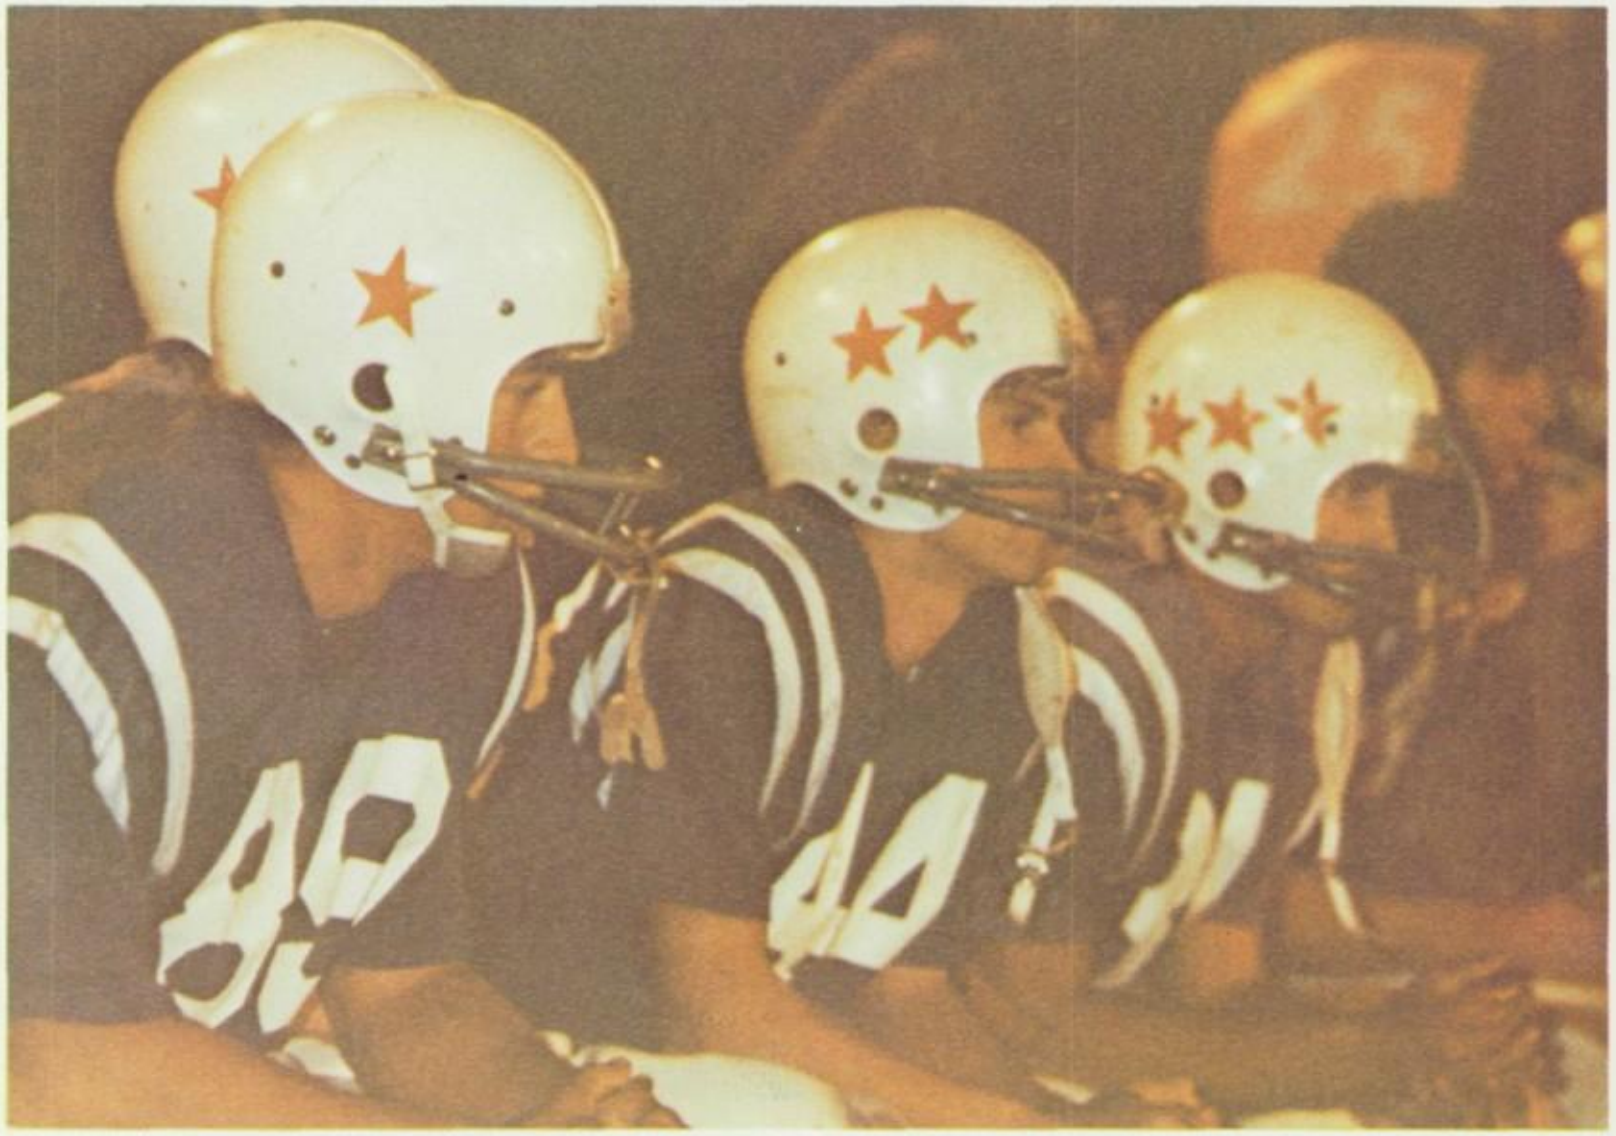
After the publication assembly, Officer Ralph Griffith shows his fine ability to shoot pool.

In the 1974 spring play, Peter Pan (Leslie Haddad) gets ready to fly across the room.

Dreams look at life

An individual's life is foreseen in the dream of goals. These dreams are like the student who is headed for an ambition and willing to learn. Dreams can also reflect memories of the past both bad and good. These are the dreams that are the teachers.

THEME



Participating on the East High Varsity football team is a matter of great spirit. In the past years the Longhorns have been the underdog, but this year the team came up on top.

Listening to the vibrant sounds of a modern band during one of the lunch hours, Yung Kim takes her time to stop and talk with a friend for a few minutes.

In the Homecoming assembly, the Varsity football team were dressed in shorts and played Couples holding hands in the halls is a common sight, while Gene Runyon and Shelly Anderson have found a more secluded spot.

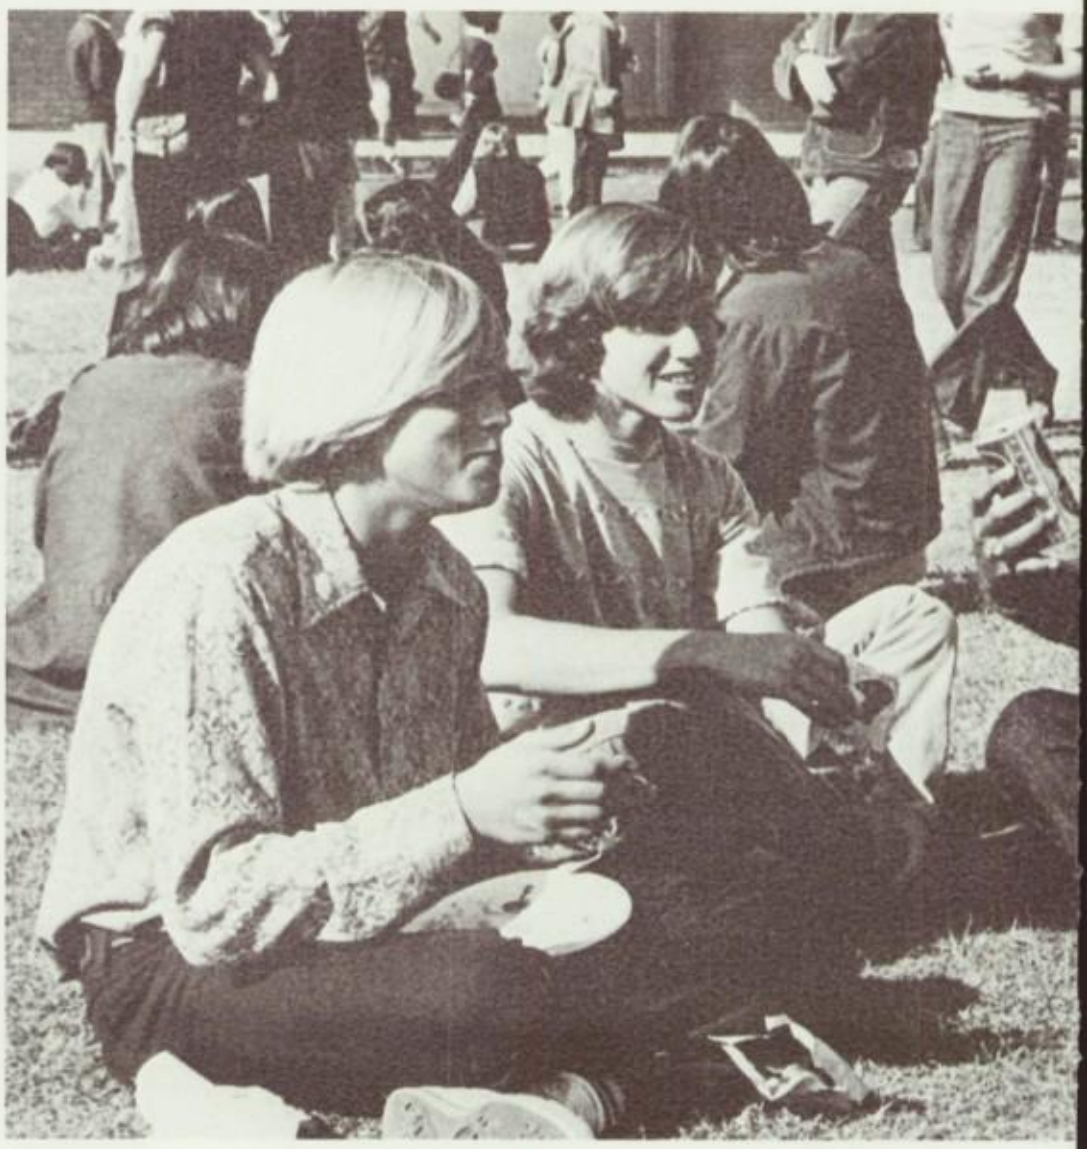
Longhorns start year in spirit

Filled with ambition and hope are some of the East high students who are becoming active. From the time school starts in the fall Longhorns are finding ways to get active in all types of school events. Boys interested in football have to start practice in the mid-summer, while at the same time various clubs meet and plan the forthcoming school year. Clubs elect their officers and plan projects for the year. Organizations such as the band and chorus rehearse and schedule concerts, while drama plans the fall play and student government opens its door.

cheerleader for a day. For a week, the team practiced, "You Bit Off."

During a pep assembly in the stadium, the varsity pom and cheer finish off with the fight song played by the band.

Student-teaching physics with Mr. Martin during first semester was Mr. Bridges.

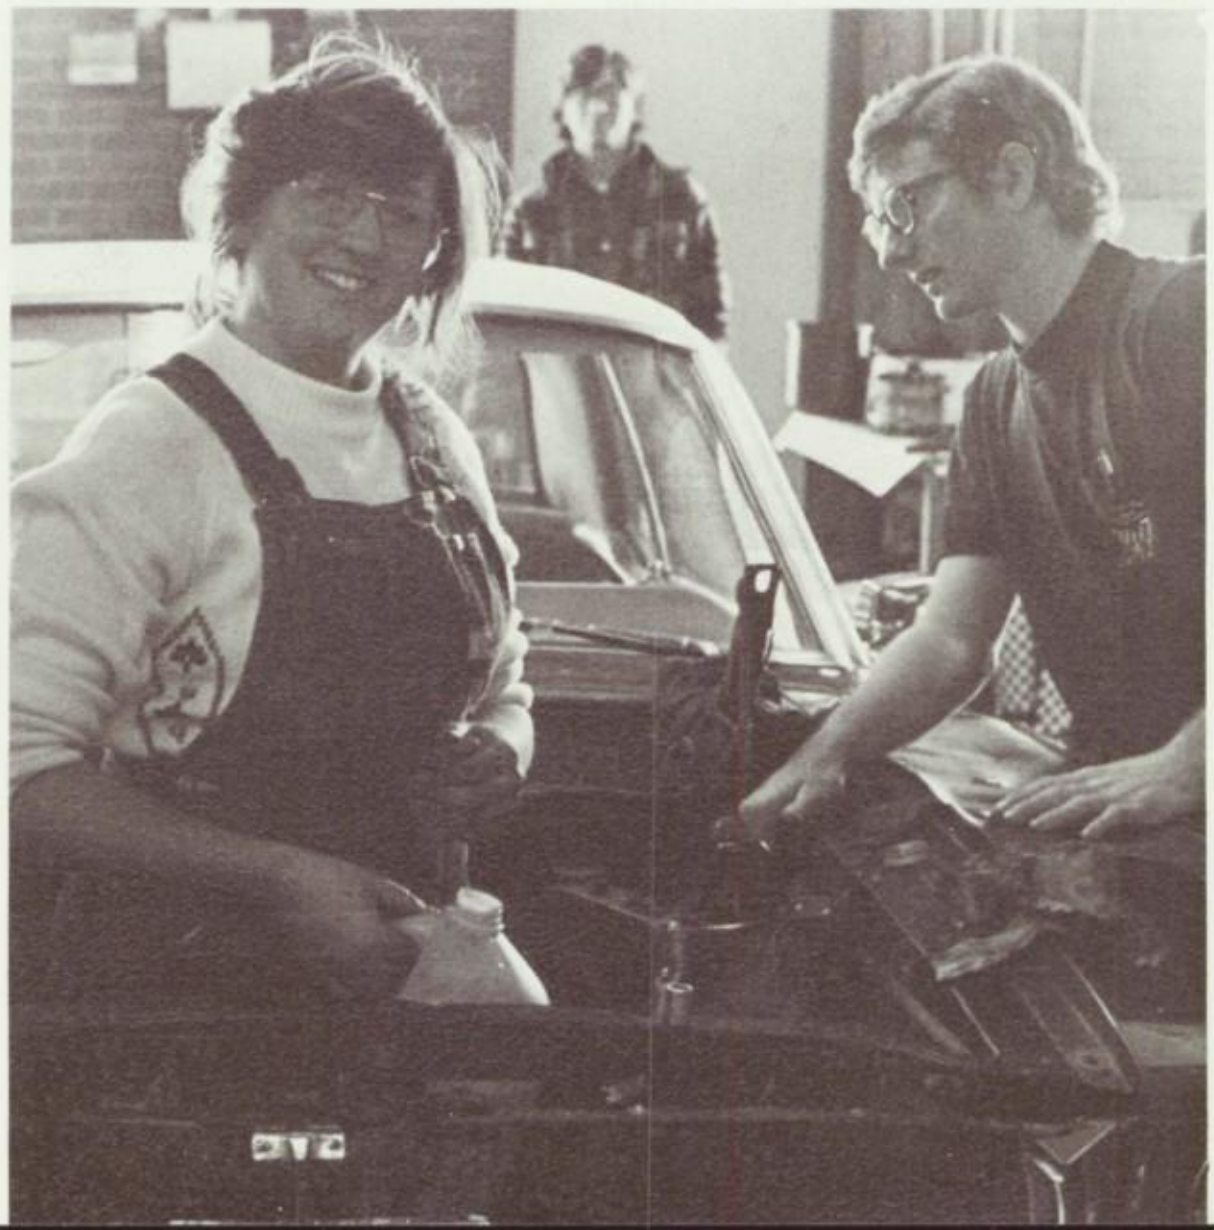


Enjoying the 35¢ lunch provided at the picnic are David Paceley and Steve Green, while Rudy Busto seems to be advertising a new soft drink.

'Horns start down the road of life

Down the road of life is a way of thinking of a person's ambitions and goals. In high school we take on jobs, learn of the business world and start aiming ourselves toward a life career. At this point we have just started to roll down the road with high spirits and dreams of success. As we continue down the road we hope to be the best in what we do.

Making last minute preparations for replacing a engine are Brenda Holloway, who really gets into her work, and Tim Cornum.



On Halloween Day, dressing and acting like a 5 year-old, Barry Paceley pulls the mountaineer, Ruth Osterland, around the halls of East High.

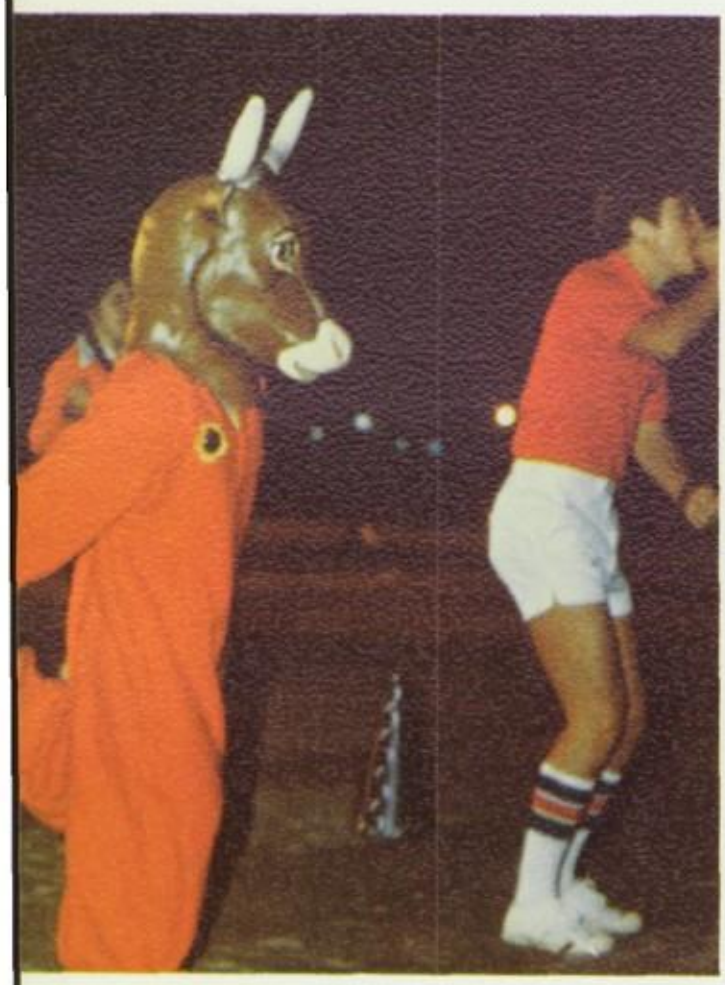
Raising money for the DECA activities is accomplished by an occasional bake sale.

Substituting for the Varsity Pom were the girls of the pep club doing a routine including the bump.

East High spirit is of highest

Getting involved in school activities and sports was one of the things that many East High Longhorns did. They found that school wasn't just sitting in class for six hours a day. Showing spirit many times through the year was a real sign of dedication and possibly a little courage. Participating in any sports, clubs or organizations means that individuals have to put in many "after-hours" hours.

Class competition involved such things as a potato sack race with Randy Howell and Joe Skaggs.



Cheering the crowd on was the job of Diane Brucato and Tim Kinnerup. Diane performs in the Louie mascot suit.

During the half-time the East High Marching Band played the National Anthem along with other American patriotic selections.

Friday nights were tied up by Varsity Football games both at home and away. They played top rated opposition and finished the season with an 8-2 record, another first for East High.

Cheering on the Longhorn's Varsity team at a home game, "The Company" started with singing the National Anthem to dancing in the stands. They followed the team to all games.

Longhorns enjoy events

Events ranged from the zany antics of the publications assembly to the mid-term graduation. Longhorns worked harder and had more fun in many of the East High happening by singing, acting or just being themselves. Students found that becoming involved in their school helped them to demolish the sparetime and boredom of their life.

ENZESTES

Senior Class attendant was chosen from the Cheer Line. Tim Kinnerup escorts Shawn Larson out to the field to line up for the presentation of the homecoming royalty.

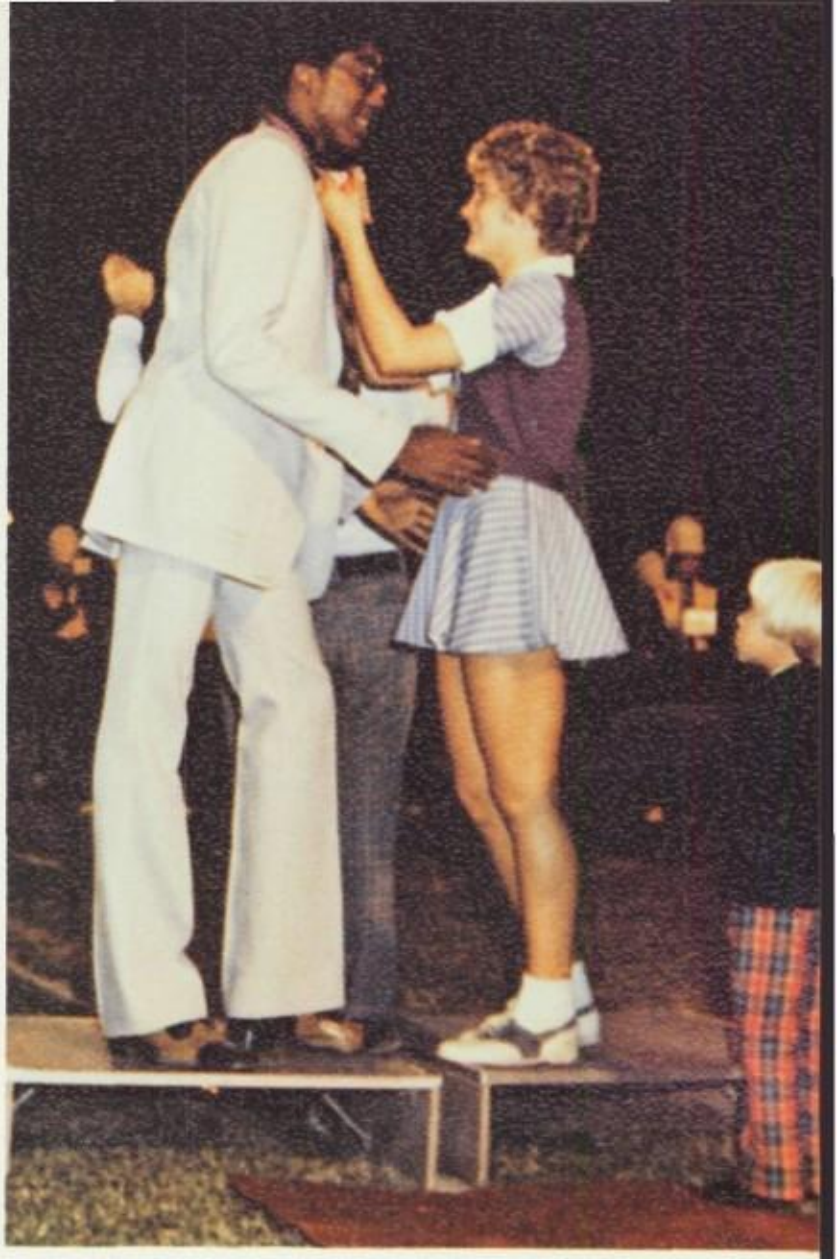
by her arm out to the field. Dawn carries her attendant's rose.

Homecoming was a new experience for the freshman attendants, as Greg Graves walks Tina Kinnerup to an awaiting convertible for the royalty parade.



Wendell King and Brenda Patterson were elected King and Queen by the East High Student Body. Brenda pins a boutonniere on Wendell.

Fireworks are used

Fireworks during the National Anthem kicked off the 1974 Homecoming. While the Varsity team was playing a winning game, the floats were receiving last minute touches. In float competition, the Juniors took first place with the Seniors not far behind. Freshmen were awarded third and the Sophomores finished with a fourth place. The half-time festivities started with the float parade and the band playing the float themes. Out on the football field the royalty from the last 10 years lined up and the 1974 Homecoming royalty walked on to the field. The royalty was announced and then taken to several convertibles. The band finished off the half-time.

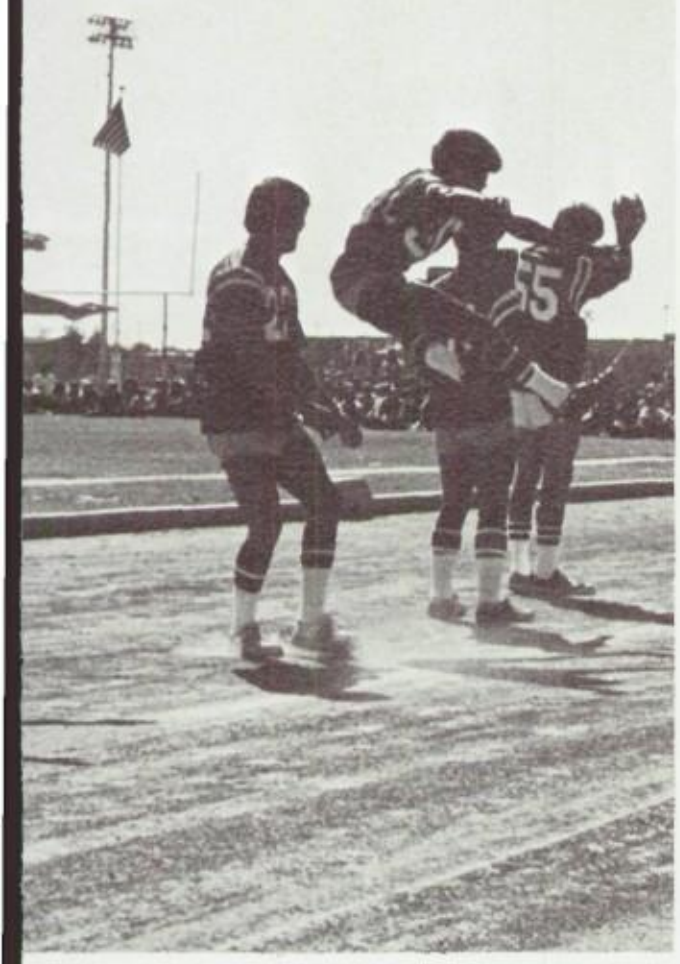
During the basketball-wrestling assembly, Coach Youree introduces the Varsity Basketball squad. As the coach finishes, the Longhorns show their spirit by clapping and cheering.

Assemblies are fun and entertaining

Assemblies are part of the student life that are fun and entertaining. Longhorns watch them in the auditorium as well as in the stadium and the gym. At the first of the year, the publications department opened the season with a comical and historical assembly. The theme was "The Games People Play" and finished with a 10 year history of East through pages of old yearbooks and newspapers. Pep assemblies tried to inject spirit with shows and skits from the Varsity Pom and Cheer.

Joe Aycock and Lewis Nash get into position for a wrestling demonstration, while excited students look on.

Featuring a few of the top names from "The Price is Right" skit are Ben Gay and Joe Cool, who sang with the rest of the yearbook staff as they finish off by singing "God Bless our Yearbook!"

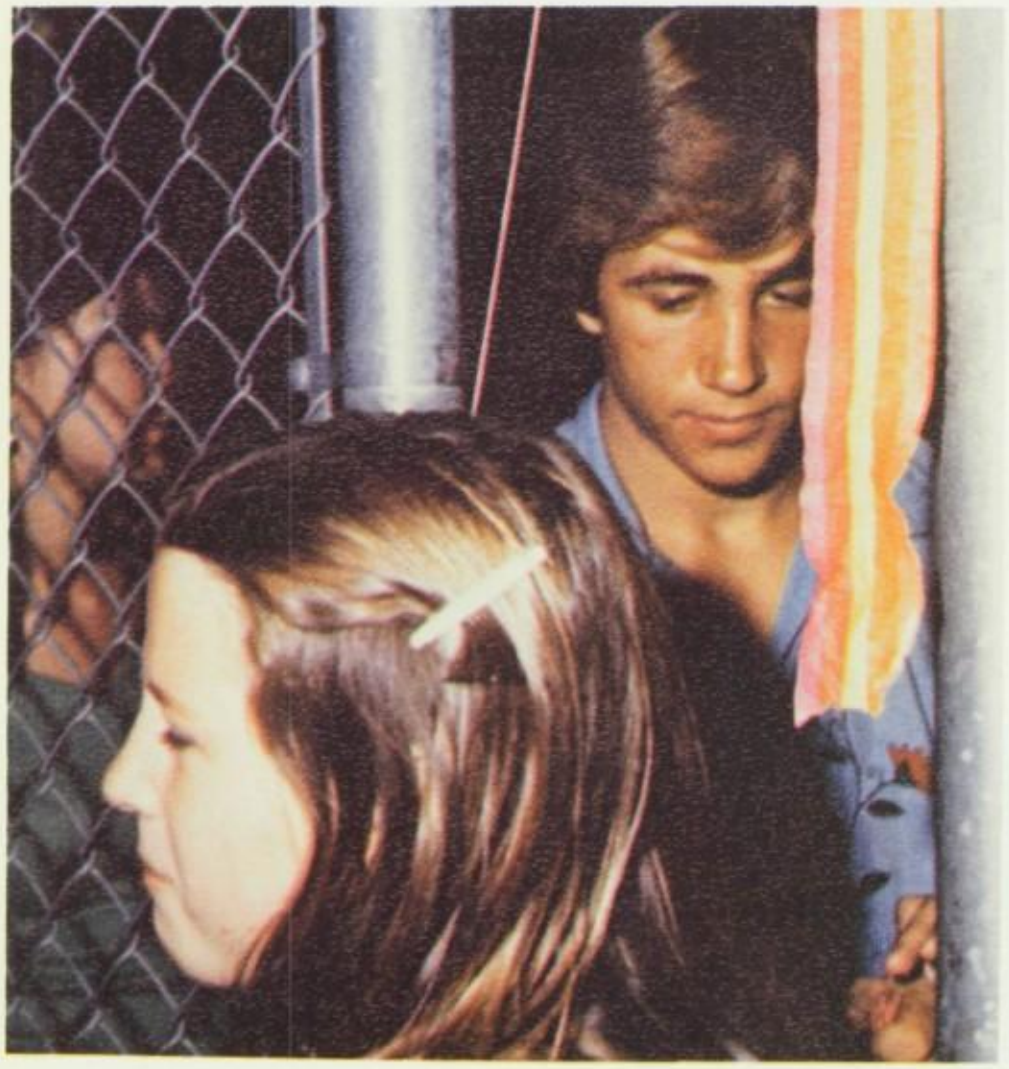


Early in the year, the football team leads the cheer, "You Bit Off"

Entertaining during a double assembly, Debbie Ermoian, Lee Jordan and Susan Scott of the Madrigals sing "The 12 Days of Christmas."

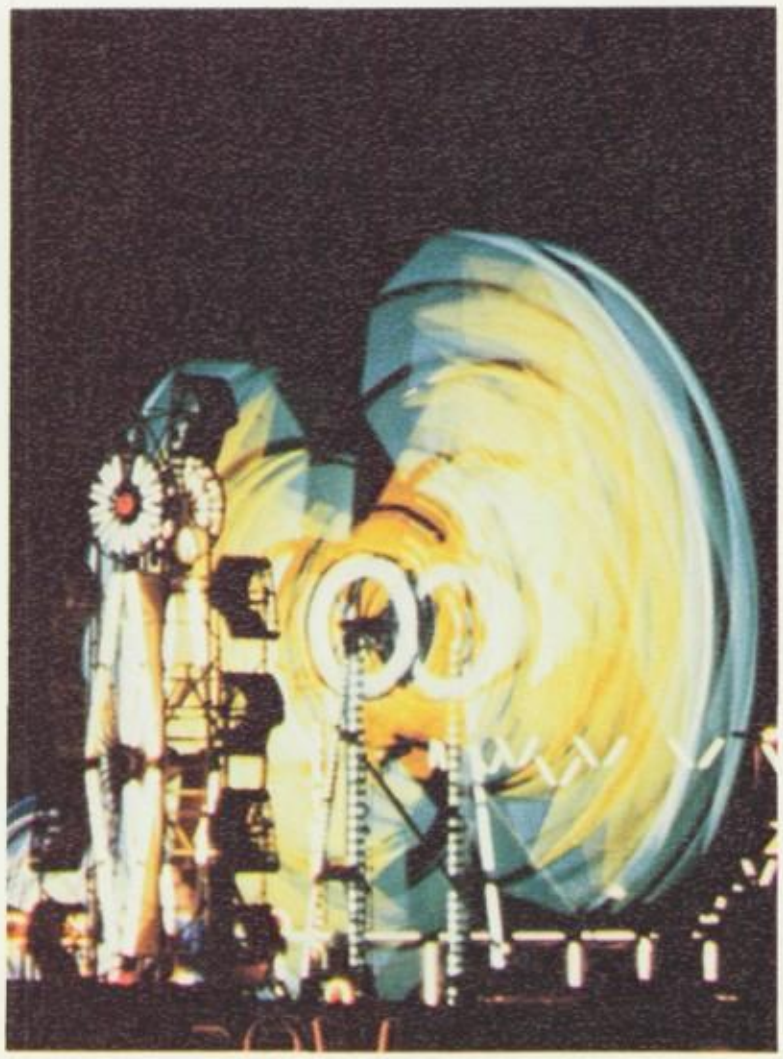
Hope and luck were the main ingredients for winning on the wheel of fortune. Patty Gunderson and other carnival goers watch as the wheel spins.

East High's carnival is filled with fun, color and prizes.



Seniors ran the carnival jail with a full squad of deputies. Tim Kinnerup controls the jail door.

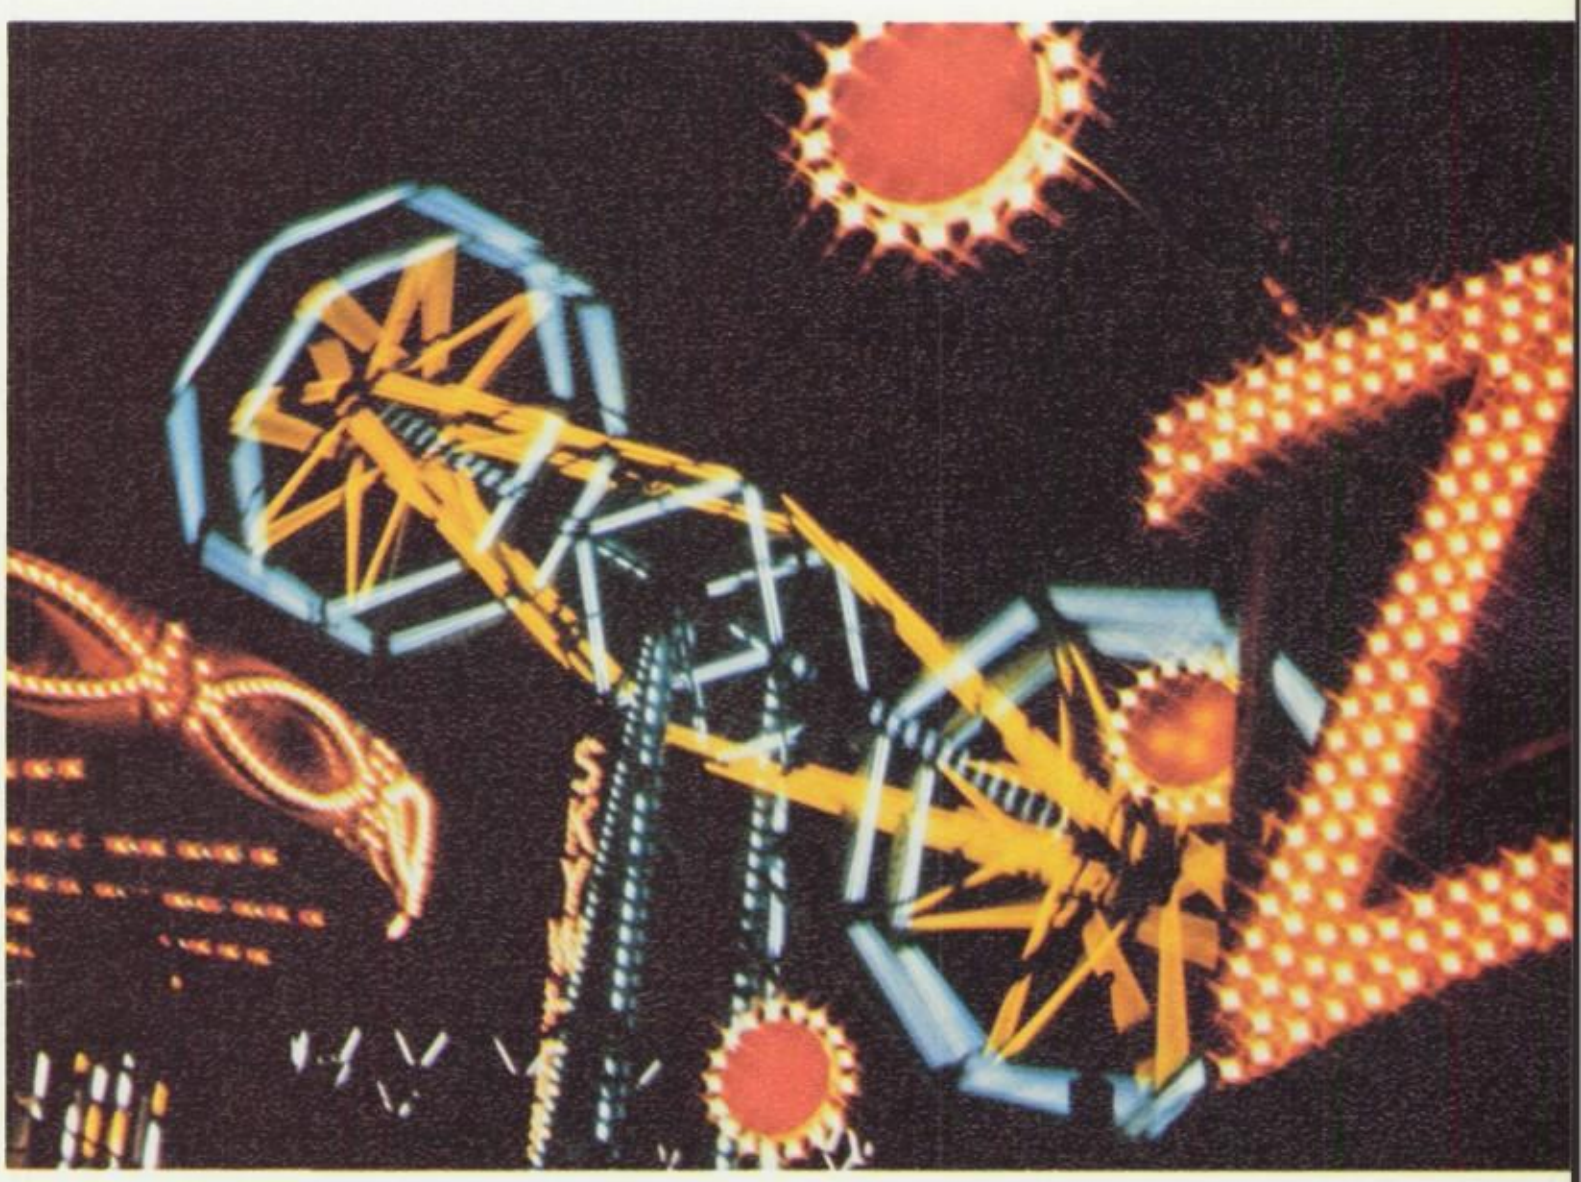
During a slightly cloudy and warm day, teenagers enjoy the thrill of the Roundup as it spins at a fairly fast rate.



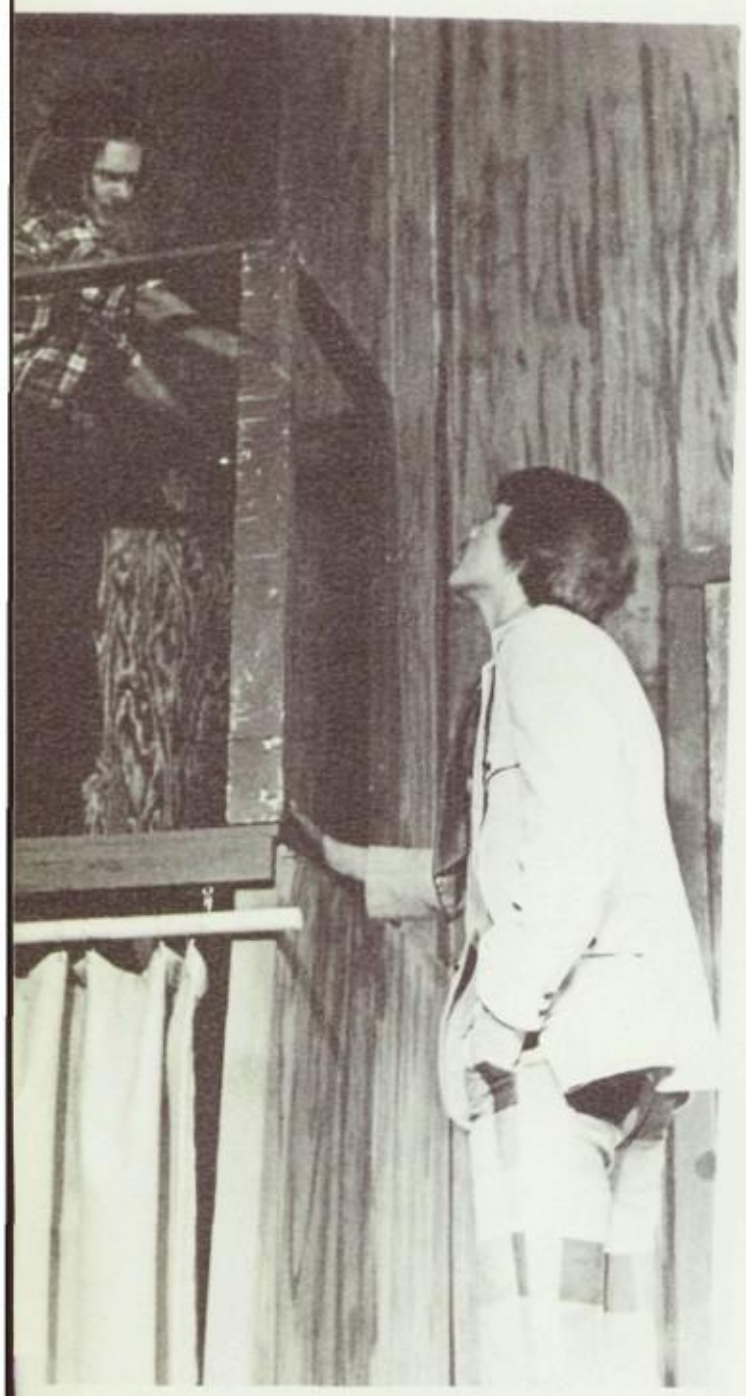
New dimension is taken by the double ferris wheel.

Carnival is hosted by clubs

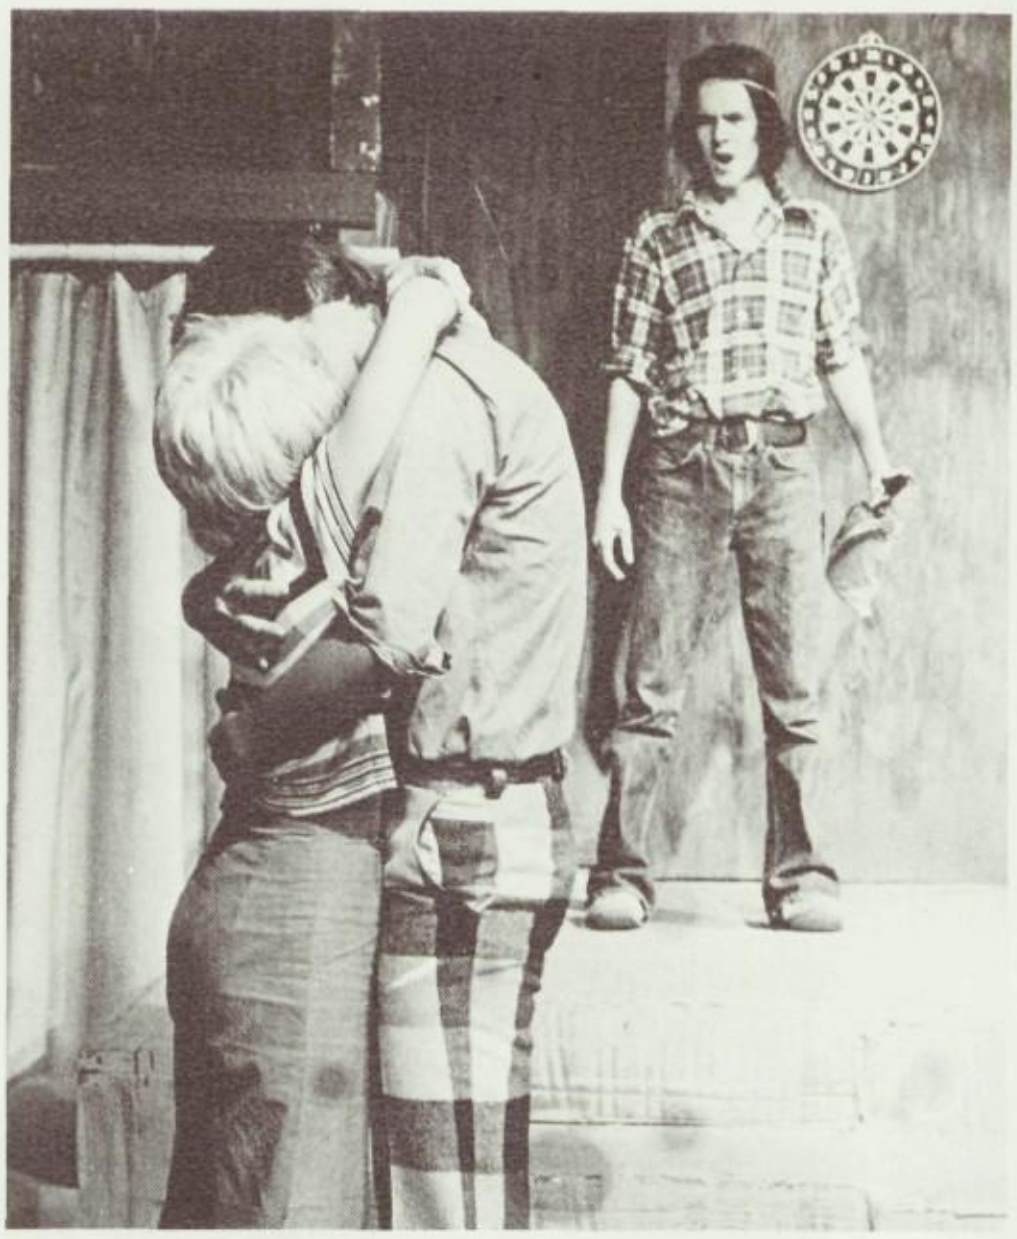
East High's carnival is one of the big events of the fall. It's a time when all the clubs and organizations around school have a chance to earn a little money and at the same time have some fun. Some of the concessions hosted games of chance and a wide variety of food. The carnival lasted three hours and for some people who seemed to be occupying the jail a good portion of the time, it may have seemed longer. For most, though, the time went by at an accelerated rate. Directly after the school carnival, the Wranglers also held a dance.



At night the fair comes to life with a multitude of color throughout the rides and exhibits.



Being stopped and questioned by Mark Sundstrom, Russel Faucet is planning to go into the bedroom for a red ribbon.

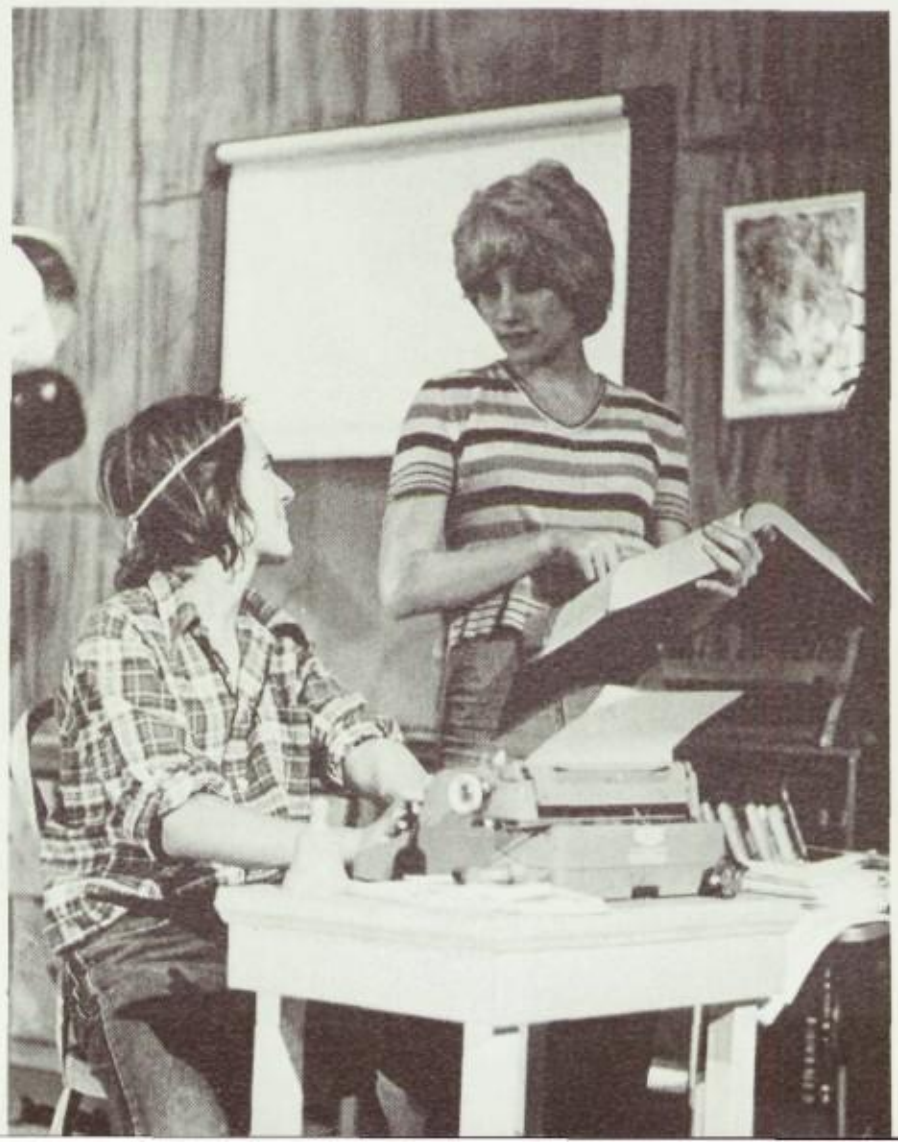


Shocked by Mark Sundstrom and Susie Ajamie, Russel Faucet is struck with complete astonishment.

Girl patriot falls in love

Patriotism and loyalty to the United States starts the conflict between the Star-Spangled Girl and the magazine staff. Russel Faucett portrayed the writer, Mark Sundstrom the editor, Susan Ajamie the Star-Spangled Girl. Russel fell in love with Susan, but Susan didn't want a wierdo who writes an anti-establishment magazine. It turned out Susan and Mark fell in love and Mark lost a friend. Russel thought it over and decided the three of them could live together writing a magazine which Susan was determined to change.

Finally getting back to work, Russel Faucet uses Susie Ajamie for the spelling of harder words.



Mark Sundstrom plays combat over Russel

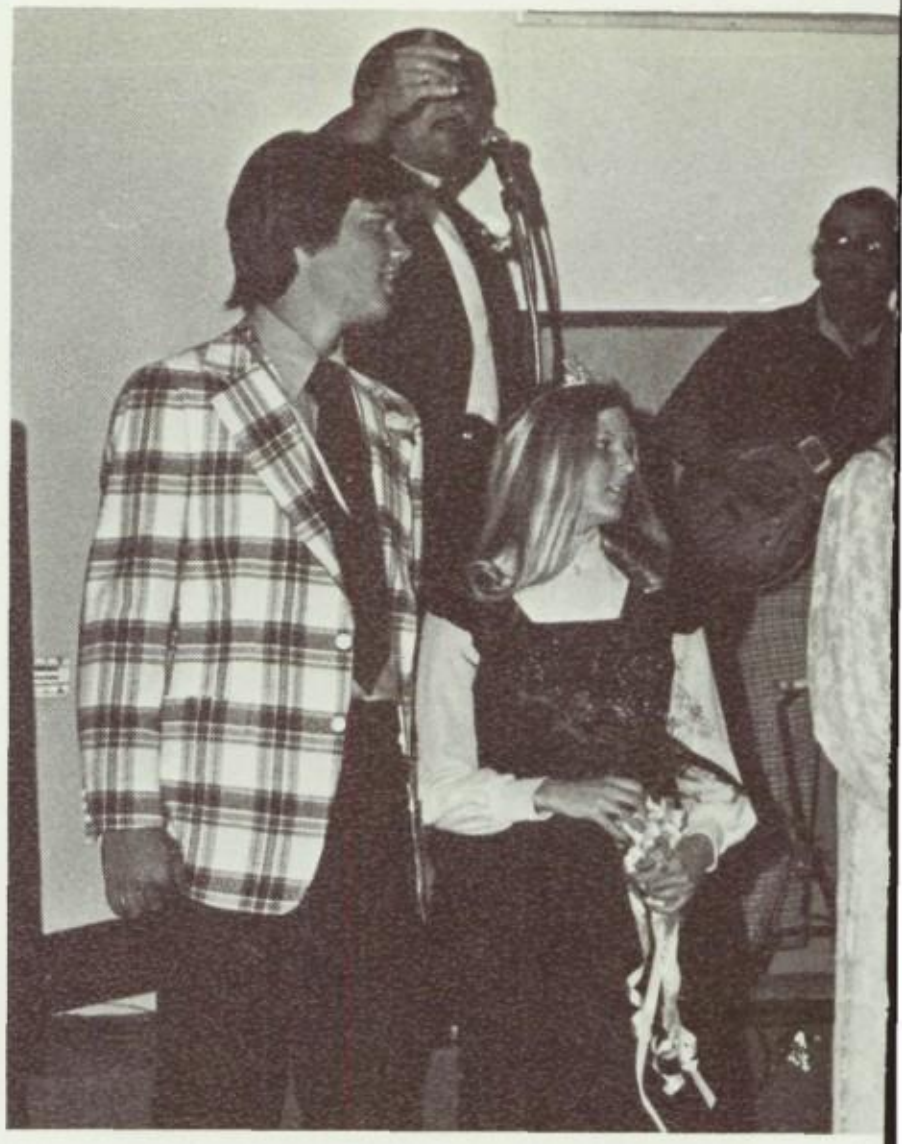
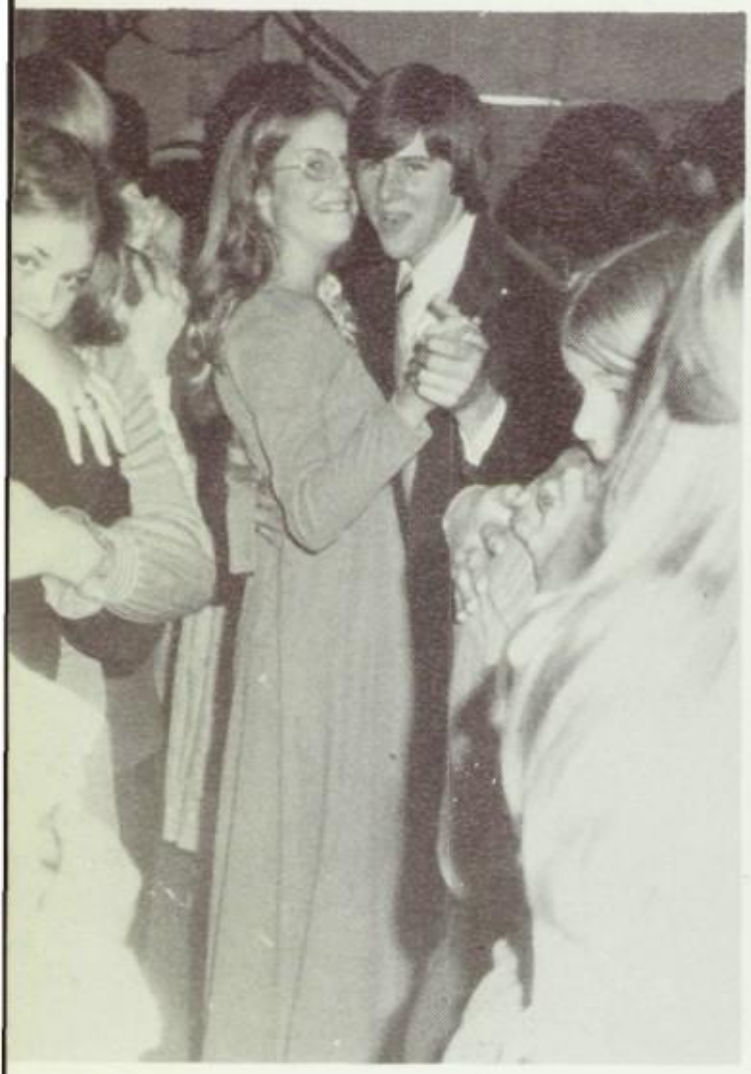
as a magazine editor, while Russel Faucett is his writer. They both are armed and ready to not writing.

Russel Faucett enters the apartment with a bottle of wine.

Doing the "double-bump", Myra Wesson and Bryon Ewing danced to the music group "Shades of Soul".



Diane Brucatoe congratulated Mark Sundstrom, Cindy Wineland, Judy Price, and Nicki Roy while Mr. Stevens announced the Christmas Royalty.



Matthew Corbin and Debbie Smith enjoyed dancing at the Prom.

Cindy Wineland and Mark Sundstrom enjoy the traditional coronation dance at the Christmas Prom after the election for royalty.

Among the couples on the crowded floor, Ronald Ocano, Michael Cota and Eric Westergard lead their partners in a slow dance.

Deciding which candidates for King, Queen and attendants will be their choice, this couple mark their ballot in secrecy.

Music and high spirits provide fun

Dancing to soft music with the lights turned low were many couples that came to enjoy the Christmas Prom. There was also the fast rock for those who like to swing. Girl's League sponsored the Prom and chose the theme "Nostalgic Noel." Coming to school Saturday morning before the Prom, Girl's League decorated the cafeteria for that night's activities. The atmosphere was congenial between the chaperones and students and both enjoyed the music and refreshments. Planning proms takes time and Sherrie McBrayer spent hours as the overall chairman. The sponsors were Mrs. Hawn, Miss Frederick, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Weiss, and Mrs. Farrer.

Before proceeding with the graduation ceremony, Mark Sundstrom, Mr. Stephen Jenkins, president of the school board, Mr. Frank Anderson, and the mid-year graduates stand at attention for the playing of the National Anthem.

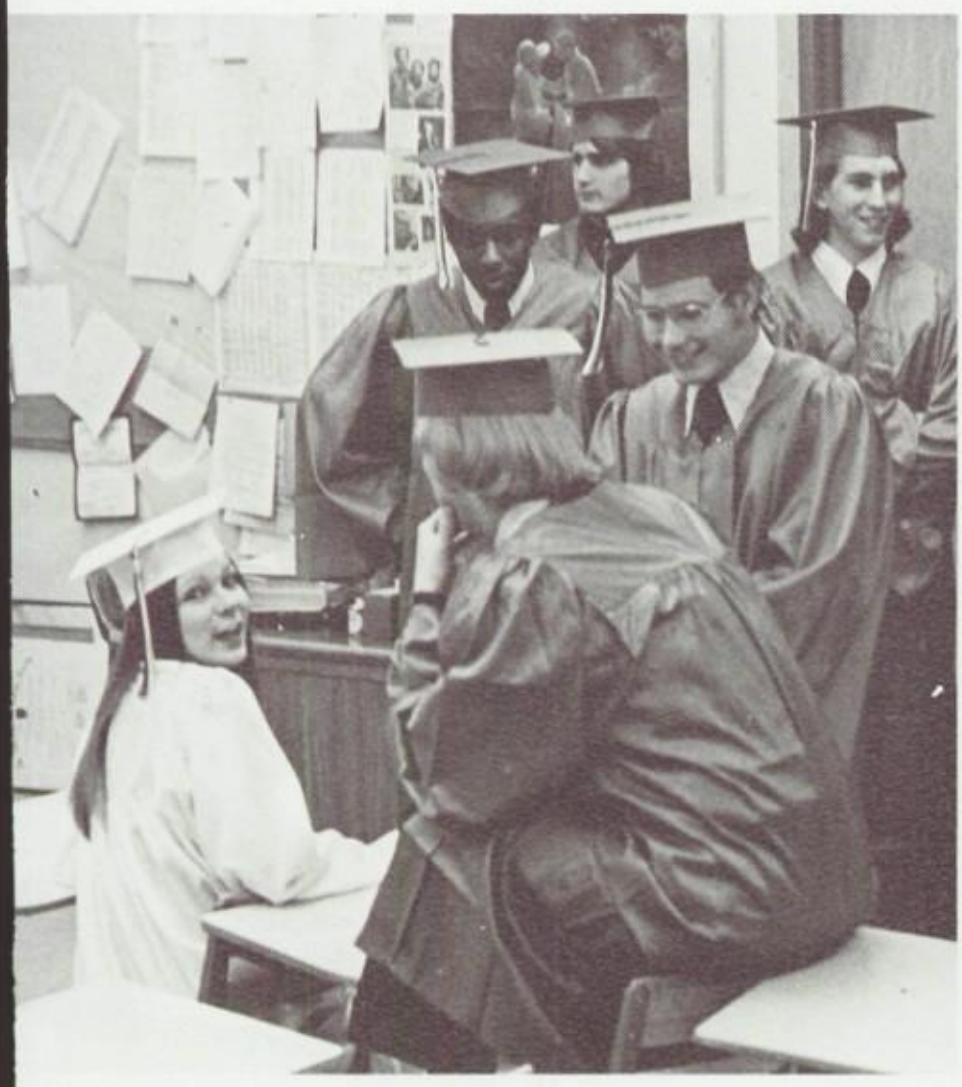
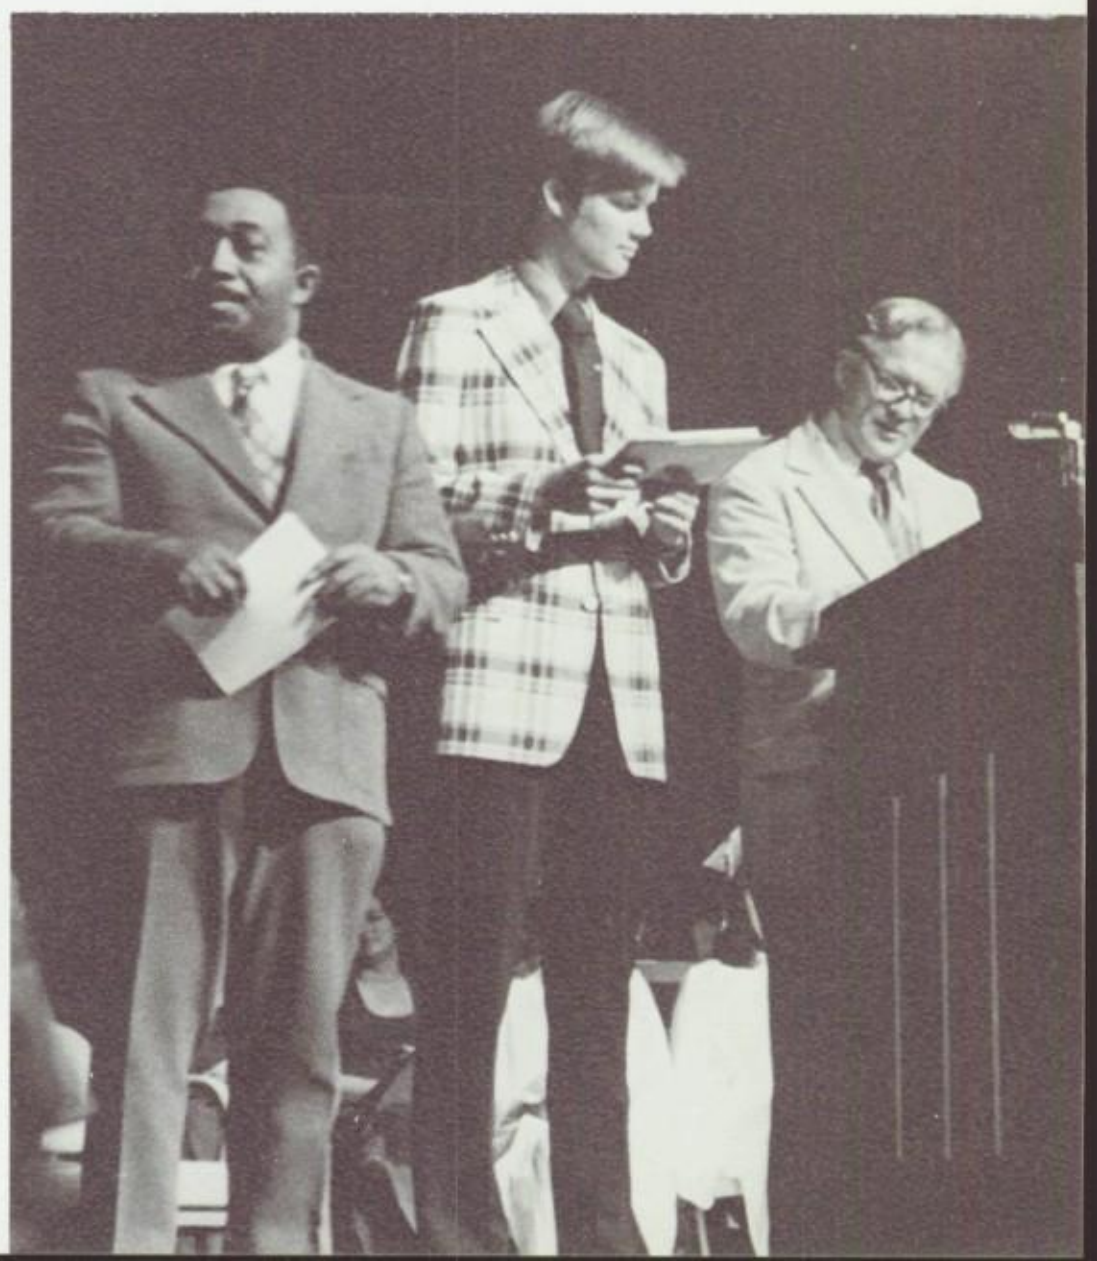
Happiness reigns for graduates

Happiness was one of the emotions present on mid-year graduation night. Proud and happy parents came to see their off-spring end the second stage of their education. The graduates were relieved to find that they had finally made it. Some had a hard time believing that it was really happening. Mark Sundstrom, Mr. Jenkins, Mr. Shook, and Mr. Anderson all took part in the night's proceedings. Commencement coordinators Mr. Jim Shook, Mr. Earl Cotter, and Mr. Allen Bryan helped put the graduation ceremony together.



As Mr. Bryan looks on, the mid-year graduates relax by reminiscing about the past while they wait to take their places in the ceremony.

Mr. Jenkins and Mark Sundstrom hand out diplomas as Mr. Jim Shook reads the graduates' names.



Athletics rated high

Athletics are an important part of many students' high school career. Some participate while others sit on the side lines cheering and showing unmatched spirit. Those contributing to the sports program learn how to respect and to be responsible to himself and his team.

Varsity begin in summer

Through the month of August, the East High Longhorns practiced many long hours with only the intent of being football champions. Though it was hot, every member of the team showed up for football practice each day. Hard running and exercise was a big part of their daily practice. Striving to make their plays work well, the varsity team had to plan their offense with very strategic moves. The defense as well as the offense pushed themselves to exhaustion in their workouts. They had to learn to watch for plays that would score for and against them during their games.

Varsity ends season with best record

Eight wins and two losses . . . the best-ever record for the varsity Longhorns in AAA action. The coaches challenged the players at the beginning of the season to be tough . . . and the team answered with a season's record that is a challenge to all future teams. It looks now as if East High is going to be a power to be reckoned with on the football field from now on.

Longhorns showed the stability in their defense against Camelback, but the Longhorn varsity had some problems when it came to the offensive team. It proved to be exciting game.

Coaches keep big team in line

Coach Endres and Coach Fotinos spent a lot of their time coaching and training the East High Varsity football team. They instilled respect, spirit, and hope into the team. They worked the team hard in long practices, demanding the best from the team, but not the impossible.

Along with Coach Endres and Coach Fotinos were assistant coaches Widmer, Hanna, O'Hair, McDermott and Griffith.

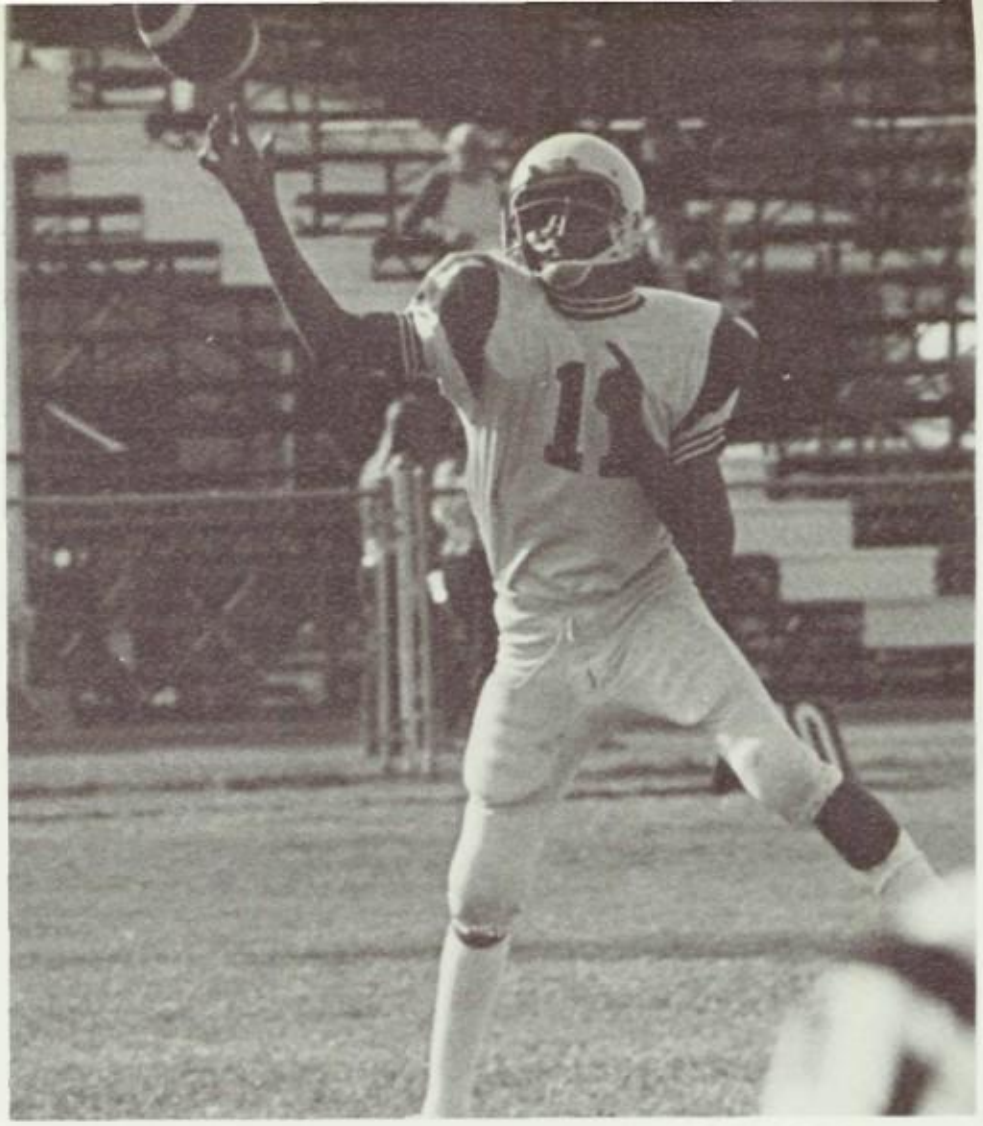
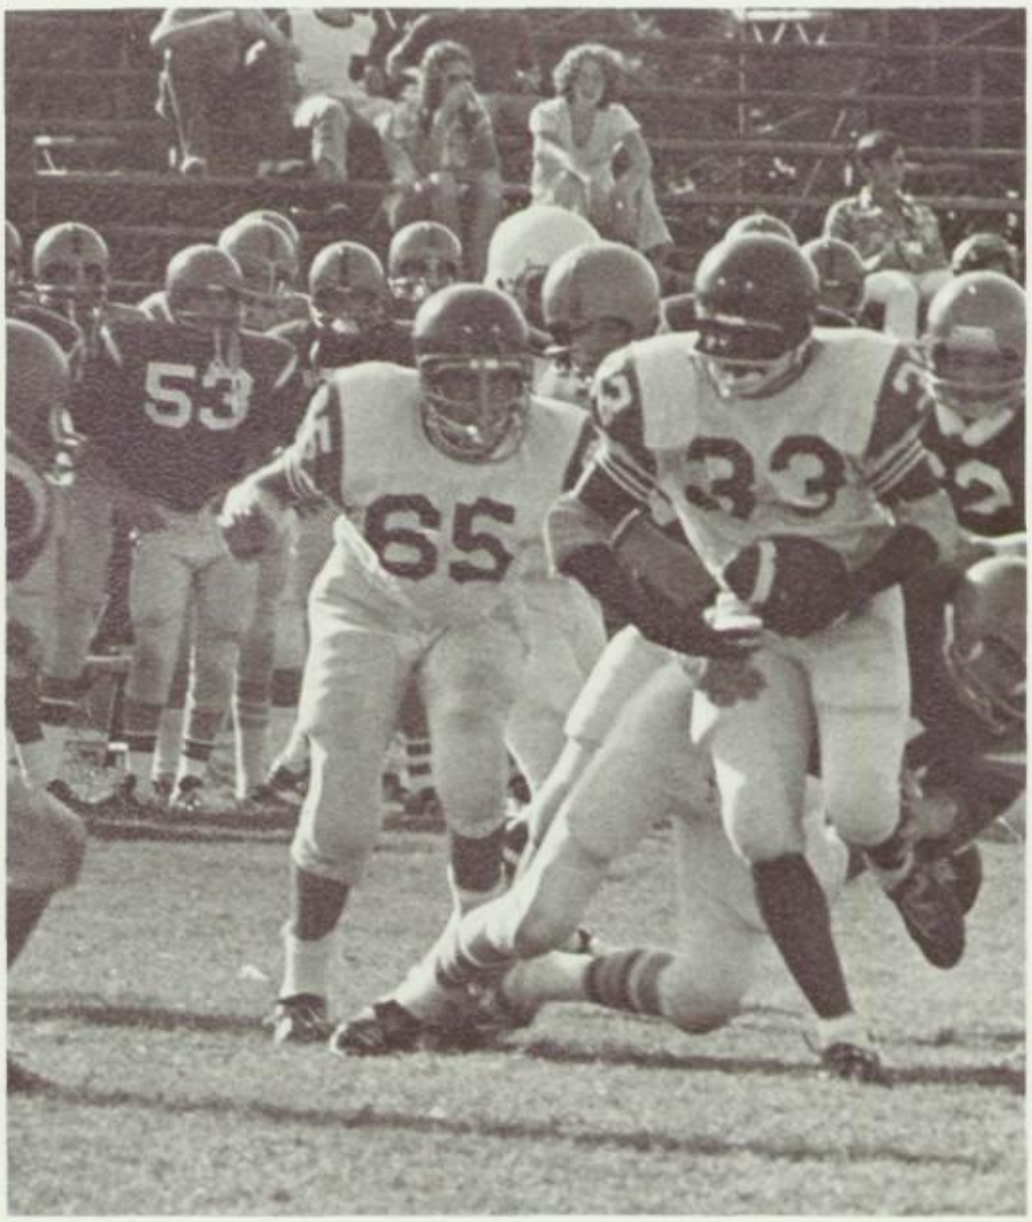
J.V. comes out on top

East High's Junior Varsity football team started off the season with a win and continued to win eight of ten games. It took team work, hard practice, and the Longhorn spirit. They set up plays that baffled opposition and left them bewildered. Even when losing they showed how to come from behind to win. And when they lost, they still had spirit and plenty of fight left. They showed how much tougher they will be in the varsity years. Thanks to Coaches Widmer and Conley and the fine training they gave them, we had a winning season.



Hugo Hernandez (11) finds one of his receivers and shows fine style executing a well thrown pass.

Steve Scott (54) and Marty Peters, (84) combine their talents to pull down their opponent.



Ed Tolbert blocks while Dennis Smith guns for extra yardage which helped the team win eight out of ten games.

Joe Roberts (20) and Rick Hampton (70) show the way defense should be played, as they smother Central's running back.

Representing the freshmen heavyweight charging line of East High are N. Brough (60), K. Boroviak (62), M. Quihuis (50), F. Viduare (87), J. Davis (70), and D. Bullock (81). These players practiced for many long hours to improve the team's overall performance.

Boyd Brown (32) finds an opening and follows good blocking ahead of him to make an East High touchdown against West High T-Birds.

Freshmen teams turn good year

With many hours of practice starting in the summer, Frosh were given a real taste of the East High football program. The freshmen were divided into two teams, the heavyweights and the lightweights. The heavyweights had a victorious season winning seven out of nine games. Although the lightweight team didn't have a winning season, they gave the opposition a tough fight. They won four of ten games and when they lost, the margin wasn't by much. Coaching the frosh teams were William McDermott and John Hanna for the heavyweights, while Ralph Griffith and Tom Preston worked with the lightweights.

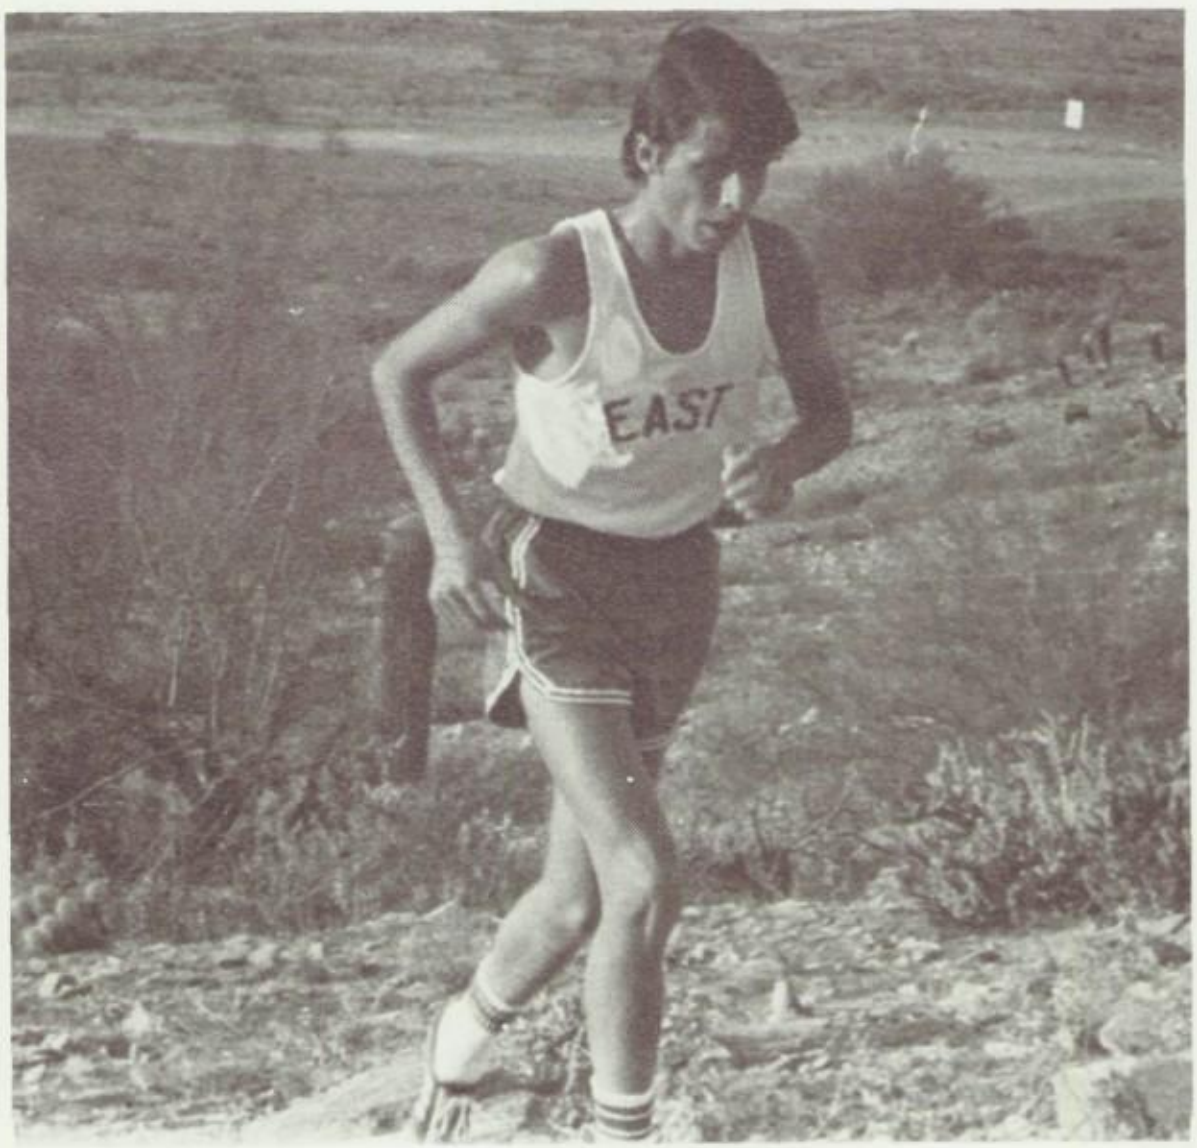
In a cross country invitational, students from all over the Phoenix Union High School district compete for city wide honors. This meet took place on the South Mountain track.

X-country work long and hard

With ambition and spirit the cross country team of East High started the season at the beginning of the school year. The team pushed hard and did a lot of running around the East High track and Papago Park. The cross country program was coached by Ed Hedges and seemed to be very successful in the training of the team. Although they had a disappointing season, they expect to go into next year's season with more experience and hopefully more cross country participants.



Running in a tough competition on the East High track, Matthew Marsh pushes himself to win seconds on the clock for more points.

In a meet against West, Art Pineda and Mike Maruna stride up hill to gain additional points for the cross country team.

Wrestlers bring pride to East

Putting both mind and muscle into play during practice and meets, the East High Varsity and JV Wrestling teams found that it took many hours of dedication to turn out a winning team. Coach Fotinos and Coach Endres spent their time after school to train the eager team. In preparation for the season, the wrestling teams ran, exercised, weight lifted, and wrestled so as to be ready for the tough competition. Each member played to the best of his ability and never gave up. That's the spirit East High School has always been acclaimed for and hopes to retain in the future.

Representing the varsity, Tim Kinnerup finds a hold and begins to manipulate his opponent as he attempts to pin him.

Trying to get away from his opponent is David Jackson, who wrestles for the JV team.

Varsity team proves itself again

Showing off their well practiced maneuvers, the Varsity Basketball team had a superb season. The Longhorns helped with their unceasing enthusiasm during the 28 games the Varsity team played and won. In the state championship game, we beat Rincon by a safe margin of six points. Winning wasn't easy and the team spent long, hard hours of practicing to perfect their already good playing. All the hours paid off as the Varsity team has proven to us. A lot of the credit goes to the coaches, who spent much of their time on the basketball court. One other element was friendship; it made the team play its best.

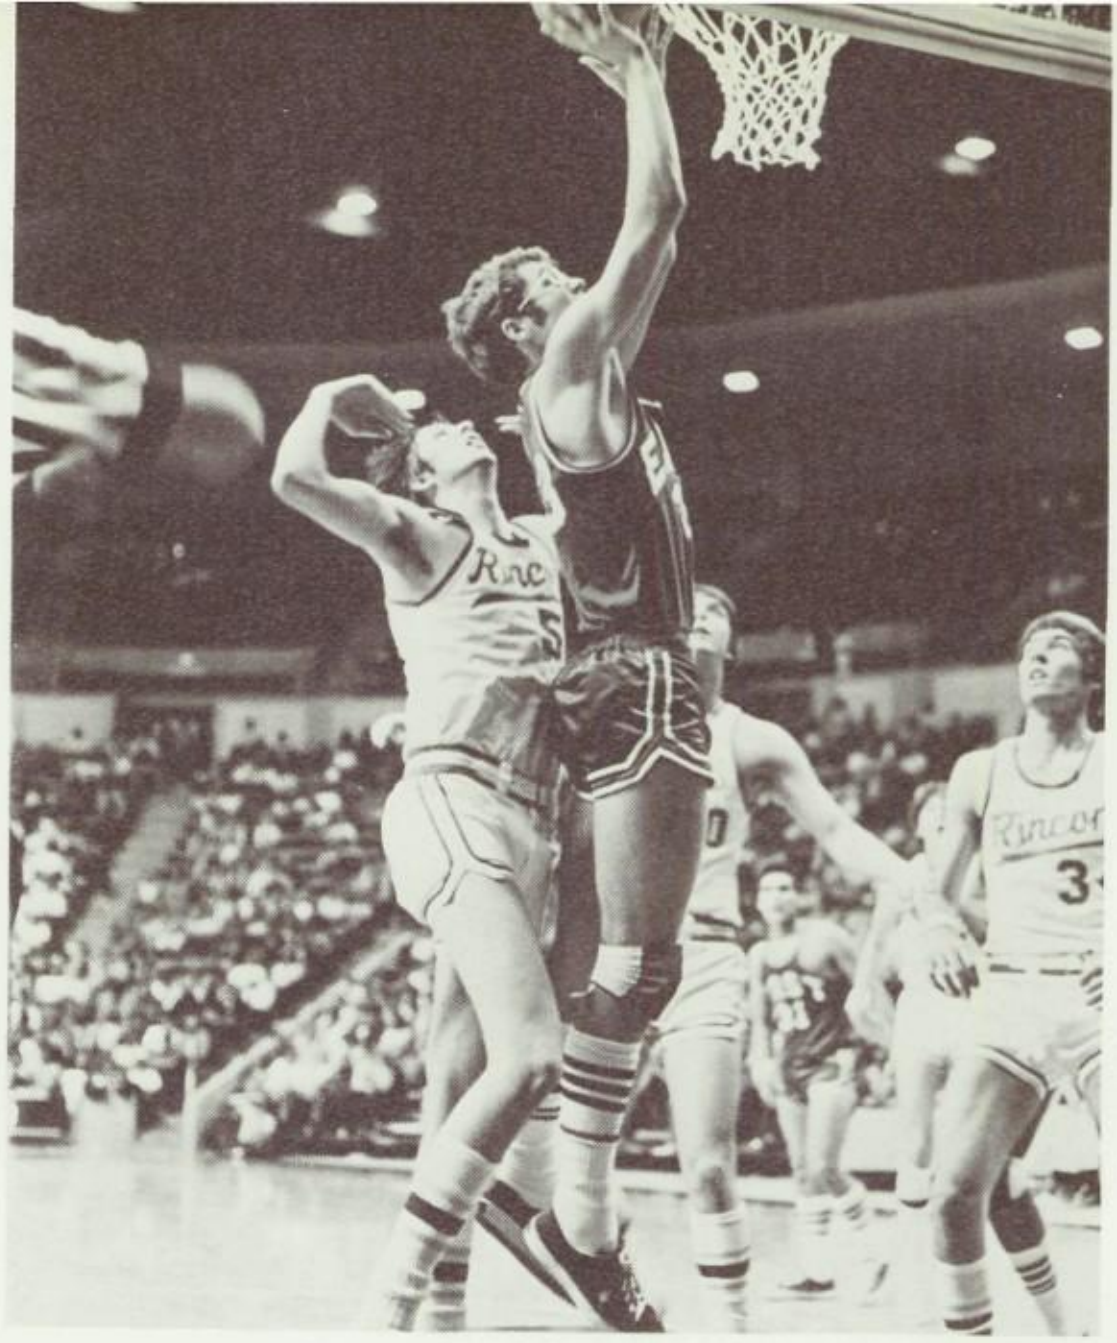
Longhorns remain in divisionals

The Longhorn's basketball season was a time of excitement and enthusiasm, but things became chaotic when 11 AAA Phoenix high school basketball teams were suspended from the state and divisional playoffs. The Arizona Interscholastic Association placed the teams on indefinite probation for involvement in illegal scrimmages between teams before the starting date, December 1. East, along with West, Carl Hayden and Tolleson, remained in the Phoenix divisional playoffs. Though many were mystified by the decision, others were outraged as it seemed inevitable that East would wipe out the remaining teams. The Longhorns were ready to fight on . . . to the top!

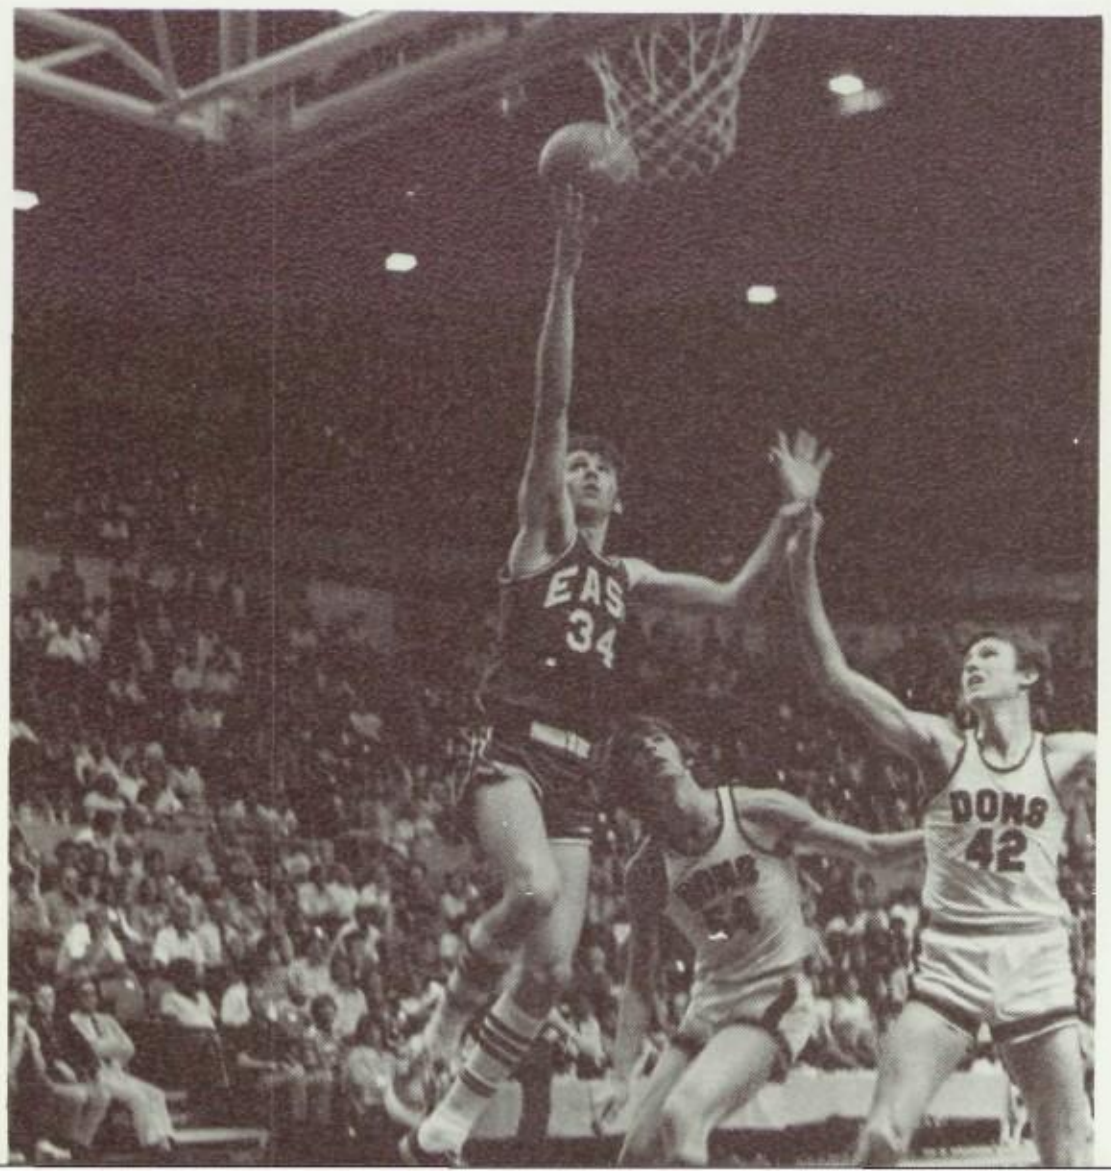
Longhorns take state for 3rd time

Over the years, as you speak of the East High Basketball team you also speak of the State Championship in the same breath. In the last five years, the Longhorns have won the state title three times. The varsity took three opponents for the '75 State Championship. On the first night, East played a tough battle with Buena high and finally came out with a win of 54-53. The next night was Coronado's turn as the Longhorns came up with a final score of 67-62. On the third and final night, East High went into the State Championship game with Rincon from Tucson. The battle was fierce but the Varsity team was faster and more precise in shooting gave East High, a 67-61 win and the State Championship.



Surrounded by the Rangers, Hap Smith goes up for two to finally bring the score to 67-61, a Longhorn victory.

Driving down the court against Coronado, John Hawkins shows his fine ability to score as the ball goes in.



Just at the start of the Buena state playoff, the big team goes into action as Wendell King (42) passes the ball off to Mike Hiralez (31).

After winning the state championship game, Jay Wesley cuts down the net as Longhorn fans hold him up and cheer.

J.V. team has much potential

Look out! Here comes the Junior Varsity Basketball team. This year's J. V. team is full of highly motivated players loaded with ability and skill. Their superiority is obvious with their season record of 17 wins. With the coaching ability of Hector Bejarano, many outstanding players were developed. As many J. V. players will move on to Varsity competition, next year should be another great year for East.

Sports are time, effort and fun

Anytime you participate in a sport you have to be able to spend time and energy on them. Playing girls' badminton, tennis, and volleyball are no exceptions. While they play they can have fun joking and working together, but it is a lot of hard work. The badminton team and some of the volleyball team come in early in the morning to get their daily quota of practicing. The tennis team comes after school because it gets a little crowded in the morning. Going to other schools is challenging and interesting. They get to meet other teams and to see how well the other teams take defeat and victory.

Grace, poise, imagination and a lot of hard work is just a small part of being on the Varsity Pom Pon line. Working all of 7th hour and staying after school to practice takes much dedication. But the joy and fun of performing made it all worth while. They had many new ideas and the line moved to be very creative.
Their audiences got much enjoyment from their dances and spirit-raising skits.

Cheer adds soul

This year the Varsity Cheer line had a slightly different approach to cheering. S-O-U-L! They added cheers and chants with a little bit of soul along with the usual way they had been cheering.
Entertaining at assemblies the cheer line thought up skits that would amuse their audiences and usually introduced a few new cheers. They went to a National Cheerleaders Camp this summer at which they received various awards for spirit and performance. Practicing all summer, the line was more than ready to cheer their teams on to victory.

Besides helping out the J.V. football team at games, Debbie Smith, Janice Woznicki, Kathy Perkins, and Ruth Osterlind enjoy cheering on the crowds and are an added attraction for the spectators.

Providing spirit can get hectic

Both the football and basketball seasons contribute to the worries and the fun of the Junior Varsity Pom. They have to learn new steps and decide to what songs they will dance. Practicing everyday can get hectic, but can also be a lot of fun trying out different turns and steps, new songs, talking to friends on Pom, and just getting something out of it. They provide spirit for both the football and basketball players.

J.V. line lifts spirits

Being on the J.V. cheer line is an exciting new experience. But it's not all just fun and play; a lot of work goes into each cheer and chant they do.

Making sure each movement is just right and staying together and being imaginative enough to make-up new cheers and chants are just a few things that make a good line. They've made a lot of new and lasting friendships and will always remember this year of fun and work. One year of cheer may be enough for many of the girls but some will go on to be on the varsity line.

Students lead way

A part of many student's life at East is student government. Elected members consist of presidents, senators, representatives, and executive officers. Members get involved in the events of the school, both day and night... during the day in class, at lunch and at the senate meetings, then at night watching varsity sports and running home game dances.

Making a giant leap forward for student government is Vice President, Mark Sundstrom.

Student support is needed

Student Government discovered the real importance of student participation and cooperation this year. Student Government depends on the ideas, suggestions, and participation of the students in order to fulfill the needs of the students. With East's rapid growing population, there were many different types of people with different wants. It was difficult to satisfy the needs of the students. East High is constantly changing and with these changes come new and challenging problems. These problems require leadership and concern to solve them.

Government tries to get things done

Though it seems that little is being done at East High, Student Government has been devoting much time and effort to get things accomplished. Much thinking, analyzing, and discussion of a problem is required before solutions can be developed. Besides solving problems, the senators strive to make improvements, promote service projects, and, above all, to make the years at East High more meaningful to each student. The president and representatives work hard to achieve goals for the class that they represent. Each class has many responsibilities that must be fulfilled. These people see that things are done and done well.

It was interesting and exciting to exchange ideas and customs with each other. The publicity committee helped us to know what was going on around East. The Class Competition Committee helped us boost our spirits.

Belongers get involved

The largest time consumers around East High are the clubs and organizations. The carnival and concession stands are just a few projects that finance both of these for trips and banquets. Many clubs go on environmental clean-ups while others sing for the elderly. Organizations such as the music department spent many long and difficult hours in preparing for several of the school concerts.

DECA finds jobs for students

Distributive Education Clubs of America helps students survive in the world of work. DECA holds marketing and merchandising classes for junior and senior students in the morning, and after school students go to their own jobs. Many of the students are happy working on the job. They learn all about ordering, selling and managing employees. Vocational Industrial Clubs of America work on the same principle.

VICA teaches the industry part of business, like assembly line in manufacturing companies. This class is also for juniors and seniors. The students work hard so they will be recognized in the business world.

New club forms at East High

Providing recognition for Black students is the main reason why the Brotherhood club began. Black students wanted to be acknowledged by other students of East High so the club was formed. Cooperative Office Education and Home Economics and Related Occupations are both career-directed clubs. COE involves shorthand, filing, typing, and being the business man's helper.

HERO has to do with work in child care centers, and hospital assistants. Mouimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan is a group of Mexican students working to earn money for high school scholarships which are given to elementary students around East High.

Spanish club earned money

During both lunch hours, Mrs. Paredes, the sponsor of the Spanish Club, held a bake sale in order to raise money for a trip to Mexico.

The German Club, sponsored by Mrs. Guest, contributed to St. Vincent DePaul for their Christmas project. Students learned about activities related to German culture from a guest speaker who attended one of their meetings.

The French Club this year was a little inactive in comparison to the past.

Spanish Club members and sponsor Mrs. Paredes were kept very busy selling Mexican Food to hungry carnival-goers.

At one of the many German Club meetings, Mrs. Guest points out how the club is doing overall during the first half of the year.

Clubs work together

Quill and Scroll is an organization of people who belong to the Honorary Society for high school journalists. These people are selected from both publications. Masque and Gavel is the group of students who participate in plays and learn the exciting art of drama and speech. National Honor Society is made up of students who excel in academics and are interested in getting involved at East. The Auditorium Club spent many evenings ushering at band concerts, plays and other special events that are held in the auditorium during the year.

Clubs were kept busy this year

Human Relations had its third annual picnic this year. It was a success with hot dogs, chips, and cokes, everybody listening to the band which performed, people dancing or just talking with friends. The Outdoorsmen's Club also planned to take a skiing trip over the semester break.
Bio-Investigators were busy as usual this year. They had entries in both the State and the Science fair, and received many awards. East should be proud of this club since in the last six years they have always taken first place in these competitions.

Working on the Rawhide, Helen Poziombko finds herself busy at folding newspapers which will be mailed home to the students.

Students are kept informed

Members of the Rawhide staff are very proud of their newspaper that is issued on the second Friday of every month. Doing paste-ups, finding and writing interesting articles, and interviewing students and teachers keeps every member of the staff very busy.
Every student has his or her job to do and Editor Karen Sontag makes sure that as the deadline date gets nearer each has it done.

Connie Burkett and other Rawhide staff members devoted their lunch hour to selling the latest issue of the Rawhide Gazette. Tom Seitz, after buying the paper, looked at the comic strip.

Staff fights deadline

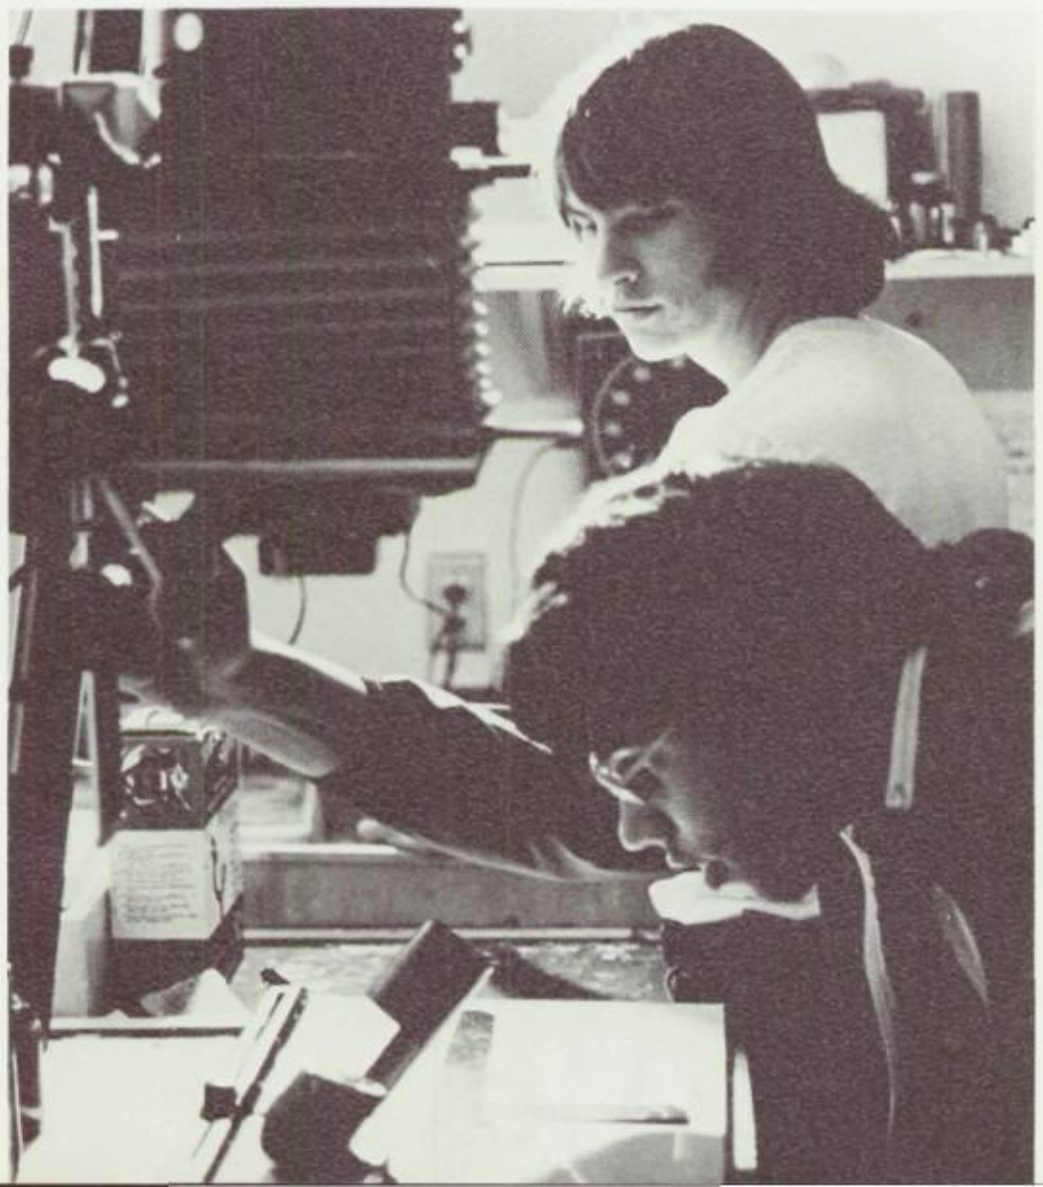
Most of the students at East don't realize all the work that goes into producing a yearbook that will be remembered by all.

The staff is constantly working on layouts, writing copy and spending many long hours finding information concerning clubs and organizations.

As the deadline date closes in the staff must check to make sure everything is in order.

The editor and advisor make many important decisions that could affect the outcome of the book.

Photographers for the yearbook, Tony Arme and Pat Quaranta, do a difficult job in taking and developing pictures.

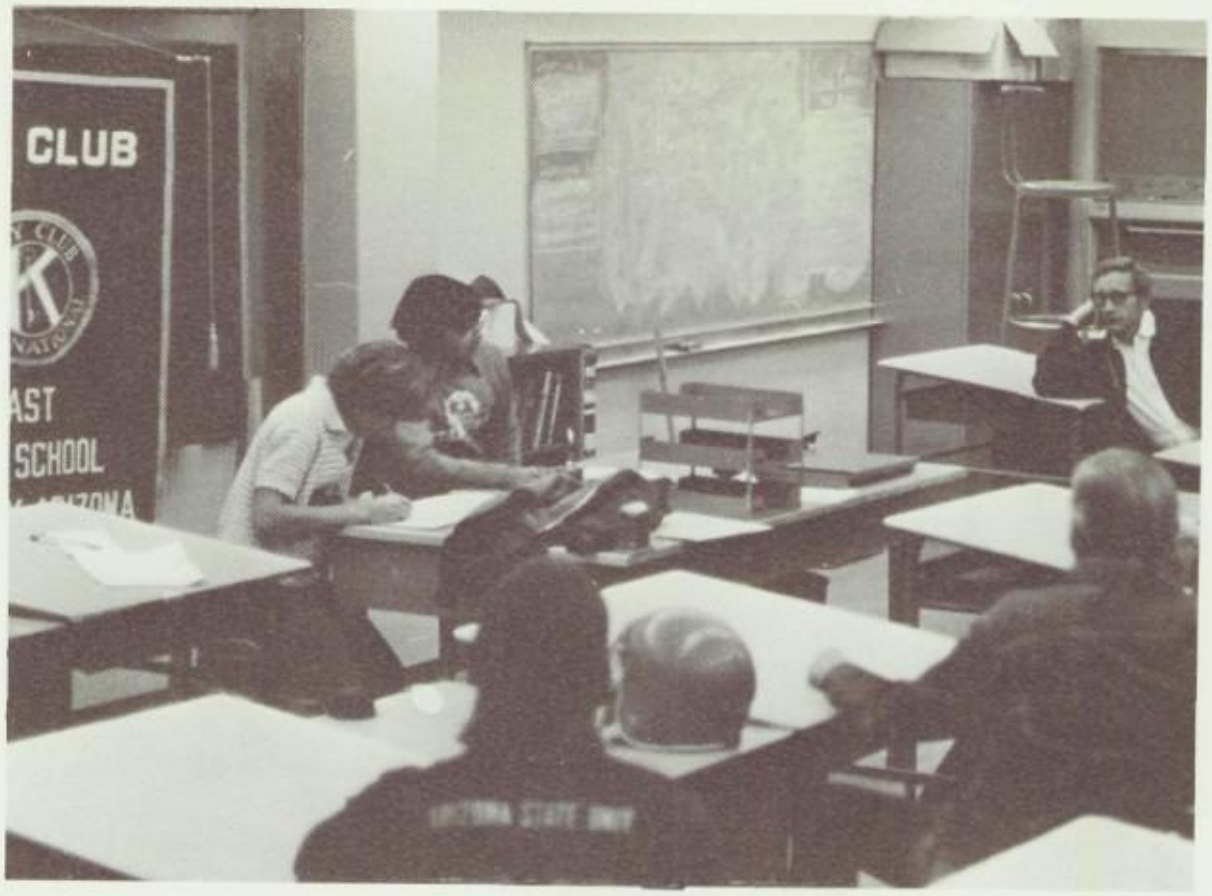


Working very steadily, Alberta Warner does a fine job in meeting deadlines.

Clubs work for school

Key Club is an organization of guys who want to participate in cleaning up areas in our valley and state. They will represent East in the Key Club international convention in New Orleans. Selling daffy apples at the carnival, candy canes at Christmas time, and candy grams on Valentines Day was all part of Girls' League. The Christmas Prom is their main event. Girls League, along with help from Key Club, did its best to make the prom a success.

At home football games, the Marching Band could be found tromping down the field. At the away games the dependable Pep Band played for all the touchdowns and victories.



On a Monday night, the East High Key Club holds its weekly meeting. In these meetings members discussed projects and money making campaigns. Nikki Roy tells about the week's activities and Steve Green takes attendance, while Mr. Zinky pays close attention.

This year the Jazz Lab went to the Jazz Festival in Flagstaff. The Jazz Lab also participated in many other activities. This band consists of people who are interested in Jazz and the making of a good band. Orchestra is involved with concerts along with other musical activities. Concert band involves students who are mostly freshmen and sophomores working their way up to Symphonic band. These bands have very hard-working students and many promising musicians. All of these bands are under the direction of Mr. Dan L. Strawbridge.

The music of the Madrigals was most often poignant and hauntingly beautiful as reflected in their faces in a Christmas number.

Choir is very active during '75

Among groups that participated in the music assembly were two of our performing vocal groups. Concert Choir sang Christmas songs for the assembly and Madrigals also performed.
Along with Advanced Girls' Chorus, Mr. Bolt directs and advises the members of these three groups. They have to be willing to work during their class time as well as devote some of their own time. This time is spent hard at work at preparing music for concerts, festivals, and other activities. These groups are active in off campus affairs as well as the programs they prepare for regular performances. In order to be able to participate in their extra-curricular activities, they sell candy to raise their own funds.

Learning new sports

Sports-minded girls got together every Monday afternoon to play games such as volleyball, handball, basketball and soccer. Every Wednesday afternoon the East High Bowling club could be found at Wagon Wheel Lanes learning and trying new techniques. Under the supervision of Mrs. Amy Guest, the bowling team learned that bowling can be almost as easy as it looks. The game of chess demands a great deal of thought and skill. The members of the East High Chess club have shown they have achieved this through their many accomplishments and victories.

They meet to compete and challenge each others techniques in mastering this game.

Carwashes help clubs travel

As the years go by, the letter clubs participate in many sports activities to earn a varsity letter. They participate in carwashes to earn money for trips. This year the Lettermen's Club tried to earn enough money for a trip to Catalina and Disneyland, while the Girls' Letter Club planned for the Rodeo dance. The Wrestlerettes earn money for the wrestling team. They work hard with the scoring while cheering the team on to victory. This year has been a good year for the clubs as they learned to work together.

Life's dream is success

Many students set certain goals for themselves in their high school years. Some of these goals are to be well liked and thought highly of. Success has many different roads. Popularity and getting involved are just a few, while others seek good grades and a high academic rating.

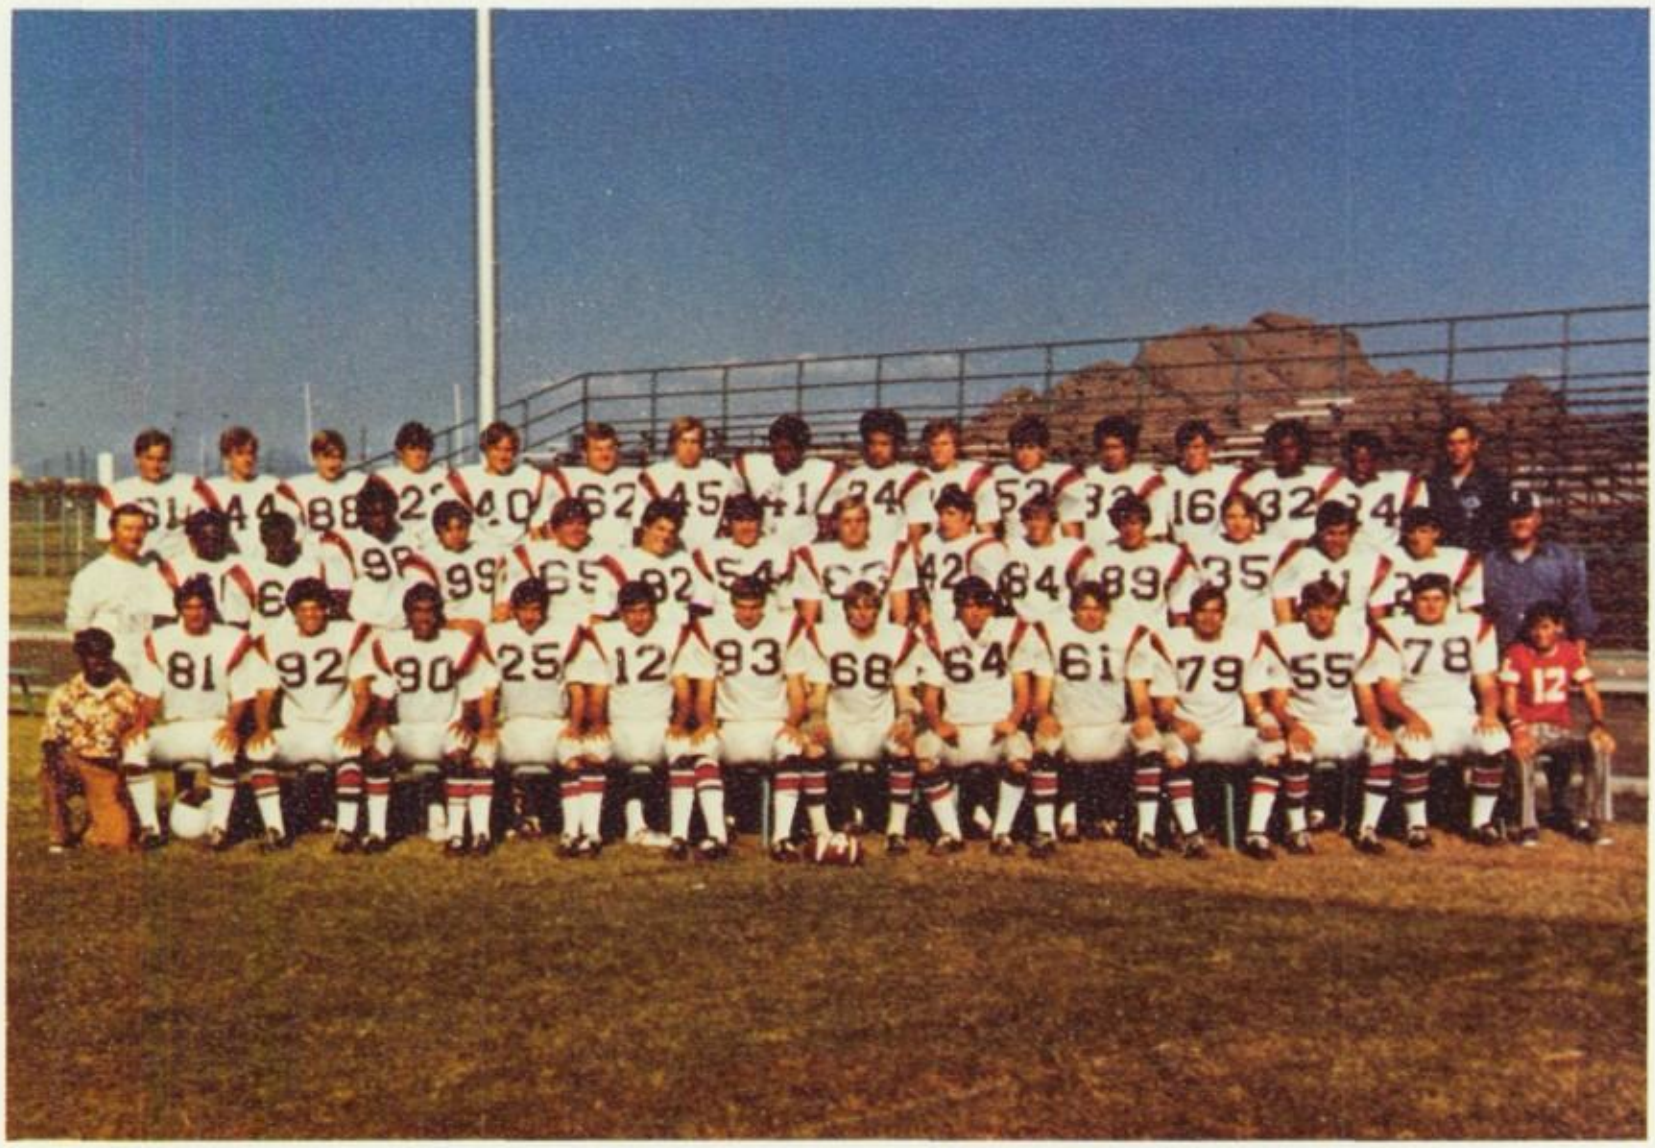
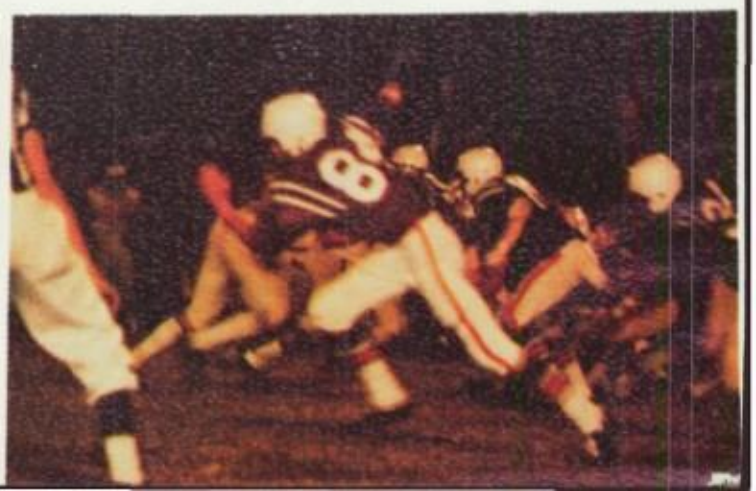
E H S

SPIRIT IS PRIDE AND PRIDE IS SPIRIT . . . these are the words that expressed the idealism of East High School when its doors opened in 1965. They are not heard so much today 10 years later. But the thought behind the words still exists and that is what this special section of your 1975 LEGEND is all about — no headlines, no names, but pictures of groups that represent the ideal that "Spirit is Pride-Pride is Spirit."



We know that music is an important element of the expression of spirit - and there is no more appropriate symbol of the Longhorn spirit than the East High School Marching Band . . . they play, they cheer, they spearhead the spectator spirit at every game.
The football program at East has moved slowly from the era of Independent champions to Class AAA powerhouse. Pride in their achievement is evidenced by the new enthusiasm of the fans.



When you think of spirit, you think of cheerleaders. They are the backbone of the spirit of any successful program. Through the years, the "Cheer Squad" has worn the Scarlet and Purple proudly, making Arizona respect and honor the Longhorns of East High. But they can only lead the way. The student body must follow and develop the lead, urging the teams on to victory, supporting minor sports as well as major ones, and showing their spirit in such ways as joining the chorus, singing at games and special events, and generally just being proud to be a Longhorn. Pride in America is also a tradition at East, and we show it at games as well as in our everyday lives at school. We take pride in displaying our flag and in honoring it.

Some sports do not receive as much attention as others, and they gain the label of "minor" sports. But there can be no minor sports in a program that emphasizes the strength of body and quickness of mind. Those who get involved in such less-glamorous sports learn quickly the meaning of pride and spirit . . . they need both in large quantities as a substitute for the glory and recognition that go with the better-publicized team sports. Each year, though, they seem to grow in popularity as bigger crowds, cheering noisily, rally to their support.

Spirit? Pride? Are they synonyms for Pom Line?
They well could be, for the Pom girls certainly inspire Longhorns to work harder, fight harder, and prove themselves tops
in every field.
As we close this special section,
let us remember that
Pride and Spirit are involved in much more than just the extra-curricular activities illustrated here. Academics is and always will be the main purpose of school and these other activities merely develop the pride and spirit that we must have in order to be successful in whatever we endeavor in life.

"The Purple Gang" . . . otherwise known as the basketball team has become one of the leading symbols of the spirit of East High. Winning championship after championship over the years, they have established themselves as the "team to beat" in Arizona and as one of the leading cage powers in the Southwest. Character and leadership are keystones to the development of pride . . . and this program has stressed these qualities from the beginning . . . encouraging today's boys to become future leaders.

Over the years, the girls have never really been neglected in East High's extra-curricular programs. But recently a new emphasis has been placed on the development of girls' sports at the same level as the boys'. This is good . . . for girls are enthusiastically embracing such team sports as badminton and volleyball and individual ones like tennis and golf. And the pride that was always there before has deepened as they now look forward to the challenge of competition from other schools and the thrill of trophies and championships.

People are longhorns

At least this is the case at East High, where the mascot is the Longhorn. Both faculty and students take pride in this name. As freshmen slowly become seniors, more and more fellow students become familiar to them as do a lot of teachers.

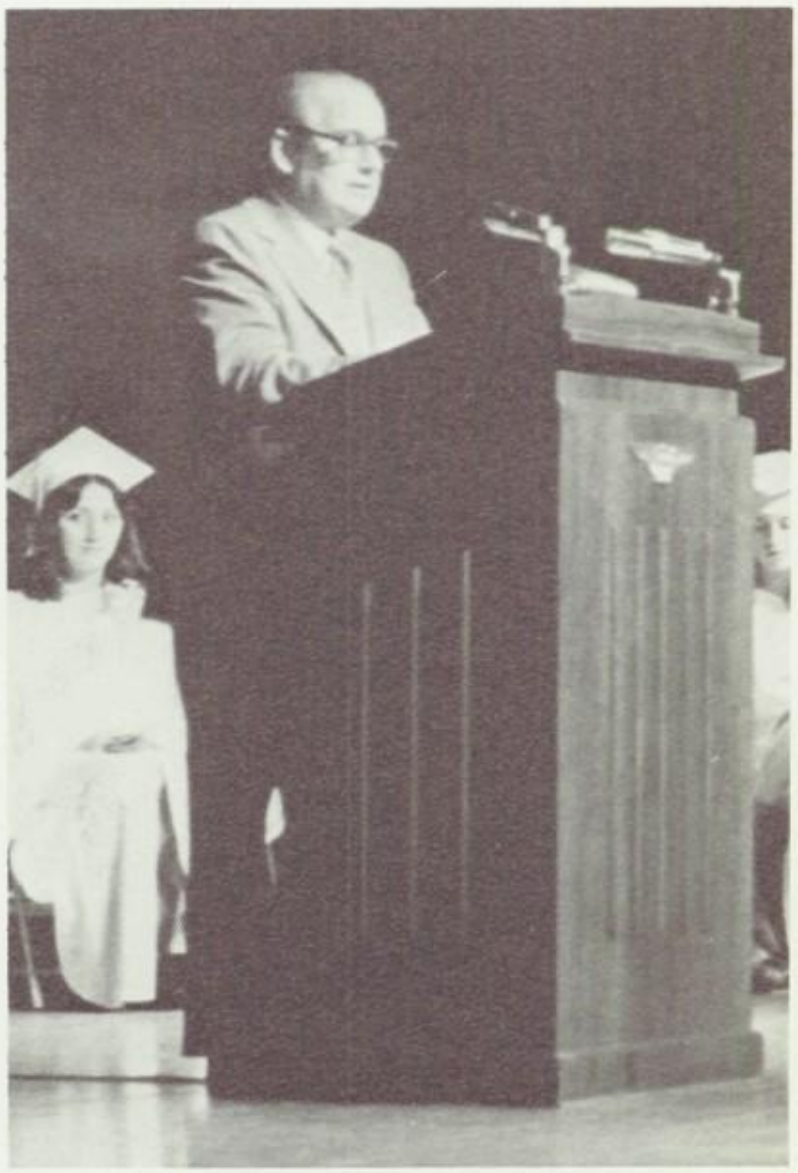
East High acquires a new face

Many changes were made in the school year of 1973-74, one of which was a new principal. Mr. Anderson filled the position of top administrator, commonly known as the principal. Mr. Anderson came to East not to change it or its curriculum but to work with and guide East and its students. He has made it his trademark to know everything that goes on at East and to be enthusiastic about all of its activities.
Mr. Anderson also enjoys helping young adults grow and mature.

Mrs. Arthur discusses some of the procedures, which are new to Mr. Anderson. He has brought some innovations to East High.

Before going to a board meeting, Mr. Anderson records a few ideas to help refresh his memory.



During mid-year graduation Mr. Anderson gives a speech, while graduates look on.

Replacing Mrs. Billing this year is Mrs. Pete. When coming into a new job you always have problems, but Mrs. Pete has some ideas for those problems. Mr. Leroy is the athletic director and he also takes care of disciplining students. Mr. Blackman carries the title of Associate Principal and with that title comes the job of planning the curriculum, registration, and the physical plant. The curriculum and the registration must be always on his desk because that's where you'll find him hard at work.

Clerical staff keeps office functioning

Working twelve months out of the year are the ladies in the Registration Office. Keeping track of permanent records and working on the PBX machines are parts of the job in the 100 block. Ordering books and supplies to meet the students' demand is the job of the Bookstore. The Activities office takes care of answering the phone, answering students' questions and filing everyday, along with keeping track of all school activities.

Concentrating on her job, Mrs. Arthur, the principal's secretary, spends some of her was recorded onto the tape she is listening to.

Counselors volunteer services

Along with the daily duty of counseling students, some of the counselors also work after school in Mexican communities teaching English. A few are taking courses at ASU in family and individual counseling. Some even have group sessions. New counselors at East this year are Miss Espinoza, Mr. Haddad, Mrs. Wyatt, and Mr. Lara. In the Reading Department, Mrs. Hooks has formulated plans for next year, a program that will help all freshmen to obtain a minimum reading proficiency. Since the school board passed the requirement last year that all PUHSS graduates must demonstrate an ability to read at the ninth grade level, EHS students have shown an amazing improvement in their reading skills.

Mrs. Franklin and Mrs. Alexander discuss the differences in their respective jobs.

Interested attitude in English

This year the English Department has added a speed reading course which is comparable to other courses offered in the Phoenix Union High School System. The experienced and dedicated teachers that make up the English Department are one reason why the students have such an interested attitude. According to Mr. Coppinger, the department chairman, new courses in English and American Literature cover the entire span of English Literature from 800 AD to the 20th century. American Literature goes from early journals, annuals, letters and diaries to contemporary 20th century literature.

Crowded, but not discouraged

Art classes are crowded, but the teachers aren't discouraged. The Art department has tried to obtain another class for those students who choose to be more creative in their work, but the administration is short on funds for the new class. In the Home Ec Dept., the teachers decided on getting more boys into their classes such as Bachelor Survival, Fashion Merchandising, and an Interdisciplinary course associated with the Business Dept. Industrial Art is a subject known to all of the male student body, but Mr. Wozniak said, "I would like to have more girls in my classes. Why not make the building beautiful?"

Business students make good

In the clerical block, Mr. Mason, the department chairman, said, "96% of the 1973 graduating class who took clerical courses are now happily employed in secretarial jobs." Besides learning to speak foreign tongues, the Language department also teaches all about traditions, foods, geography, history and the people in general in the respective countries. The Music department works 5 days a week to help students learn the meaning of music.

Meeting the needs of all types of students is a requirement the Math Department tries to accomplish. In the science classes most students seem to have an interested attitude. A new addition to the Science Department began on January 1 with the addition of a greenhouse. Many students this year have found P. E. to be a very rewarding class. Coach Hedges, the department chairman for Health Education, has covered subjects like Basic Emotions, Diseases, Safety and First Aid. The health class is a great advantage to all students. The Learning Disability Service has helped students with learning problems to live and work with their problems till they are overcome.

Librarians keep library up to date

In the library, this year a collection of new paperbacks were brought in. To get these books, the librarians had to go through hours of selection, ordering, and purchasing. Most of the students at East don't realize the monotonous jobs that the cafeteria workers do, such as cleaning tables and sweeping floors. The security guards and maintenance men are careful in their work along with being friendly with the students. Mr. Merrill, Mrs. Krell, Miss Benson and Mrs. Baum, the special service people, do their best to fulfill our needs. Mrs. Baum remarked, "School nursing has been the most interesting, rewarding phase of my nursing career."

Auto shop is Seniors work time

Advanced automotive machines was a single frequency class open to seniors with previous auto shop experience. Mr. Rosenbluth instructs the class and lets everyone work at his own rate. The objective of the course throughout the year was to do four different labs. The labs included rebuilding an engine, transmission, automatic transmission and a differential. Besides the practical work of rebuilding, each lab must be written up step by step. Students are also allowed to bring in their own personal cars to work on and to learn tune-up procedures.
This knowledge of mechanics can be carried into later life.

Seniors work up to calculus

Four years of math is the life style for many of the East High student body starting in Algebra 1 and finishing finally in a senior calculus class. Students learn many things from the advanced math class such as several methods of analysis and the uses of symbols, not to speak of method of calculation. Calculus is the highest form of math taught at East and is certainly for those college bound students.

Longhorns give blood to Bank

One of Student Government's functions this year was having a Blood Drive, promoted by the Projects Committee. It was a simple procedure which took only 2-4 minutes. But you had to be 17 or older to donate so that left a lot of students out. It didn't matter since there was a good turnout from both faculty and students. To be a donor you had to fill out a questionnaire, signed by your parents and then brought back. You then were assigned a certain time to come in. When it was your turn, your blood pressure and temperature was taken. Well, no matter how it sounds, the Drive in itself was very successful, since in the short time it was here, it received 23 pints.

Government must be taken by all Seniors

One of the seniors' requirements for graduating is American Government. Seniors have had required classes for all four years, but this year the Seniors only had two required subjects. But they still had to battle the classes day after day, and hour after hour.

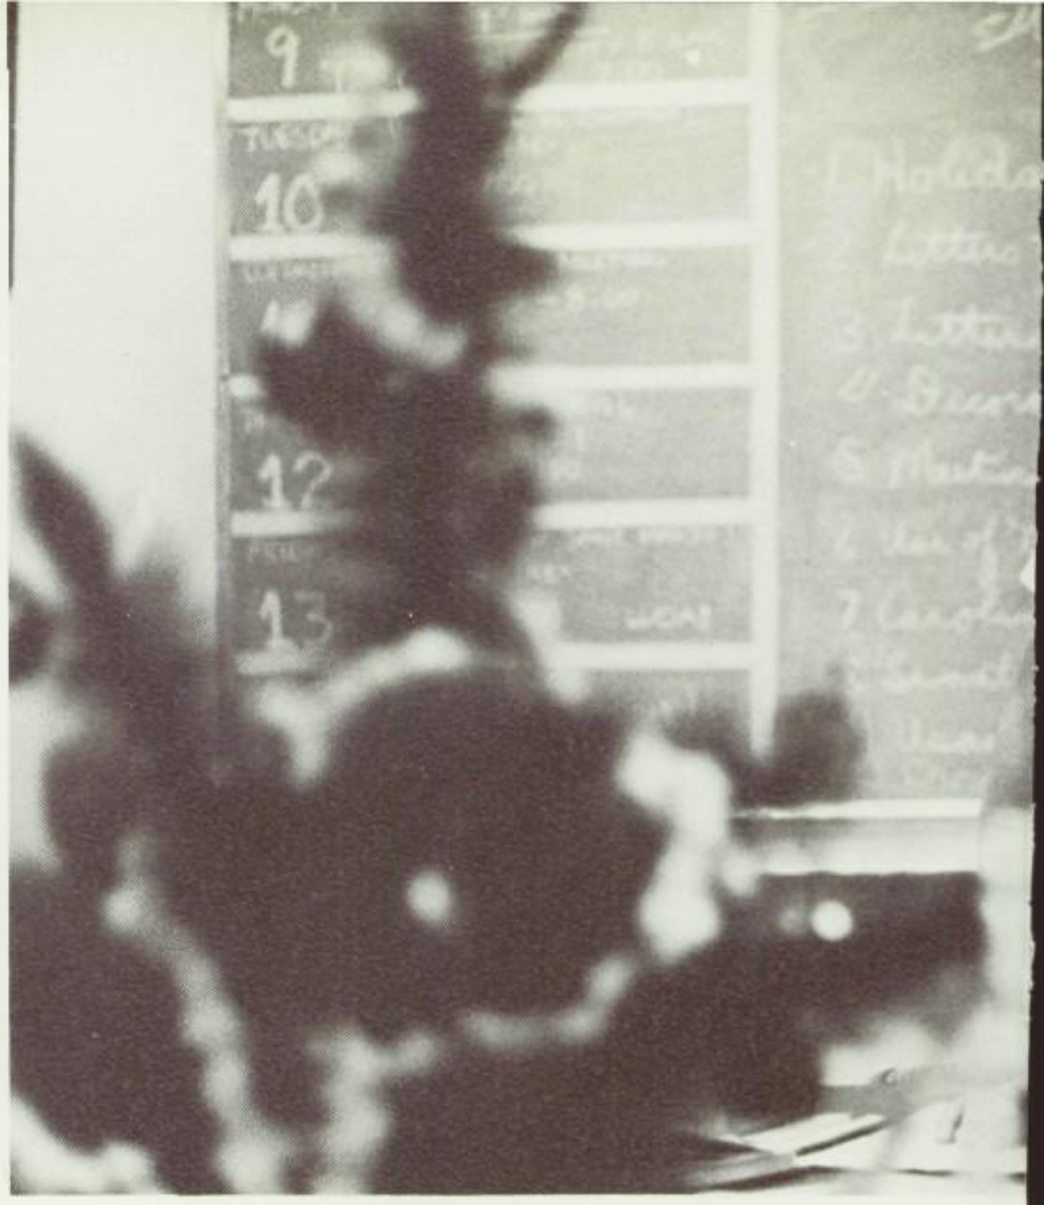
"Christmas is for Sharing" was theme

Students and teachers participated in the activities the week before Christmas recesses. While class competition threw snowballs and painted windows in the quad, other Longhorns brought toys, clothes and canned goods for needy East High families. The generous contributions made three families have a Christmas they would otherwise be without. The Christmas concert was another event that made the Season a little more cheerful. Playing was the jazz ensemble and stage band along with the choir, the Madrigals, and the advanced concert choir. The concert was enjoyed by all students at an assembly and then by parents during the evening program.



Planning in Room 109, Ed York, Student Body President, works on Holiday Season which was called "Christmas is for Sharing".

Juniors in competition

Points were counted as classes won the class competition games. Some of the races and games played were the egg toss, skate board, drawing "Louie the Longhorn" and potato sack races. Juniors showed spirit and tried their best in competing against the other classes. Class competition was held during lunch hours and other student socials. Class Competition week helped students get involved in challenging the other classes.

Junior float wins

Juniors worked diligently for weeks on end refurnishing a broken down flatbed into becoming the winning float for the 10th annual East High Homecoming. Some of the winning aspects of the Junior float were a bright multi-colored skirt, Longhorn heads made with papier-mache and the overall design by Frank Ybarra. To put the icing on the cake, the Juniors added electricity and used lights on the candles. The entire procedure of the float party from making flowers to putting on the finishing touches were all done in the back yard of the Coles.

Carnival is rewarding

The carnival is one of the most important events of the year because it provides an opportunity for all clubs to earn money. Hot buttery corn on the cob was sold by the juniors as a fund raising project at this year's carnival. Another booth sponsored by the juniors was the bumper car booth which the younger kids especially enjoyed.

Frustrated at being imprisoned, Bob Barker demands release from the carnival jail, as Ed Tolbert ponders the dilemma.

Carnival is big success

The annual East High Carnival was held in October. The usual carnival activities went on. Games, prizes, food, jail, photography, popcorn and balloon sales were some of the activities. Those who missed it missed a few hours of good clean fun. The clubs and organizations that ran the booths earned extra money for their treasuries and the Wranglers Club improved their financial situation.

Juniors enjoy Picnic

The third annual Human Relations picnic in November brought East High students together for an exciting and fun-filled afternoon. Contributing their part to the success of the picnic, many juniors attended and participated in the great variety of activities. Though very high-spirited and active, the juniors were unsuccessful in the egg-toss and other class competition events.

With bright, smiling faces three juniors and one senior ambitiously help sell food at the annual Human Relations Picnic.

Juniors look ahead

Those many carefree and easy going times have passed for juniors as they must begin planning for the future. Jobs, tougher courses and more responsibilities become added pressures for those in the class of '76. Even with these pressures, juniors will look back on this year as the best one at East High, for soon they must enter a world which demands more responsible and mature persons.

Marsh led Sophomores

Sophomores made a wise choice with the decision of Mary Marsh as their class president. She had very capable and eager representatives and senators by her side to help her with the problems, as well as the fun in planning activities. Their willingness to make the year a real success shows in their attitude and the work they did.

Sophomores work hard

Even though the Sophomores' float didn't turn out as well as expected, they spent many long nights putting forth a lot of effort to make the best of it. The float was built at the Boyce's house and on that last day you could find many Sophomores up and working at four and five in the morning. Many slept through their classes that day, but the experience was fun and a memorable one.

To many students, assemblies just mean shortened classes. But assemblies play an important role in the school year. They're informative and most of them are a lot of fun. They're a nice change from the everyday school schedule.

Involvement can be fun

Being involved is being a part of your school, whether it means being in Student Government, a club, on the pom or cheer lines or just participating in class competition during lunch. Going to assemblies, the Human Relations picnic, plays, concerts, or sporting events is still showing you are a proud member of your school.

On November 27th, the Human Relations Picnic was again held for the faculty and student body. Sophomores, like the other classes, enjoyed a 35¢ box lunch and a warm afternoon. There were many different events to keep participants busy, such as volleyball, softball and class competition. Or you could just relax and listen to the band.

Homes are papered

One of the favorite pastimes for many Longhorns was redecorating their friends' yards free of charge. The rising price of toilet paper had no effect on them as long as the gas stations were open. Many students as well as teachers woke up and found that it had snowed toilet paper once again.

Longhorns wear hats

Sophomores along with other classes and teachers wore hats on the Wednesday before school let out for Christmas. Hats of all shapes and sizes were worn, everything from sombreros to motorcycle helmets. On hat day, teachers were asked to set examples and many did creating a little more fun in their classes.

Frosh are manhandled

Welcoming the new freshmen to East with: "Hey, look, another punk!" and whenever they drop a book "FRESHMEN", upperclassmen make life miserable for ninth graders. You know they're having a hard time of it when their faces turn bright red and they put their heads in their lockers. When you see someone running down the hall, you shake your head and say to yourself, "Another one," even if it's not a freshman.

Freshmen achievement

Starting out their first year at East, the freshmen students chose Tina Kinnerup as their president. Working along with her in the affairs of their class are the Senators: Denise Trujillo, Lori Jones, Jane Kass, Steve Trotter, and Kathy Coen and the Representatives: Sharon Olivas, David Tacke, Sally Larsen, and Greg Graves. The freshmen in Student Government work to unite all the classes and to enjoy activities and social events. By the end of the year the frosh should be able to look back on their first year here and say they enjoyed it.

Using the Rogers' backyard for constructing their float, the frosh followed the guidelines of the theme, "Through the Looking Glass". They didn't win first place in float competition, but the night before Homecoming, some of the freshmen stayed up all night to finish it. Even though they did more fooling around than working, at least they got the work done. They placed third Homecoming night.

Frosh get involved

Involvement is important in a high school. Freshmen find class competition a new way of getting involved. Following the set pattern, they can join clubs and teams. But if they want some activity that will show spirit and not take up a lot of time, class competition is a good way. They can have fun eating bananas, using a skate board or potato sack and buying football players, if they have enough courage. It's also a good way for the freshmen to get even with the other classes that look down on them. Class competition was set up to see which class has the most spirit. Every class can prove they're the best, if they want to.

Competition with spirit

During class competition week the superior seniors, the jerky juniors, the snobby sophomores and the fearful freshmen got together to compete against each other. Being a freshmen includes blushing when you volunteer to make a fool of yourself. They can always excuse themselves by saying they have spirit. Even if the freshmen didn't get the most points, they did give the rest of the student body some rough competition.

School is invaded

There is a strange occurrence each year on the EHS campus. When school starts, there is an invasion of funny little creatures, usually numbering about 800. These creatures are sometimes cute and cuddly, sometimes long and lanky, and sometimes short and chunky. But they are definitely a strange breed of homo sapiens. They do funny things like falling over their own feet, losing books, losing themselves, and pestering superior beings with questions like "Hey, mister, where's the toilet?" For lack of a better name, we call the creatures, FRESHMEN.

Presiding over the Senate meeting, freshmen President Tina Kinnerup discusses current events with the senators and representatives.

Learning their job

Representing the freshmen class is the major job of the freshmen student government. When the frosh president, senators and representatives are elected they know almost nothing about student government. Teaching them falls to the student body president and the class presidents. One of the things that they learn is how to head their frosh class meetings and how to count the correct change for some Dunkin' Donuts.

Freshmen join teams

Starting their high school years in sports, enthusiastic freshmen boys can join either the heavyweight or lightweight football teams. There are also baseball, basketball, wrestling, and other sports to try out for. You must want to play and put a lot of work into them. You have to be able to get along with the rest of the team in order to make your team the best.

Money helps book budget

Any type of publication finds that money by way of advertising is necessary. For the Legend '75, the ad money helped to put extra color in the book along with additional special effects. To those who contributed to the following section is our greatest thanks for making our book a little better.

Without a breeze...leaves would have no life
Without a sun...flowers would never grow
Without the trees...birds would have no home

Nature has been good to us. She has blessed America with the natural resources so necessary to make a country great.

Over the years, we have converted these natural resources from unusable raw materials to industrial products unmatched anywhere on earth. From a simple light bulb to spacecraft capable of landing men on the moon, we have matched our natural resources with the resources of technology to achieve the heights of scientific accomplishments.

Along the way to success, we have overlooked the mother who spawned these achievements. To provide steel to build cities, we have stripped our earth of coal and dumped the residue in our lakes and rivers. Trees that provide us with oxygen have been leveled to build homes in the suburbs, creating urban sprawl. To reach our cities, we have lined our countrysides with concrete to accommodate our nation's greatest polluter: the internal combustion engine.

We are all members of a society that demands throwaway bottles, a second auto, and electricity for our homes. We must all share the blame for America's environmental problems.

If the leaves are to have life, if our flowers are to grow, and if the birds are to have a home, today's youth must also accept the challenge with constructive effort. Your actions today will determine the course of our nation.

America can't wait for the next generation. By then it could be too late.

Well, we finally did it—after a full school year of hard work, patience, and a staff of girls who produced the 1975 Legend. During the year, we found that there were four main words most commonly used in our yearbook terminology.

First of all the staff learns of DEADLINE; this is the day when the staff crowds around the typewriters, and everyone seems busy on layout or copy. This is also the time when the editor gets up for the traditional deadline speech or threat depending on how late in the year it is.

Second, is the STAFF which is the reluctant group who is responsible for doing the main body of the work. They're the ones who write the copy, design the layouts, and complain that the photographers don't have their pictures. STAFFERS HATE DEADLINES!

Third is the PHOTOGRAPHERS. This year for the '75 Legend we had a duet of Italians working on everything from printing pictures to making spaghetti in the darkroom. PHOTOGRAPHERS ALSO HATE DEADLINES AND AT TIMES THE STAFF. Fourth is the EDITOR; he is responsible for everything! The word "everything" includes checking for errors, rewriting copy and sending pictures back to the photographers. It also refers to all the work done during lunch hours, after school and in between classes.

And through the year it was found that THE EDITOR HAS TO MEET DEADLINES, RESPECT THE PHOTOGRAPHERS AND LOVE THE STAFF!

I'm very honored to be the first male editor-in-chief of an East High Legend. All my thanks goes to Mr. Cox for all the late hours and hard work, to Tony Arme for the fine quality in photographs, to my staff and to all the faculty and students of East High school who made the '75 LEGEND possible.

Thank you!

1975 Legend Supplement

To cover the events of the last month of school, this supplement has been produced by the 1975 Legend Staff and is provided at no extra cost to all persons who purchased a 1975 yearbook. We hope that you will enjoy it as you have the rest of the Legend and that it will become a part of your permanent record of this school year. Roxanne Ray, editor of the 1976 Legend, served as editor of the supplement with "old" editor Barry Paceley acting as consultant.

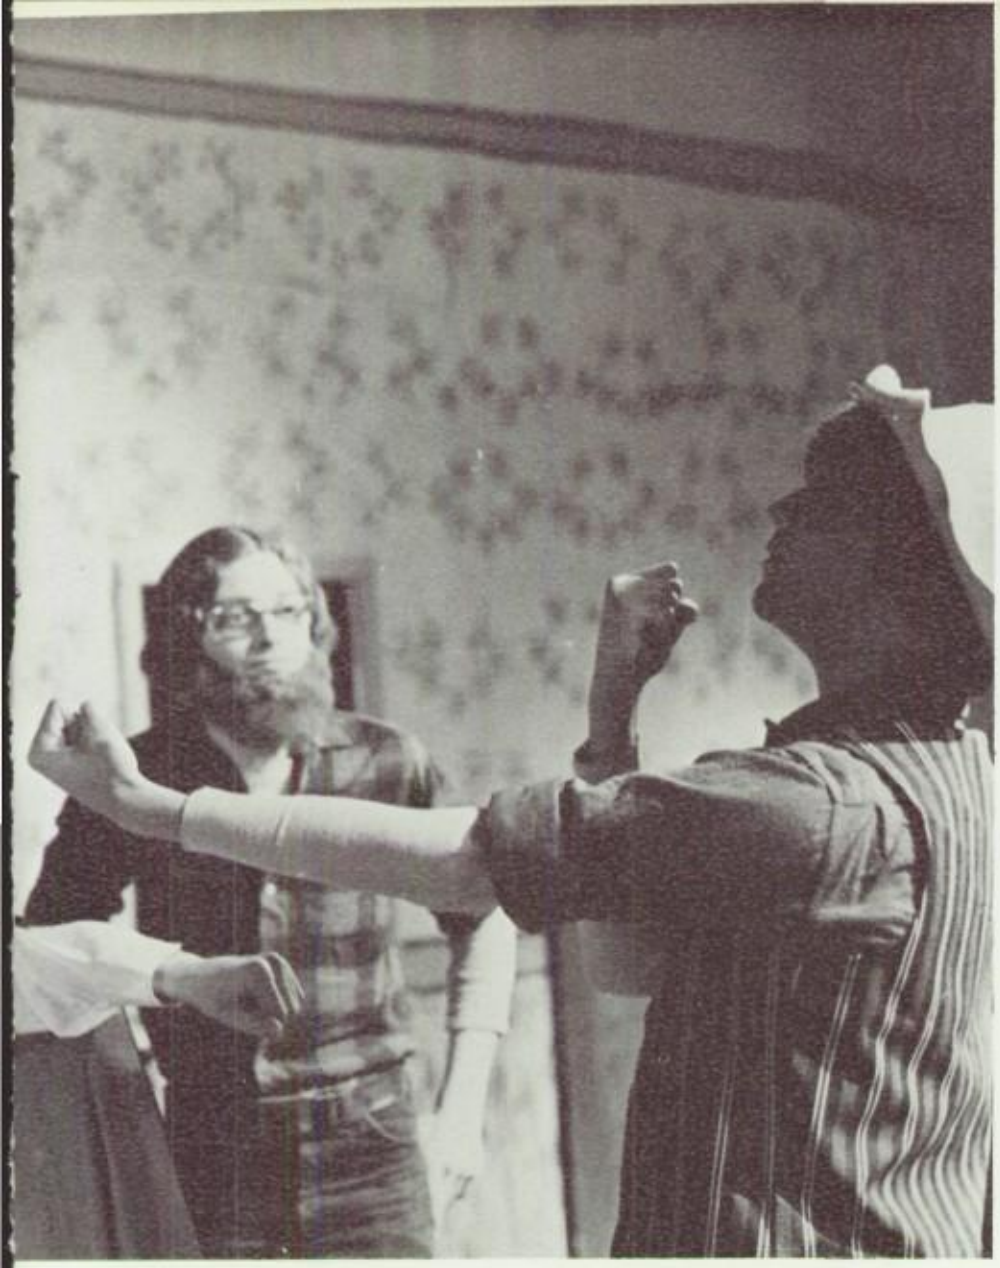
Standing ovations were given

"The Tavern," a melodrama, was presented in March by East High's Drama Department. The play, under the direction of Miss Dixie Patterson, was given a standing ovation after both performances. The play, written by George M. Cohan, held many surprises in store for its audience. The audience picked out its favorites in Violet, the crazy woman, Willum, the dumb servant, and the vagabond, a clever traveler. The play ended with a twist when it was revealed that the woman and the vagabond had escaped from an asylum. Although the play was not a financial success, the audience and players enjoyed it.

Willum, played by Dennis McBee, fights to defend the honor of the maid against the Vagabond, Michael Rudy, as the Inn Keeper, Greg Chaffee, and deputy, Danilo Pantovich, watch.

Bobby Minich and the Governor's wife, Kathy Pickering, stand in stately repose.

The VAGABOND, Michael Rudy, watches Violet with wary eyes as she astonishes the Tavern's occupants.



The sheriff's posse, Gary Kalaf, Danilo Pantovich, Brad Dougherty, and Paul Lunt, poses in solemn triumph after the completion of their first robbery committed against the governor.

Deputy Gary Kalaf flirts with servant, Alice Span, as Violet, played by Dolly Span, approaches.

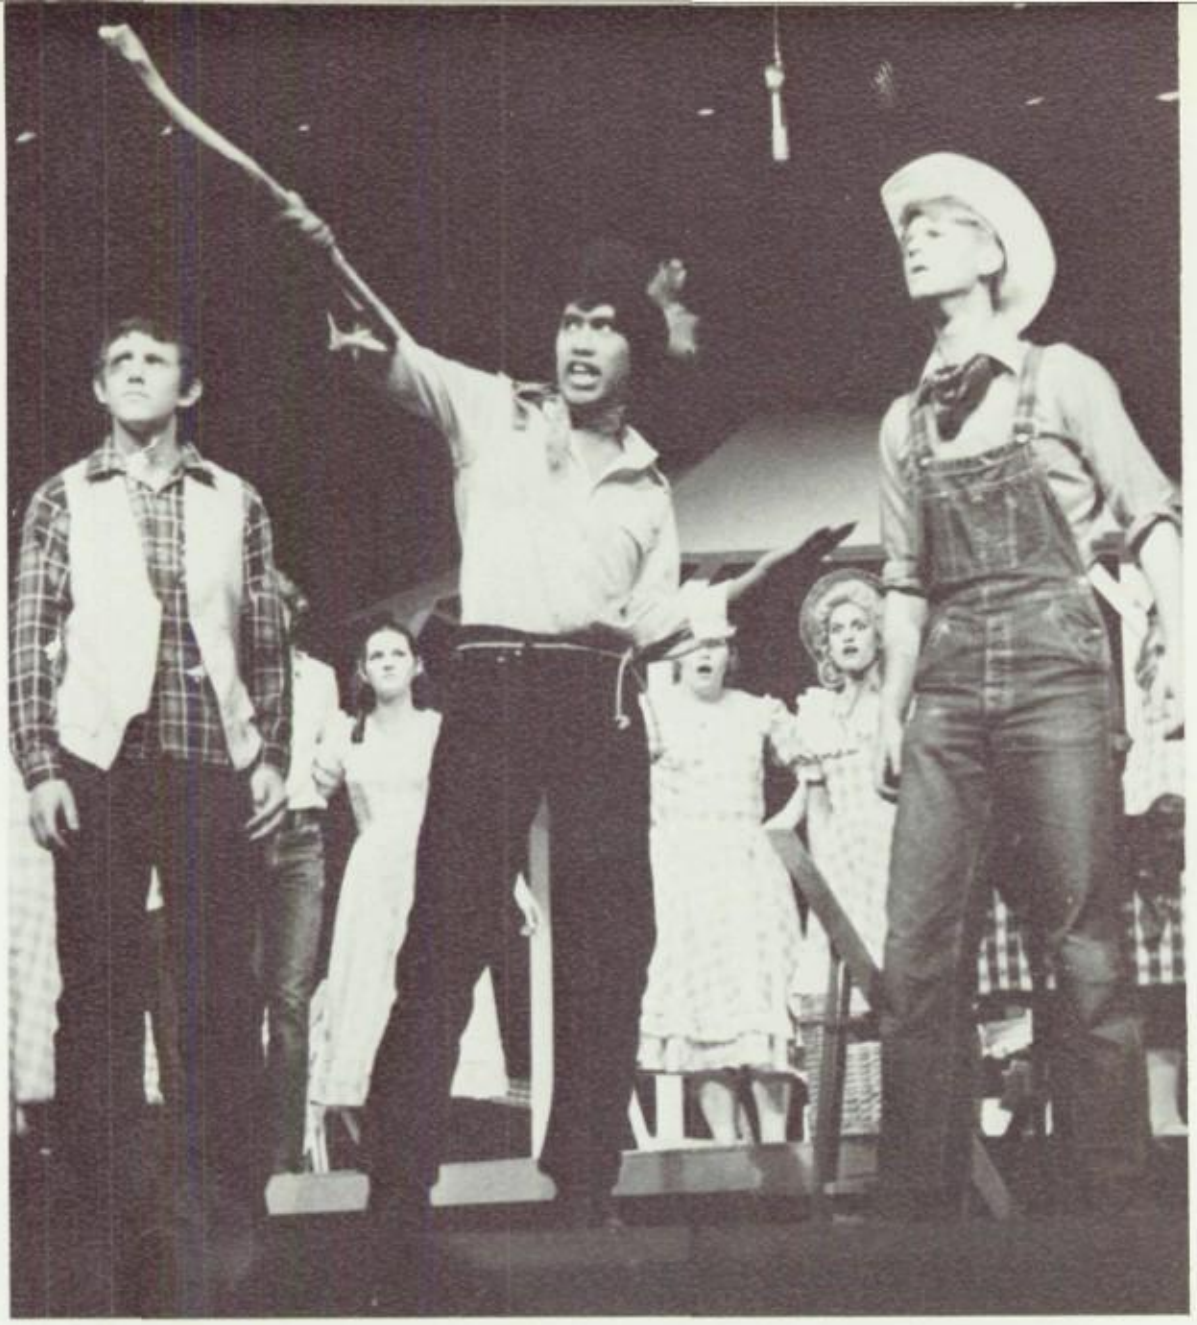
Singing out her happiness is Lizzie, Leslie Greenspan, held by hard-gotten fiance Sheriff File, played by David Bigleman, as the rest of the townsfolk are sad to see Starbuck, Rudy Busto, leave.

While courting Lizzie, Leslie Greenspan, the rainmaker, Rudy Busto, gets up enough courage to kiss her.

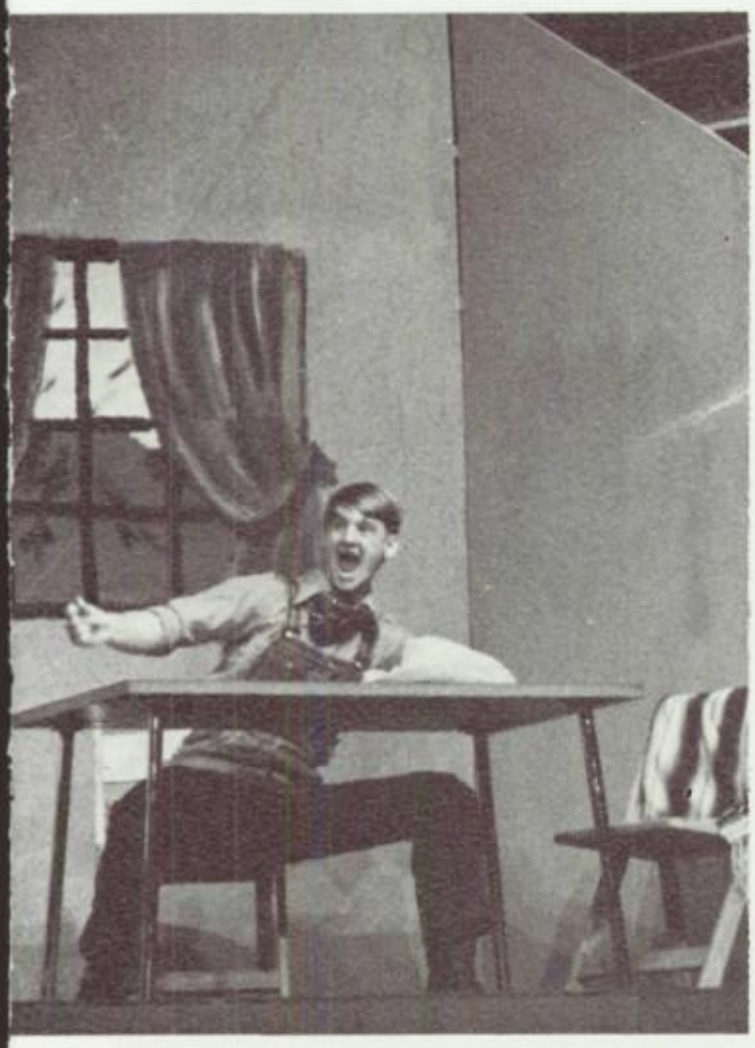
With her father, Owen Swenson, encouraging her on, Lizzie, finally asks her to become his bride.

"110 in the Shade," is applauded

Chosen by Miss Patterson for its many roles and excellent songs, "110 in the Shade" was performed May 23 and 24. The play is an interesting musical with fast paced dancing and singing. Among the Drama Department's assets are many outstanding singers and dancers who were able to bring the play off with style and an air of professionalism. Since it was the last play of the year all the Drama students put their best into the production. The crew, along with the cast, practiced everyday after school to perfect the lighting, sound and the setting of the props. They practiced unrelentlessly to achieve the atmosphere of a small Texan town and the people who lived in it. Everyone who participated in the production was proud of their work.



Starbuck, Rudy Busto, tells about his family's gifts to Lizzie's father and brother, Owen Swenson and Kevin Frazee.



Leslie Greenspan dances up a storm when Sheriff File

Urging File, David Bigleman to come to the picnic are sons and father, Dennis Morgan, Kevin Frazeé, and Owen Swenson.

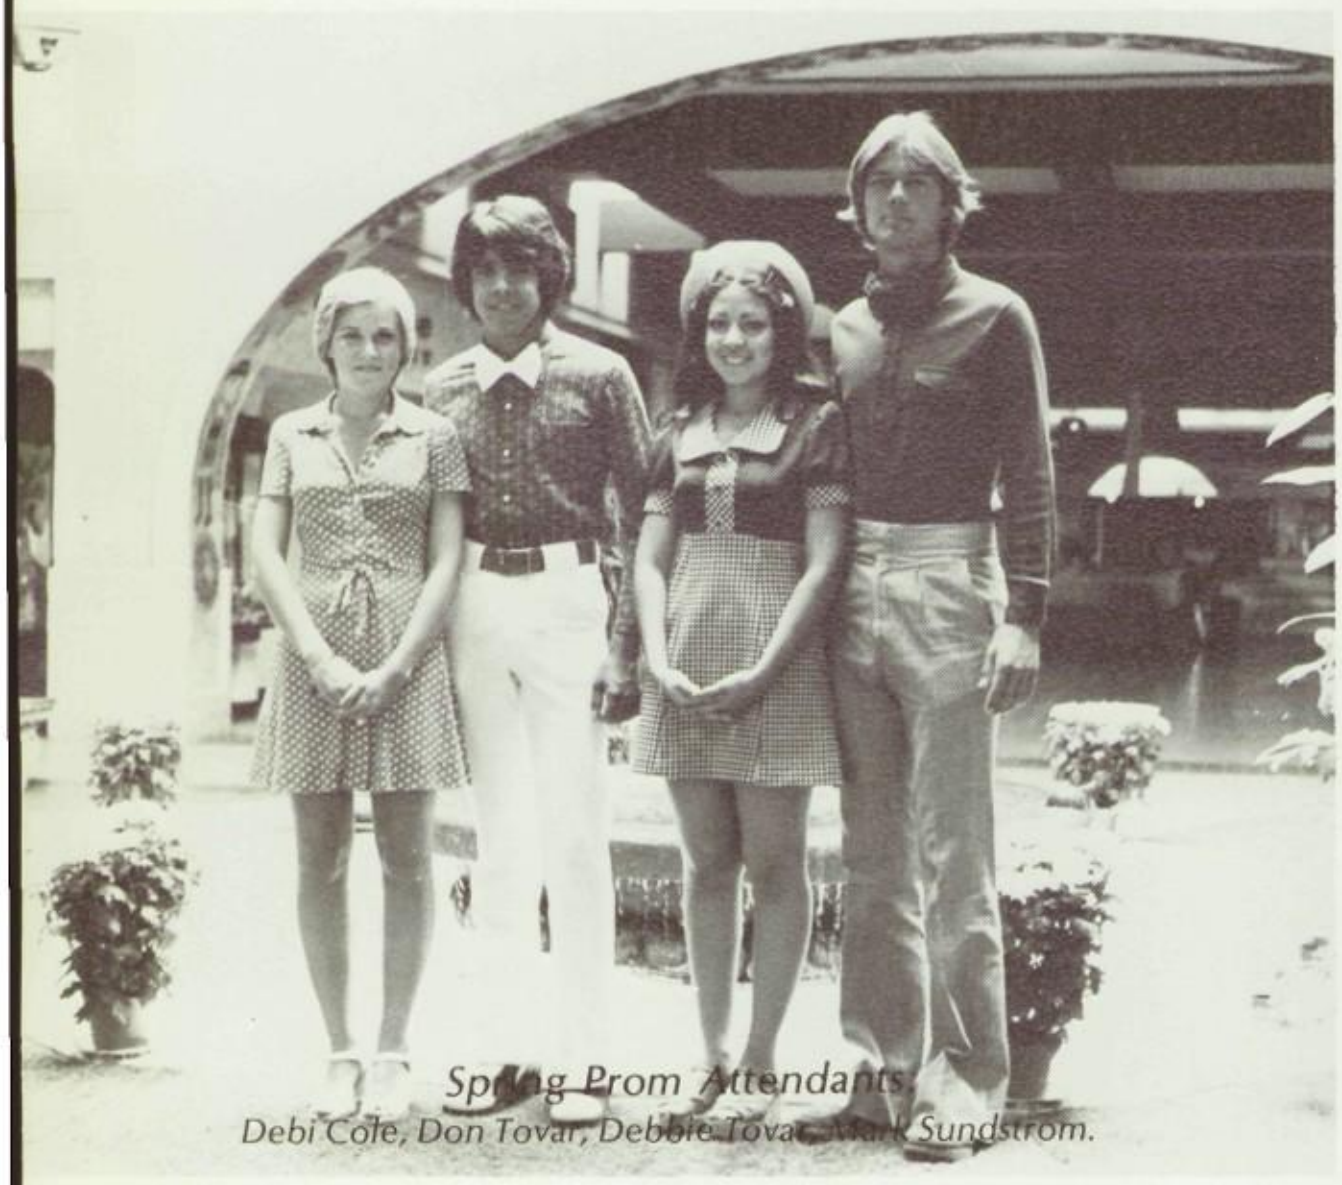
Spring Prom was great success

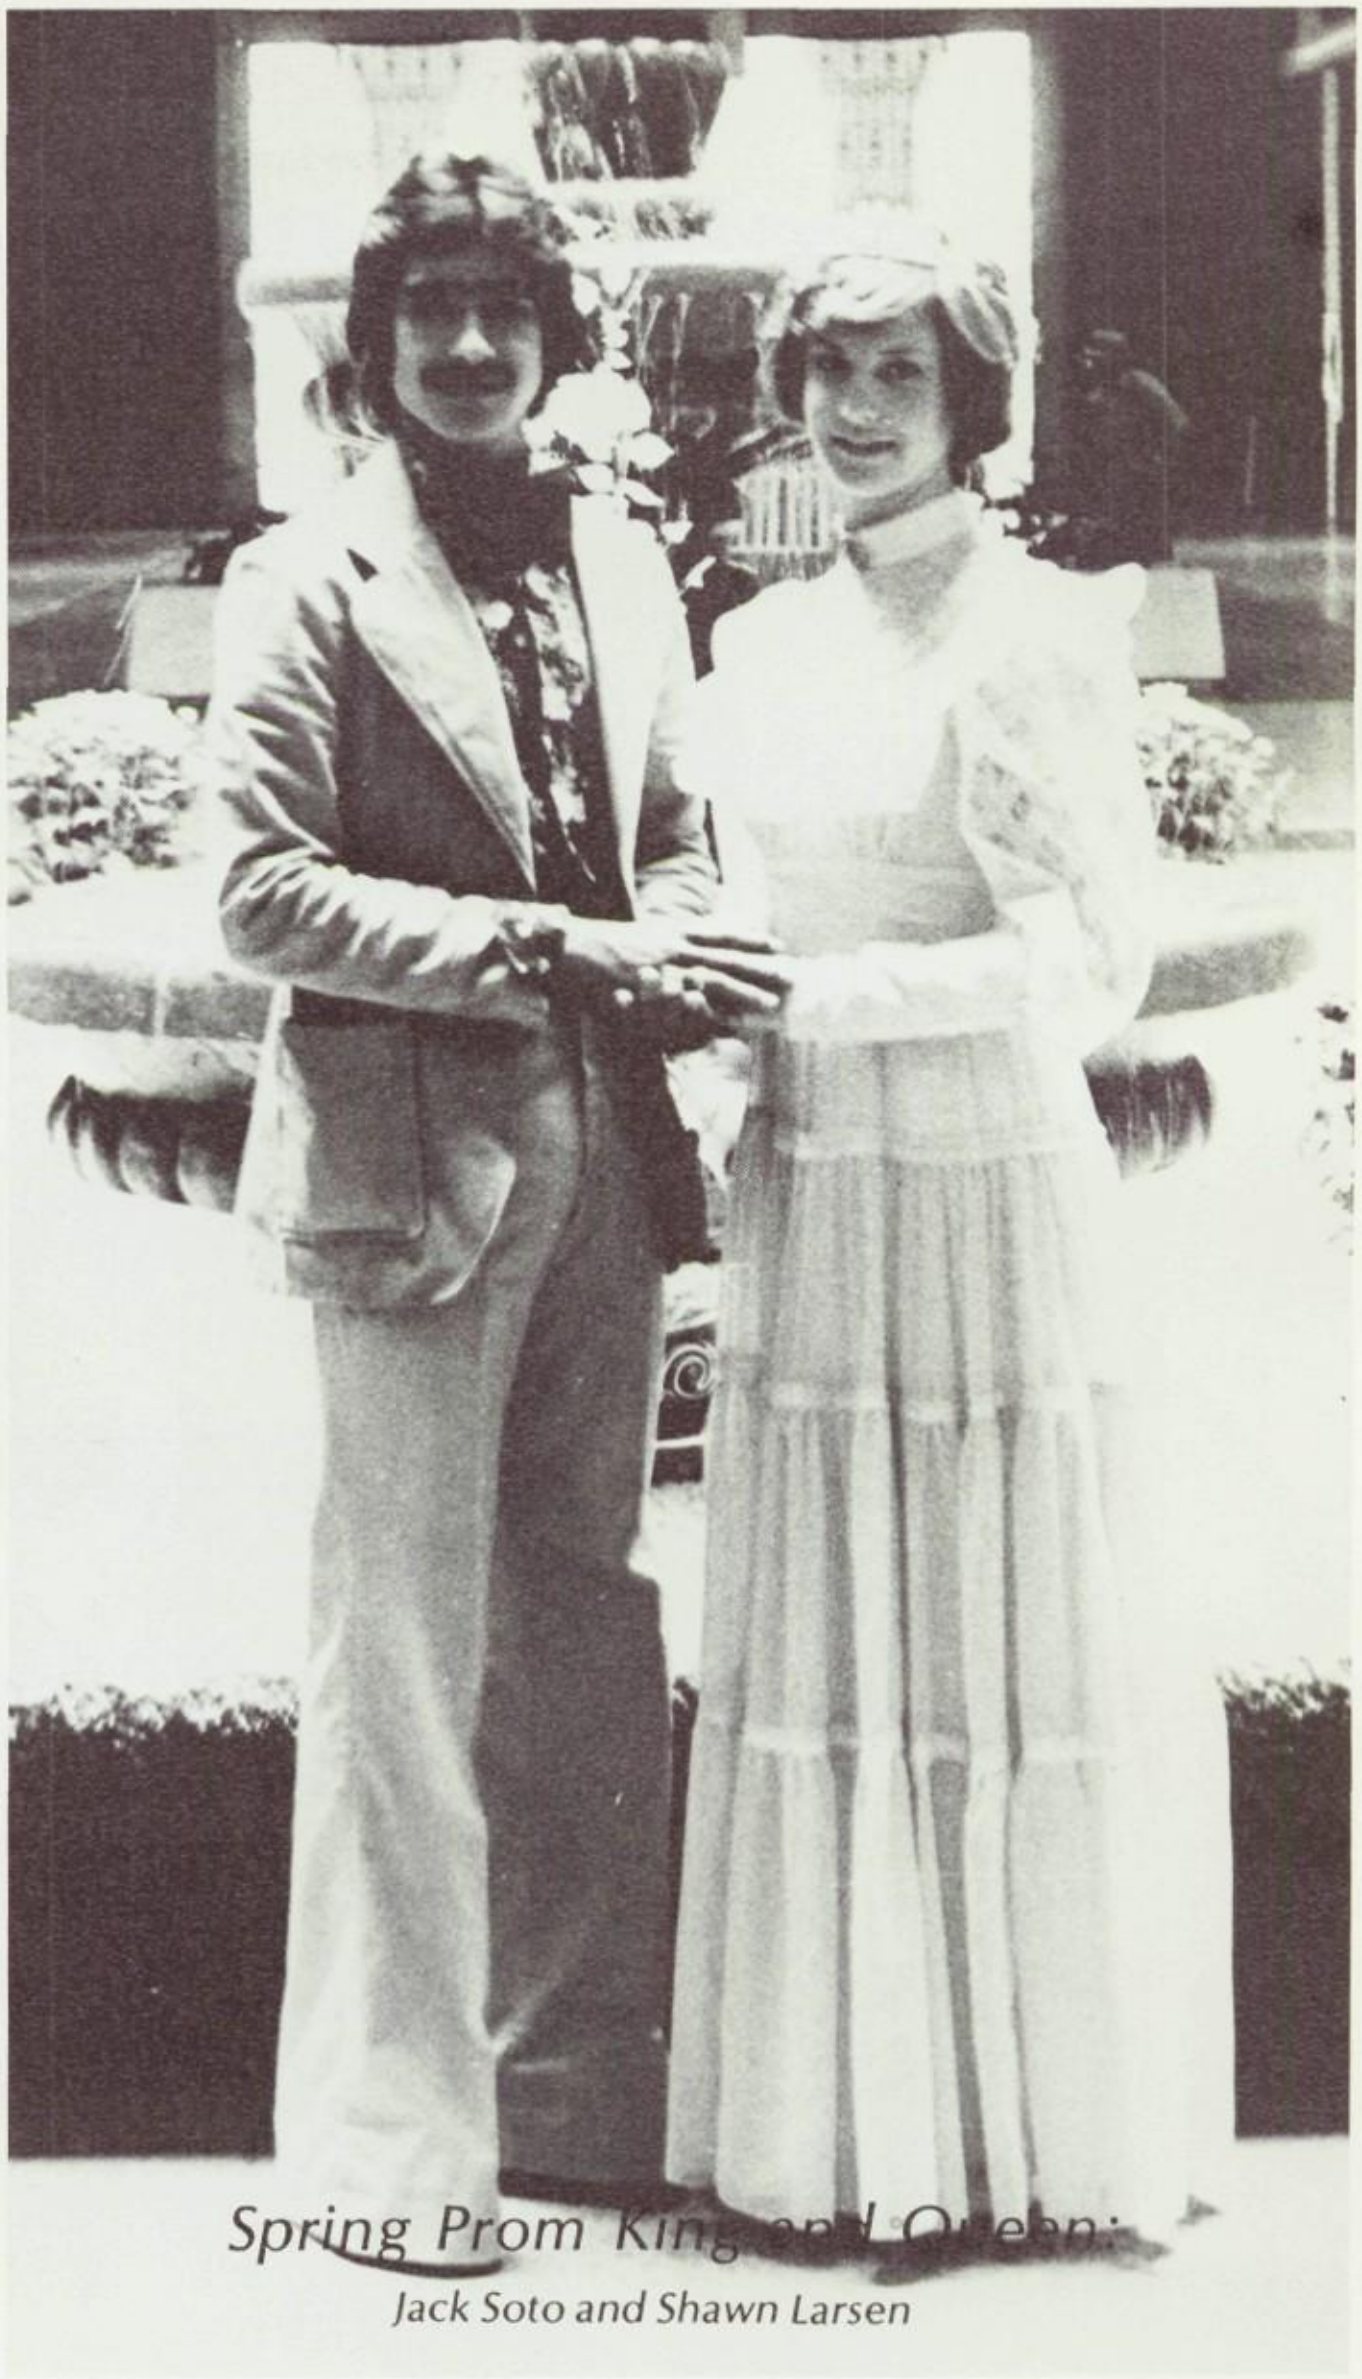
This year's Junior-Senior Prom turned out to be one of the best ever. It was held in the New Adams Hotel and the band was praised by many. It consisted of two couples which helped everyone get into a "Just You and Me" mood. Ballots were passed out as couples walked through the door. All waited breathlessly for the queen and king to be announced.

For some Seniors, like Barry Paceley, this was their last prom and they wanted to make the most of it. Barry and his date Susan Hjort danced to the music by Sweet Jam.



Spring Prom Attendants: Debi Cole, Don Tovar, Debbie Tovar, Mark Sundstrom.

When the dance floor was crowded, some couples relaxed at the tables to partake in the refreshments.



Spring Prom King and Queen:

Jack Soto and Shawn Larsen

Lee Jordon

Black Heritage King

Gwen Black

Black Heritage Queen

Elsa Chacon

Cinco de Mayo Queen

Parnassus Officers: Mrs. Hall; Sponsor, Steve Green, Leslie Greenspan, Sandy Kass, Rudy Busto.

Parnassus helps out community

Leslie Greenspan, president of the Parnassus Club and Mrs. Hall, sponsor, have done an outstanding job in organizing and conducting meetings, which are held regularly once a month. Some of the members of the club donated their time in helping take blood pressures at Los Arcos Mall in Scottsdale and Tower Plaza Mall in Phoenix. Grade school students who need to be tutored have found that members of the Parnassus Club can do an excellent job in helping them. During the last meeting of the year, awards were handed out for people who have been in this club for three semesters, five semesters and seven semesters and a new president was voted on and announced.

PARNASSUS CLUB MEMBERS: P. Adams, P. Armenta, R. Barker, L. Barron, M. Bertoni, G. Bird, D. Blasius, D. Boren, C. Burkett, R. Busto, W. Caldwell, J. Celenza, D. Cole, K. Collins, P. Coughlin, A. Among the most outstanding seniors at East High selected for membership to Shield, are Edward York and Leslie Greenspan.

20 seniors honored

East's most outstanding seniors were honored by the Shield this year. Being an outstanding leader, actor and student is an uncommon combination, but Edward York does indeed possess these abilities. A member of Biological Investigators and NHS, Ed devoted himself as Student Body President this year. Leslie Greenspan was a very involved student at East as a member of band, choir and drama. Leslie was also Homecoming Chairman, Parnassus president and a member of NHS. Mark Sundstrom, another talented actor, showed his leadership as Student Body vice-president, while remaining active in Key Club. Debbie Ermoian, Chief Justice this year, was a devoted member of choir and band and was involved in Girls' League and NHS.

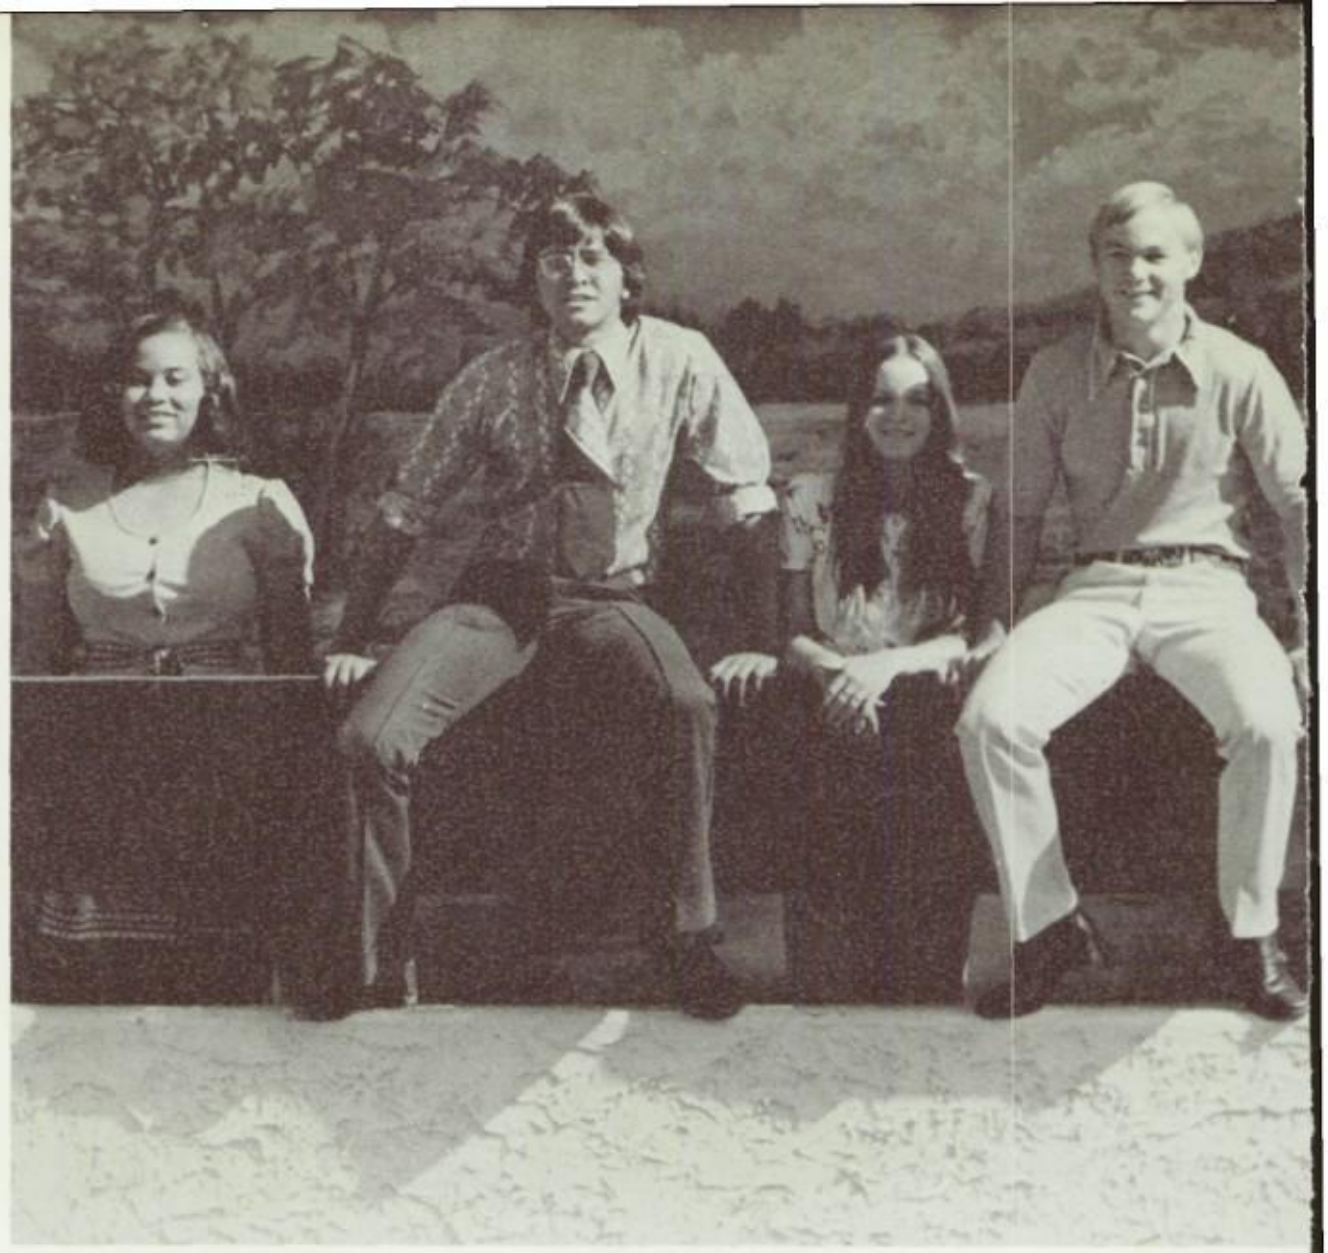
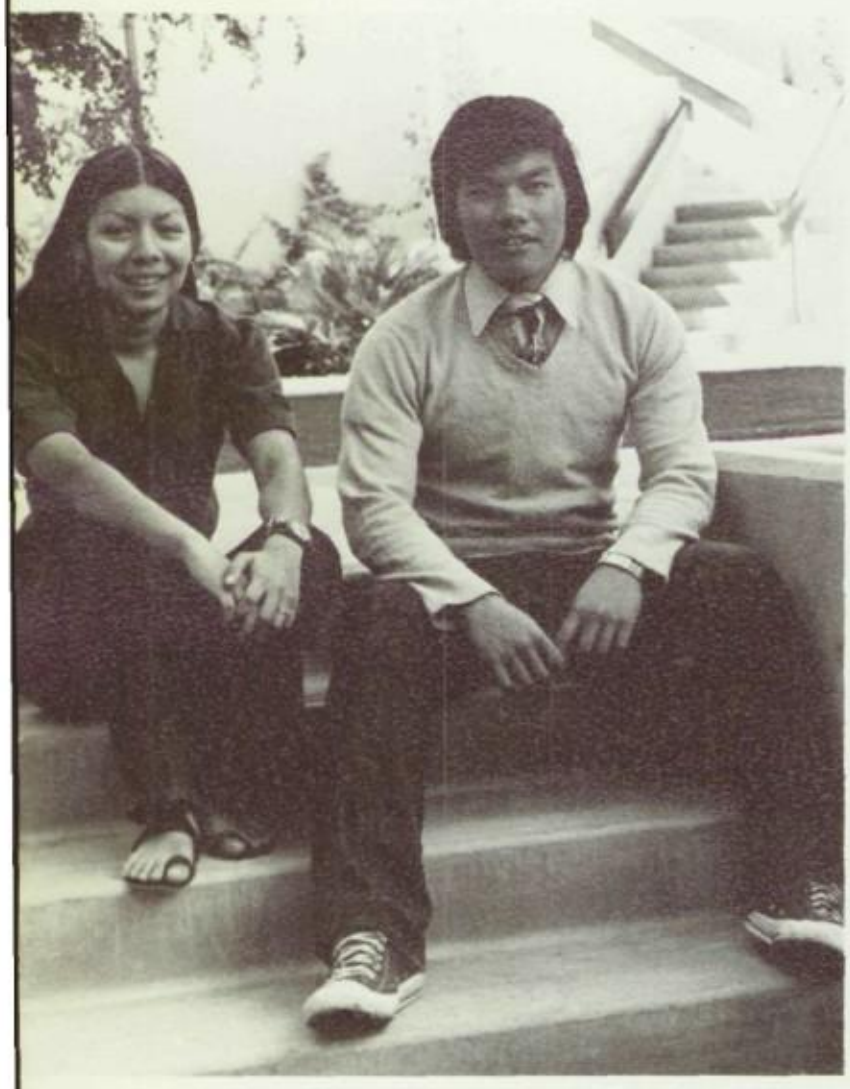
When it comes to being clean-cut, Mark Sundstrom and Debbie Ermoian waste no time to prove just how neat they really are.

Phyllis Crawford was an active student as a member of Auditorium Club, Choir, French Club and Human Relations Committee. Nikki Roy devoted himself as Key Club President and was also involved in Publicity and Projects Committees. As a concerned student, Marie Warner was a member of the desegregation team besides being on J. V. Pom Line and Girls League. Being an outstanding student and a member of Varsity Gymnastics team, Neil Geske was elected to "Who's Who among American High School Students." Irma Payan was an active participant of MECHA, Girls Letter Club and Auditorium Club. Raymond Kwong was involved in Key Club and Biological investigators while also working on the Rawhide staff. As a member of Choir, Band and Drama, Rudy Busto was more than busy besides being Student Body Justice and Key Club Vice-President. Tim Kinnerup devoted himself as Senior Class President and as a member of Varsity Wrestling and Letterman's Club.

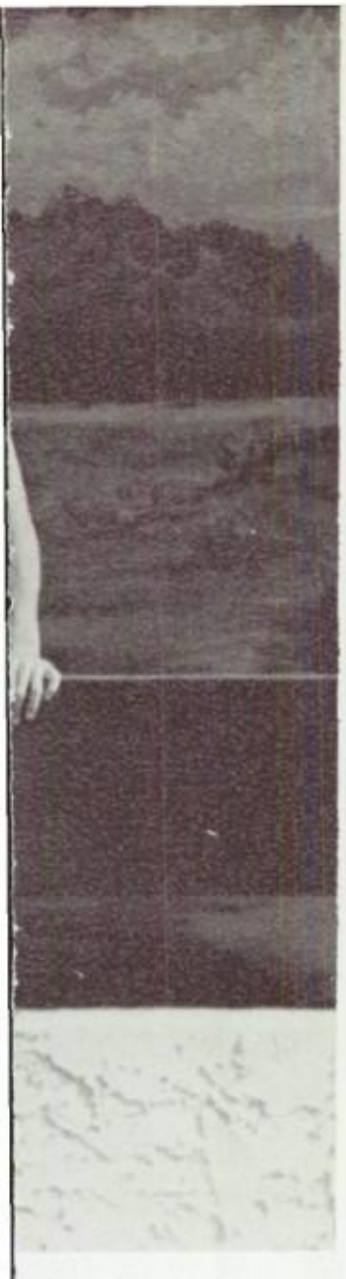


Phyllis Crawford, Nikki Roy, Marie Warner, and Neil Geske find a nice scenic place where they can relax and enjoy the sun.



Irma Payan and Raymond Kwong sit thinking about how exciting it is to be an outstanding member of Shield.

As good friends, Tony Arme and Rudy Busto are more than willing to offer a little support to Tim Kinnerup. Rene Mordini, who was unable to attend the picture taking is also a new Shield member this year.



With squinted eyes, these new Shield members look cheerfully towards the hot sun. Trying to look comfortable are Mike Hiralez, Diane Brucato, Tom Haynes and Sandy Kass.

Ken Avery and Janet Kunde have a discussion about a military career, but find that their friend is disinterested in the subject.

Tony Arme served as Yearbook Photography Editor, was a member of Key Club, Outdoorsmen Club, Parnassus, NHS, received his letters for Optimist Club and was elected to "Who's Who among American High School Students." Rene Mordini showed her ability as a Girl's League Vice-President, was a member of Human Relations, NHS, Cinderettes, and was appointed chairman of Class Competition. Mike Hiralez showed action in Varsity Basketball and Baseball and was a member of the Lettermen's Club. Diane Brucato used her talents as Louie the Longhorn, performed in Modern Dance, was a member of VICA, Girl's League, NHS, and Parnassus. Sandra Kass used her musical talents as band president, was Parnassus secretary and a member of NHS. Tom Haynes used his time as a member of DECA and NHS. Janet Kunde showed her interest as a member of Parnassus, NHS, and was an Honor Roll Student. Ken Avery took his steps as a member of Marching, Symphonic, All-State, and Regional Bands.

For the first time in six years East was represented in the state tournament by Jennie Shoop, a junior. Playing for East High at the Girls Divisional Tournament were singles players Jennie Shoop and Maryann LaGrassa. Doubles teams were Diane O'Berg and Linda Allen; Beth Johnson and Sheryl Jones. The Girls Varsity team also placed second in the Divisional as a team. With new supervision on the girls team, Miss McCutcheon's J.V. Girls team had six wins and seven losses. Mr. Livingston, also new at our school, led the team to six wins and tried to give them back their confidence when they lost two and tied one.

Archers build for next year

To perfect their form and accuracy, this year's archery team practiced on Saturdays, every day after school, even during vacations. Winning their first two games really put the team in the spirit, which lasted all season. Miss Dolly Rogers, the coach, stated, "We spent most of the year building; however, the girls made a strong showing at the state meet, and we're expecting to be in the top five next year."

Girls' Archery Team; FIRST ROW: Alicia Hill, Karen Schroeder. SECOND ROW: Brenda Holloway, Kris Roman, Jamie Hoon. THIRD ROW: Nancy Clark, Denise Lapsley, Anna Curnutte, Marlys Schilling, Janice Dwyer.

Several hardworking and dedicated girls spent seventh hour up in the dance room planning what each would do during upcoming sports events. Part of the grading in the service class included spending five to six hours after school each week. During the year, girls were kept quite busy taking statistics, running the downs markers, and being bat girls.

Varsity Baseball Triumphs

The East High Longhorns have finished their record breaking season with an excellent 19 wins, 6 loss record. They virtually walked away with the Phoenix B League Championship and fought their way to the Divisionals. Expert coaching by Mr. Preston enabled the Longhorns to develop strategy, strength, and confidence, as the season progressed. Their season was complemented by experience and depth. There were few errors made and a record number of RBI's were scored. The mighty Longhorns scored well and with a consistency that caused the heads to turn in high school baseball, as East earned recognition from prep officials for the first time in the history of East High baseball.

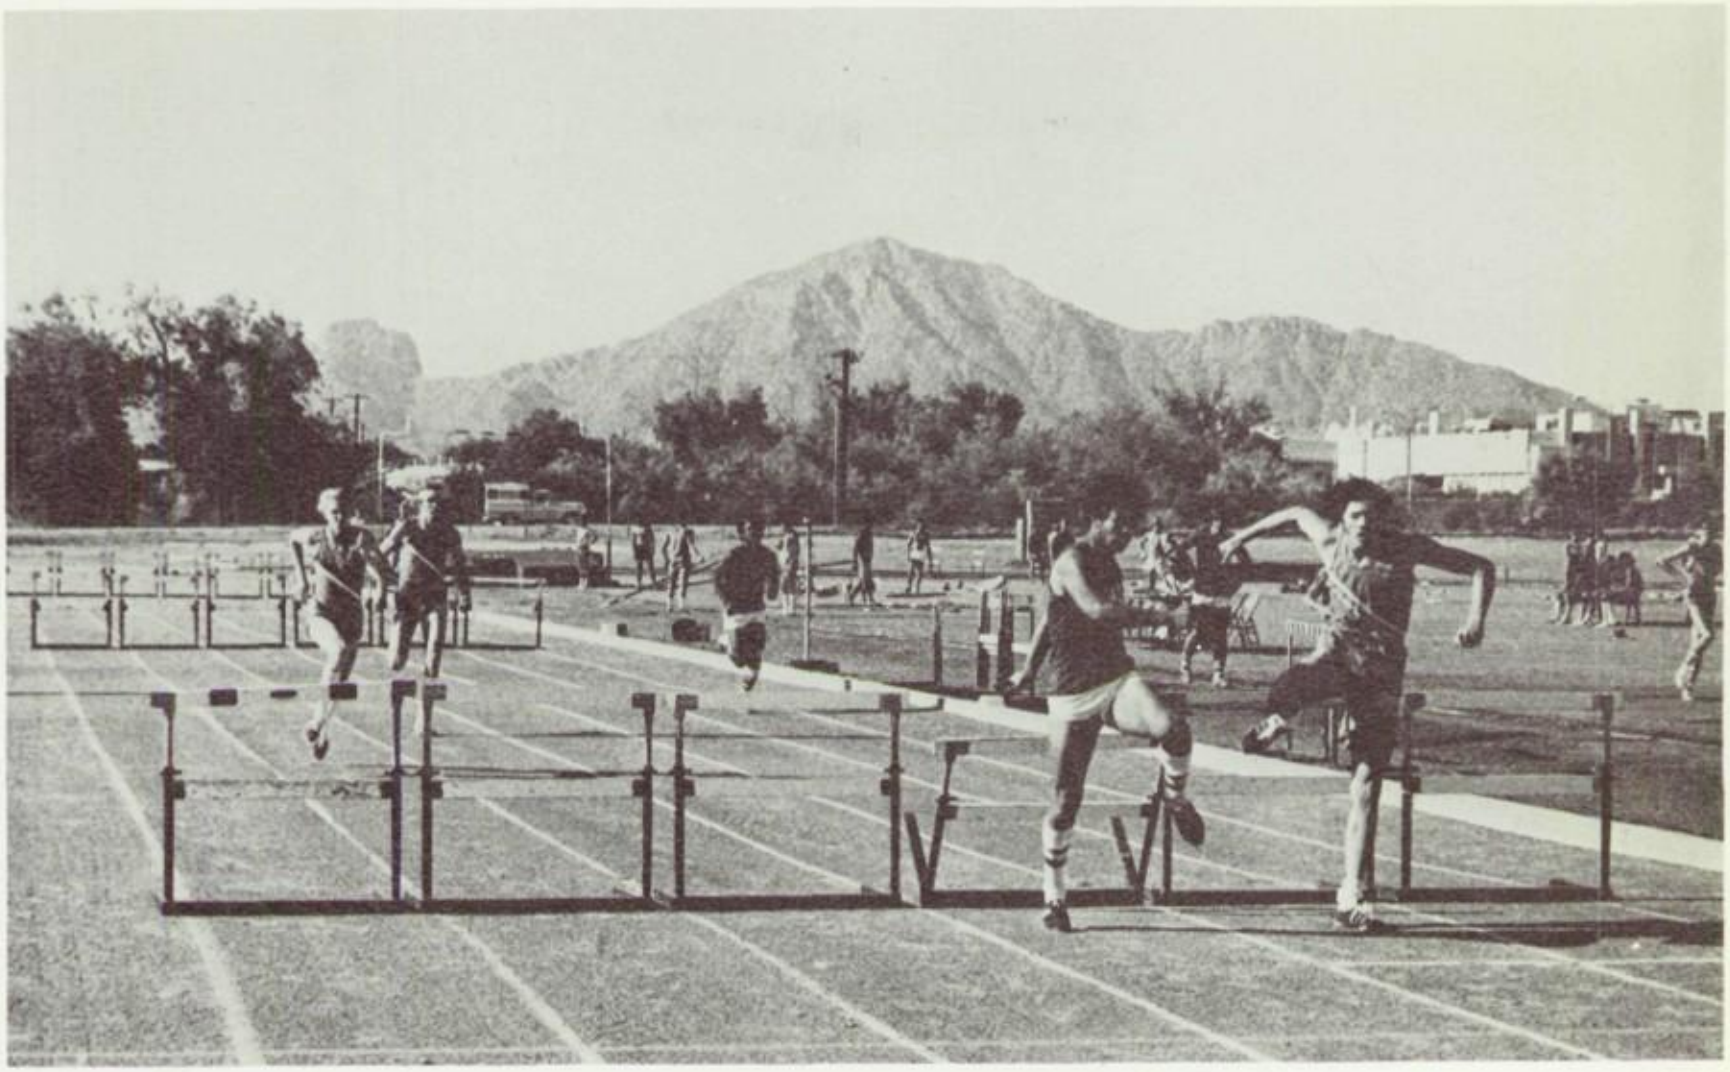
Trackers Keep Truckin'

Through the past few years, East High's track team has been fairly good, but this year many members have broken past school records. During the season, the Longhorns showed their determination to have a winning year. Long and hard practices brought such results as Gary Pavkov's and Dale Beiriger's record jumps in the pole vault of 13 feet, 6 inches, Mike Simpson broke the 100 yard dash with a 10-second sprint. New assistant coaches Greg Hull and Gus Chavez gave Coach Hedges a lot of help. The team had 4 wins and 3 losses, came in second in the 4 way, and 13th in the State.

Coach Bejarano watches David Kalember's fine style of throwing the shotput for better yardage.



Kenneth Simpson touches down with speed to spare, and speeds to the finish line in first place to boost East's score up several points.

David Stevenson shows fine ability as well as determination in improving his skill in broad-jumping in a practice before a meet.

J.V. pushes on to victory

Coach Hedges had plenty of help from the Junior Varsity coach Greg Hull. Sometimes he even ran alongside of his sprinters and runners to show them several different ways of pacing themselves and getting up speed. There weren't any record breakers this year. There were some team members who made some points in meets like Terry Stevens and Kevin Junior as relay men and sprinters. Mike Anderson did real well in the longjump. Perry Spittle was the distance runner of the season, who should do better next year. The whole team contributed their best to a winning season of 5 wins and 4 losses.

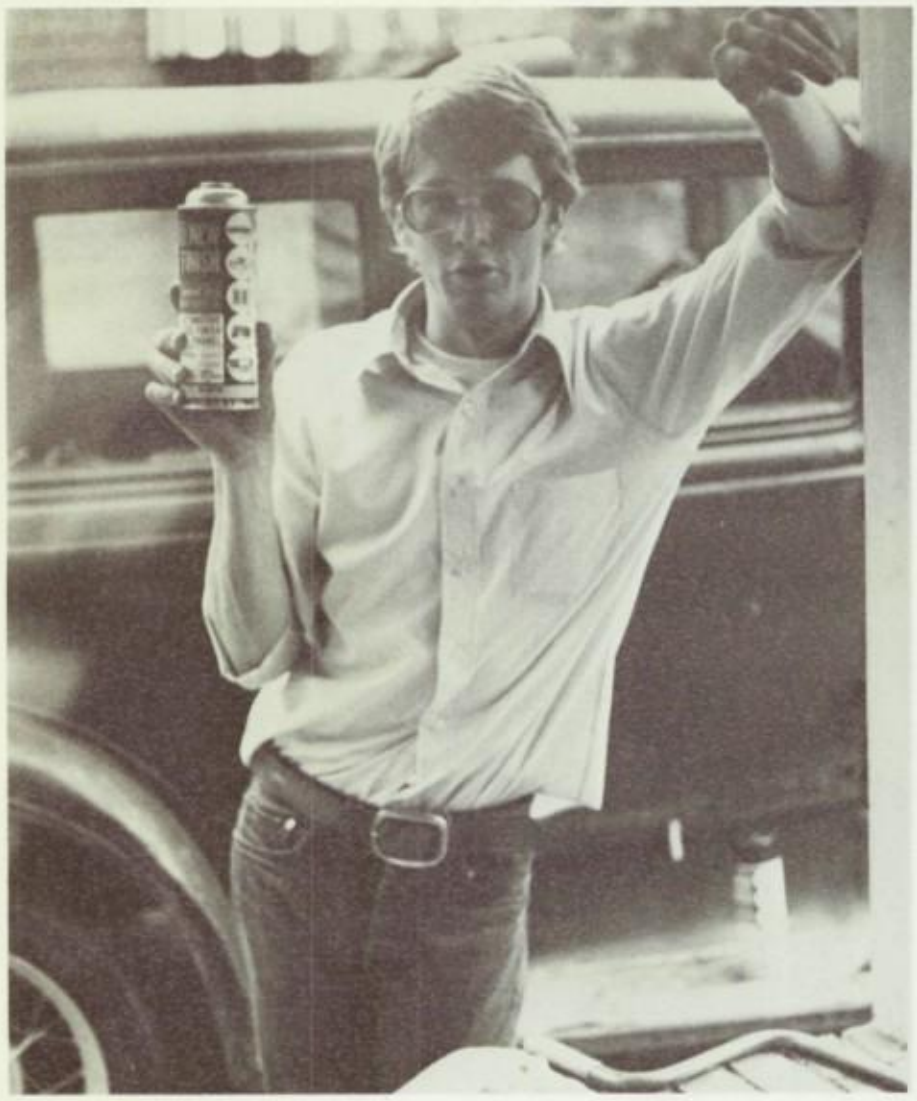
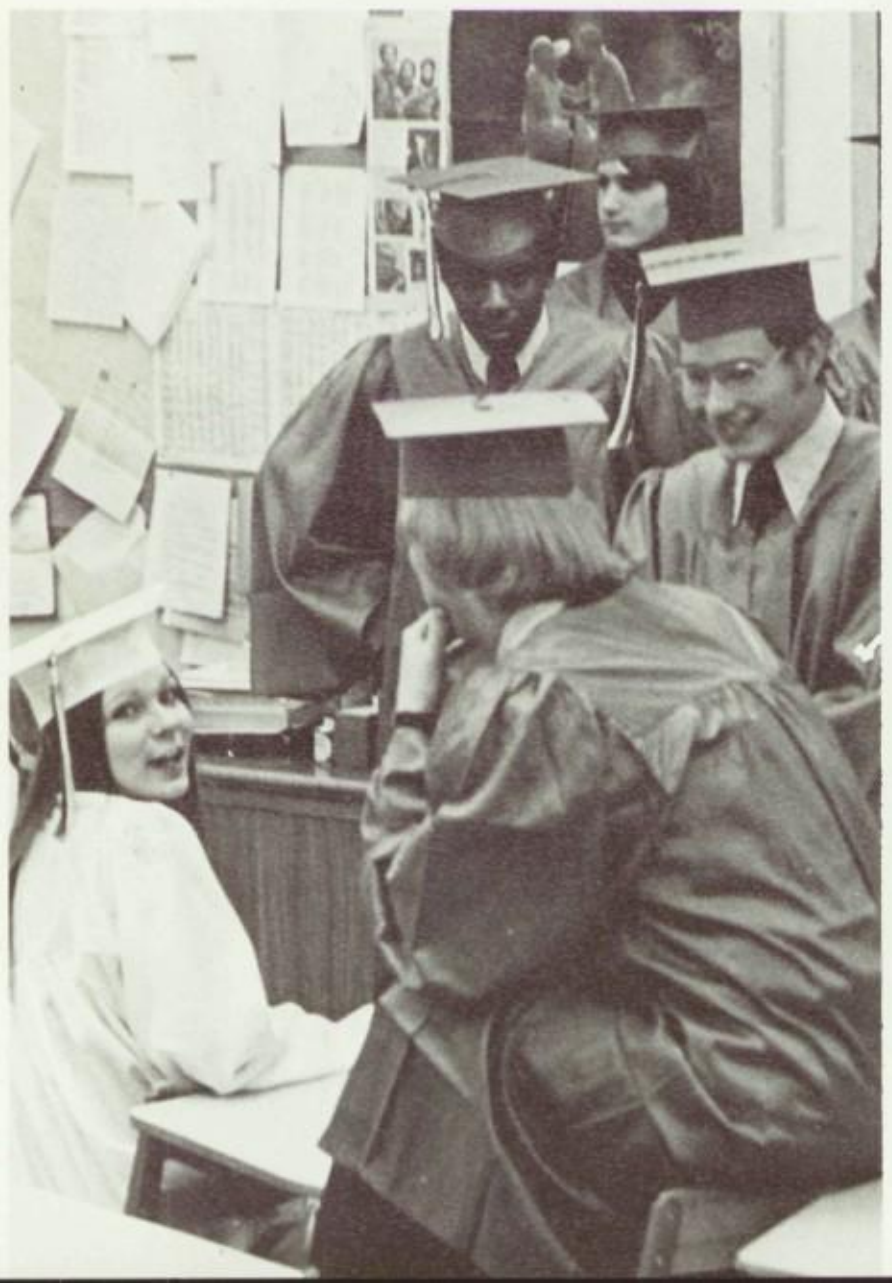
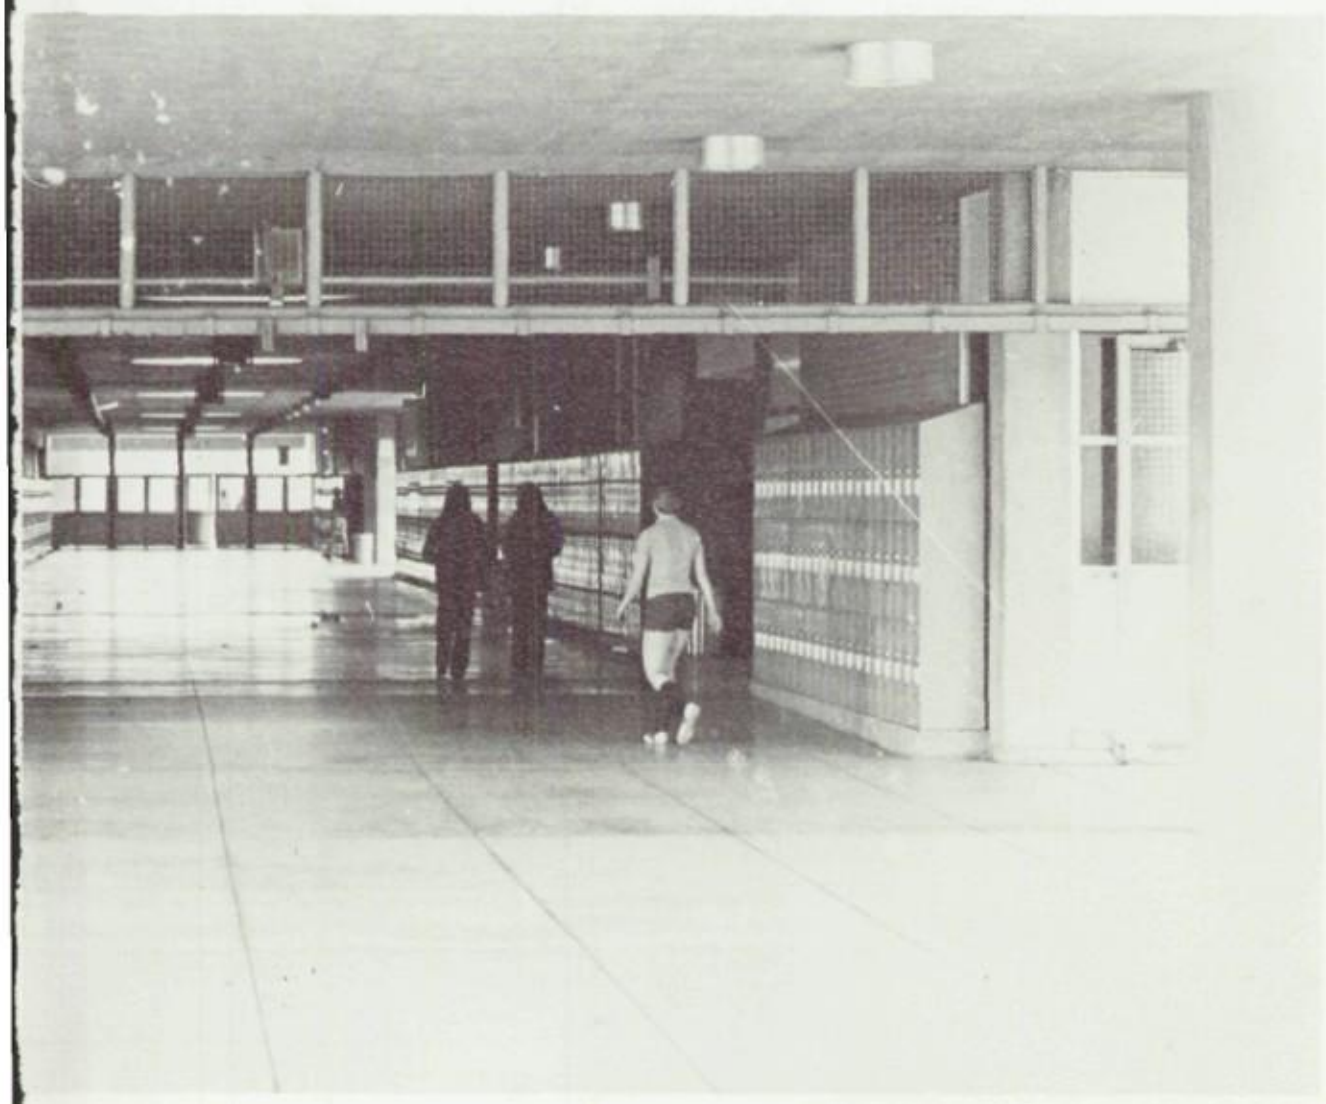
Frosh Burn Track

East High School received a new coach as well as a new teacher this year. Freshman track coach Gus Chavez did a fine job in coaching and training the frosh track team. There were many record breakers this year. Some of them were the mile relay set by Emmit Redmond, John Butterick, Bryan Barge, and Karl Boroviak. The record in 330 yard low hurdles was set by Bryan Barge with a 42.5-second timing. There were some outstanding sprinters such as Marty Jackson in the 220-yard dash, and Bryan Barg in the 70-yard high hurdles and the 330-yard intermediate hurdles. Every member of the team contributed his best to a season of 3 wins and 3 losses.







Final curtain

School has ended for '75.The sun, once more, is inviting everyone back to the rivers and lakes. It's the time for anxious faces on students and most certainly on teachers. Excitement of the coming summer is building, but still there are a few details left to finish. Different clubs are having money raising projects like bake sales, car washes, and the Wrangler's barbeque. Black Heritage Week and Cinco De Mayo was celebrated with great vigor. Prizes were won at the Central Arizona Regional Science Fair. Spring sports were finished up with a good season. Pom and Cheer was selected to help next year's sports have an equally good year.

Seniors rejoice with tears in their eyes

"Going On" was the theme of this year's graduation. Seniors have been looking forward to that special day with a feeling of happiness, accomplishment, and also regret. Graduation marks the end as well as the beginning of a new life. Probably the hardest thing for them will be leaving all the friends that they had such good times with. For some it was a real struggle just to get to classes and do their work so they could get enough credits to graduate, while for others, schoolwork was no problem. Teachers breathed a sigh of relief as their students' names were called out to receive their diplomas. It had been a lot of hard work, but it was worth every minute of it.
